hose now in college can take starting May 26. But boys who ven't started college will not be ven the examination until after ey become freshmen.

Most high school seniors who ntend to go to college. Are under 9, the present draft age. Therefore very few of them are expected to be drafted before they enter college and get a chance to take the aptitude test.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, told reporters there were some 1,000,000 non - veterans in college now. He could not estimate how many will be deferred under the new ruling. About 570,000 who came before draft boards were deferred for the present scholastic year.

Hershey said the scholastic standing necessary to permit exemption, and the necessary grade in the forthcoming aptitude test, will be determined later. However, some congressmen expect the outcome to be something like this:

Deferment of most freshmen who enter college next fall, sophomores who were in the upper half of their freshman class scholastically; juniors who were in the upper two - thirds of their sophomore class, and seniors who were in the upper three fourths as juniors.

There now is no test by selective service of a student's aptitude for college work.

The newly - ordered test will be given at 1,000 examination centers throughout the United States and territories. The student must pay his own transportation costs to and from the testing center.

LOCAL MAN HELD IN $930 FORGERY

G. A. Kepner Being Returned Here After Arrest In Pennsylvania

Ouachita parish sheriff deputies were enroute to Spring Grove, Pa. last night to take a 29-year-old West Monroe salesman into custody for allegedly forging a $930 check and for issuing two worthless checks totaling $350.

District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr. said the deputies are expected to return to Monroe Monday night with G. A. Kepner.

Fudickar said Kepner is charged with forging a $930 check. He is also accused, Fudickar said, with issuing two worthless checks, one for $200, the other for $150.

Kepner was taken into custody at Spring Grove, Pa. several days ago and held by authorities there on a warrant issued in Monroe.

Kepner, who is employed by a local firm, forged the name of his employer to the check.

U.S. Tanks Fire Across 38th Parallel

Most of the business section at Northport, Ala., (top) is flooded by overflow from the Warrior river. The flood level suddenly rose 42 feet here overnight. Many families were driven from their homes. Rome, Ga., is another of several southern cities beset by flood. High water covers the ball ground (bottom) at the Anchor cotton mill on the outskirts of Rome. Out in mid-field the water is about 10 feet deep. (AP Wirephoto).

Allies Seek To Determine Aims Of Threatening Chinese Buildup

ENEMY DISPLAYS STRONG RESISTANCE, GETS 1 TANK

By Robert Eunson

Tokyo, Sunday, April 1. — (AP) — Two American tank columns prowled across parallel 38 a half-mile into North Korea Saturday with guns blazing.

Seeking to determine the aims of a threatening Chinese Red buildup, the American tanks tested Communist positions for three and one-half hours, then made shooting withdrawals to their own lines on the west and central fronts.

The Chinese knocked out one tank with a land mine and splattered mortars, potato - masher hand grenades and machinegun fire at the others.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph, who accompanied the tankers, said the crossing of the parallel was not a general advance. It was part of the U. S. eighth army's limited offensive against Reds still fighting south of the old political boundary between the Communist north and Republican south.

By coincidence the tank forays came three months to the day after the Chinese opened their big push New Year's eve into south Korea.

Elsewhere, fierce but localized firefights took place Saturday on the central front, north, east and west of Allied - held Chunchon.

South Korean troops on the western front splashed across the Imjin river north of Munsan and engaged an enemy company during the day. In announcing the cross-

Albanian Refugees Based In Italy Reported Fighting Communists

YUGOSLAVS FEAR SOVIET WILL TAKE ARMED ACTION

By Alex Singleton

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 31.—(AP)—Albanian refugees based in Italy are being parachuted into combat against the Soviet-backed Albanian government, Premier Marshal Tito's official newspaper said today. From abroad came reports, unconfirmed here, that Soviet Russia has sent both jet planes and fresh men to her isolated satellite.

Denouncing "Albanian feudalists and other hotheads" for actions it said might touch off the Balkan powder keg, Tito's newspaper, Borba, declared "armed groups are being parachuted into Albania and they are fighting there."

Yugoslav sources in London declared about a dozen MIG Russian jet fighters were sent into Albania early this month. A Paris diplomatic source who has a representative in Albania said two Soviet fighters have been patroll-

CALL FOR PROBE IN SHIP DEALS

Johnson Moves For Wide-Scale Inquiry Into Surplus Profiteering

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) moved today for wide - scale investigation of richly profitable dealings in war surplus ships, to show whether political influence and income tax avoidance are involved.

Johnson said the inquiry should start with a detail in which former Rep. Joseph E. Casey (D.-Mass.) and associates run a $100,000 investment into a $2,800,000 profit. The maritime administration has said Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey, the late former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., and others were associated with Casey in the transaction.

Johnson complained that a report on this deal, received from Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, "scrupulously" refrains from giving any information which Johnson had not specifically demanded as chairman of the senate commerce committee.

"The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse," he quoted caustically, as he gestured at Sawyer's report.

Johnson, at a news conference, devoted two hours to discussion of Sawyer's complicated report. At the end, he said he had found the story of the deal complicated and inconclusive.

The ship deal involving Casey and associates — which proved to be two transactions in one—seems to involve tax benefits to buyers of the vessels, Johnson said.

And, he added, the ships apparently wound up in the hands of "a tax free charitable corporation" whose name he has not yet learned.

He is not clear, he said, whether the final owners are a corporation formed by Chinese or a group formed to provide educational and charitable benefits to

4-Year-Old Child Killed By Truck

Crowley, La., March 31.—(AP)—A four year old child was instantly killed when struck by a log truck Friday afternoon while playing by the roadside in front of his home near Jennings.

Dead is Hillary James Deshotel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Deshotel, Jr.

Driver of the vehicle was Melvin Paul Clay, 26, of Evangeline. Clay said at the inquest he was blinded by dust from a vehicle in front of him and did not see the child dart out into the road in time to stop.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "unavoidable accident."

The body was taken to the Segura Funeral Home in Jennings.

Dying March Brings Heavy Flood Damage

Thousands Forced From Homes, Many Climb Trees To Escape Flash Floods In Various Sections Of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Spring floods caused death and destruction in many parts of the United States as March made a lion-like exit.

At least seven persons died.

Thousands of persons were forced from their homes. Many climbed trees to escape the swirling waters.

Three non - fatal train accidents also were attributed to rain and floods.

The deep south, midwest and east were hardest hit.

Clad in an evening gown, Miss Cordingley was driving home from a dance at the Wakonda Country Club with Boyd Chambers, 25, son of the Des Moines mayor. Flood waters from the Raccoon river swept their car from the road. She went under the water. Chambers was rescued.

William B. Chant, a 91-year-old manufacturer, drowned when his automobile struck a culvert in Port Jervis, N. Y. and plunged him into surging water.

The rampaging Coosa at a 30-foot level — swamped an automobile near Childersburg, Alabama, and drowned its occupants C. R. New, 28, and James E. Ford, 32, both of Talladega, Ala.

Their deaths raised to four the toll in the deep south, including two in Mississippi. Another man was missing and believed drowned.

Lucille May Grace 'Drops In' Here To Visit Friends

By H. H. Brinsmade
(Staff Writer)

Dropping in for a brief stay here Saturday, when she registered at Hotel Frances, Lucille May Grace, register of the state land office, and a possible candidate for governor, received in her suite a Morning World reporter. She was accompanied by her husband, Fred C. Dent, who identifies himself as far apart from politics. He is a Baton Rouge business man.

People meeting Miss Grace (as she desires to be called) invariably regard her as a delightful personage. Her dark eyes at times can flash as she becomes interested in a conversation. Her hair is only slightly tinged with gray which enhances a stately bearing. A tailored suit of small checked figures was chosen with becoming taste.

"I just dropped in to see my friends and to get a closer viewpoint of what this section is doing and what it needs," she explained.

When the reporter suggested that an ulterior motive in making the trip here might have been for the purpose of a hasty roundup politically, she emphatically disclaimed any such motive. She did, however, admit that she is giving careful thought as to whether or not to make the race for governor.

"I think it is all a mistake for a candidate to come out with a flat announcement as to making the race so far distant as this time. So many things may happen and conditions change with lightning rapidity. The public, I am aware, gets heartily tired of hearing that this one and that one is to make the race," she said.

She stated that she is deeply grateful to the public who for five successive terms have named her to office. Her father's prior record in this office comprised election for six terms and was terminated by his death.

"Women, in office and out, are more serious than men. They take their politics as something that elicits their every ability. With men they are more indifferent and to them politics is something of a game.

"Women who have held office

Sheriff Grant Chosen Outstanding In State

Jaycee Judges Select Ouachita Parish Official For 'Most Oustanding Young Man For 1950'

Shreveport, March 31.—(Special)—Bailey Grant, 35-year-old sheriff of Ouachita Parish, tonight was named Louisiana's "Most Outstanding Young Man for 1950."

Grant's selection, made by a board of distinguished judges from entrants all over Louisiana, was revealed in Shreveport at the annual banquet which climaxes the state convention of the Louisiana Junior Chamber of Commerce. W. L. "Jack" Howard, president of the state Jaycee organization presided at the ceremony and presented Sheriff Grant with the "distinguished service award" a handsome gold medal which accompanies the selection.

Earlier this year, Grant was chosen Ouachita parish's "Most Outstanding Young Man for 1950" by a local board of judges comprising Sam Smith, Dr. A. M. Serex, and Judge E. B. Garrett. As local winner, he was then eligible to be entered in the statewide competition which he won Saturday night. His selection marked the second time in three years that a Monroe - West Monroe Jaycee has been awarded the coveted statewide title. Fred Fudickar won it in 1948.

MISS. GUARDS RAID TAVERNS

Twenty Establishments Involved In Bootleg, Gambling Crackdown

Durant, Miss., March 31.—(AP)—The Mississippi National Guard today raided 20 Holmes county taverns in the first state crackdown on bootlegging and gambling in more than three years.

At least ten persons — possibly more — were arrested.

No estimate of the amount of whiskey or gambling equipment could be made until the picked teams of armed guards arrived at the county courthouse in Lexington.

The raids were staged simultaneously at 3:30 p. m. (CST) by groups of two to four guardsmen armed with pistols, carbines and sub - machine guns.

Sheriff Ellis Wynn requested Gov. Fielding Wright to assist him in the crackdown and Wright ordered the guard out today.

The raids were directed by Adjutant Gen. W. T. Wilson, Col. T. B. Birdsong and Col. Victor L. McDearman.

Birdsong, state highway patrol commissioner, was present as a National Guard colonel. Ranks of the raiding guardsmen were sprinkled with highway patrolmen who belong to both organizations.

The biggest haul reported so far was 50 gallons of corn whiskey

Garber Will Play Here For Red Cross

Jan Garber, his internationally famous orchestra and two vocalists, will give a special benefit show at Neville high school Saturday for the local Red Cross Chapter.

Garber, according to Garland Shell, publicity chairman of the Ouachita parish chapter of the Red Cross, is permitting the entire proceeds of the show to go to the local chapter.

Garber's orchestra has been booked here three times in the past three months.

Admission to the show will be a contribution to the Red Cross. Special cards will be issued to donators, and special sections of the auditorium will be reserved for persons contributing three dollars or more, two dollars, and general admission cards will be granted those contributing a dollar. Location of ticket sales will be made public early this week, Shell said.

Shell pointed out that the local chapter's goal is still $15,000 short, and that he, in behalf of the Red Cross, expresses his thanks to Garber for donating his services, and those of his orchestra, and two vocalists, Gloria Allyn and Roy Cordell.

Underworld Sweats While American Citizenry Gets Behind Big Cleanup

(By The Associated Press)

An aroused citizenry is turning the heat on the nation's underworld. And the mobsters are starting to sizzle.

This is one of the clearest aftermaths of the senate crime committee's recent spotlighting of criminals.

It is not just a matter of "Cheese it, the cops."

The people themselves are showing signs of a vigilante spirit. From California to New England, citizens are forming — or rejuvenating — organizations to combat organized crime that corrupts civic life.

Will the enthusiasm last? Some promise that it will, such as Spruille Braden, former ambassador to Argentina, and now head of the recently - formed New York City anti - crime committee.

These modern - day posses aim to test their mettle against the suave but tough mobsters, not with old - time six - shooters, but by exposing corruption and by prodding prosecutors and police.

The power of the opinion they represent is already revealing its force.

Prosecution agencies are showing a new alacrity in bagging suspects.

From coast to coast in the past few days has come story after story of indictments of charges being placed against mysterious figures long immune to prosecution.

They were accompanied by news of crackdowns on suspected gambling places and illegal race wires.

Some of the figures wanted for questioning took to their heels. Some were located — one in a Florida key fishing shack. Some are still hunted.

"We've got the criminals on the run," said Daniel Sullivan, operating director of the Miami, Fla., crime commission.

In San Francisco, Stanley Cohen, who supplied bookies with race information, voluntarily retired from business.

"It's too hot," he said.

The arousing of public interest against local crime was one of the chief objectives of the senate crime committee.

Senator Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) the chairman, has said the principal aim was to study organized crime methods as a basis for corrective legislation. But he holds that the federal government cannot do the whole job.

"The spotlighting of local crime is an important by - product," he said. "Many citizens did not appreciate the sinister influences in their communities. Now that they know the facts they are doing something about it."

The function of the citizen watchdogs is to hit crime on the local level as advocated by the senate crime committee and dramatically expounded by Braden when

UNITY OF TROOPS ISSUE IS URGED

Despite O'Conor's Plea Republicans Renew Their Attacks

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) pleaded for unity on the senate's troops-for-Europe resolutions today, but Republicans renewed their attacks on the measures with warnings about atomic warfare.

The GOP floor leader, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, told the senate that if the United States were crippled by atomic attack American divisions in the western European army would be left without support from home.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) asked in another address whether President Truman has the authority "to give atomic bombs, and to authorize their use, to an international authority which is beyond the complete control of the United States."

It was the last day of debate on the resolutions. On Monday the senate will vote to decide whether:

1—To endorse the president's intention of sending four more divisions of ground troops into the North Atlantic treaty force, and

2—To claim for congress the right to authorize all future commitments of troops across the Atlantic.

Senator O'Conor's call for unity opened today's debate.

Racket Money In Legitimate Business

Americans are accustomed to tucking their criminal elements into nice, neat compartments, serene in the thought that however bad they might be they don't contaminate the rest of life.

That serenity ought to be disturbed, however, by facts now accumulating as result of the Kefauver crime inquiry and other investigations.

The evidence is unmistakable that many underworld leaders in many parts of the United States have heavily invaded legitimate business.

Frank Costello, alleged by Senate investigators to be underworld king, gave the Kefauver committee some notion of his legitimate investments. He put $40,000 into a television concern, $41,000 into an oil company, thousands into real estate properties in New York and elsewhere, and still other funds into a firm making an item supposed to cook a chicken by "infra-red rays."

Other testimony suggests that mobsters have been pouring millions into hotels, liquor firms, automobile and steel-making companies, food and beverage manufacture, trucking, laundries, dressmaking.

A steel official in Detroit told the Kefauver committee a gangster helped out his firm with a $100,000 investment at a time when the company needed funds to acquire properties of another concern.

Anthony D'Anna, alleged by the committee to be Detroit head of Mafia, the Italian terrorist ring, is described as holding a half interest in the motor carrier which hauls all Ford cars from Ford plants in the area. He's also listed as director of a bank.

But why multiply the illustrations? They are more than ample to shock us into realizing that in many parts of the U. S. economy the line between legitimacy and illegitimacy is almost rubbed out.

The mobsters' purpose is clear. First, it gives a cloak of honesty to all their nefarious underworld enterprises. When questioned, they present their legitimate front, protesting heatedly that they are honest businessmen.

Secondly, it provides a lucrative investment outlet for the millions they make in gambling, vice, racketeering and such.

All this makes them richer and muddies the waters so thoroughly that it is hard for the law ever to nail them.

How can we halt this vicious invasion of legitimate enterprise? Obviously, the honest manager of honest business owe it to themselves and the public to be eternally vigilant. They need to ask searching questions of any big investor. The prime one: "Where did the money come from?"

Laxity in this field is no more admirable in the business community than in the headquarters of the RFC or among college basketball players. The moral code exempts no one.

It'd be silly to believe, though, that business firms could maintain a foolproof check on the origins of investment money in both large and small chunks. The real answer is to cut off this illegitimate flow at its source, to throttle the huge underworld operations that produce it.

Laws, new or old, can't do the whole job. The people who patronize the mobsters' enterprises must bear a good share of responsibility. So long as billions are paid out in tribute, the gangsters will flourish and have the money to worm into honest activity.

Feeling comfortably remote from the "wicked characters" whose faces TV and the newsreels have showed you recently? How do you know one of them doesn't own your laundry down the street?

Chinese Manpower

A story—this is an oldie—which bears on the point that the Chinese are being badly hurt by their military manpower losses in the Korean fighting. It is about an old Chinese named Nom who ran a restaurant in California.

"One day during the last war I went in to have lunch," says the narrator, "and Nom asked how the war was going. I said 'Very badly. Today the Japanese killed 100,000 Chinese.' He said, 'Yes, very bad. How many Japanese killed?' I replied, 'About 200.' The old Chinese laughed and said, 'Hee, hee, pretty soon no more Japanese.' "

If losses were not overwhelmingly against the Chinese, the U. S. would be the first to scrape the bottom of the manpower barrel. But if figures on Chinese casualties which pass the censors are discounted liberally, they are still enormous. Apropos of this there is another story to the effect that if all Chinese were lined up four abreast and marched into the sea, the population of China would continue to gain.

The only hopeful phase of the Chinese situation is that inhabitants of that over-populated land seem to be quarreling among themselves again. If that evolves into civil war, which has been the normal state of China for decades, effective Chinese military manpower may be diverted from aggressive designs.

Laments about the purchasing power of the dollar are almost daily events in the two branches of congress, sometimes coupled with comparisons to show how holders of government bonds are being hit by inflation. But the bondholders have the chance that the dollar will regain its purchasing power. At least the bonds are government obligations, and small investors continue to buy them at an increasing rate, which gives cheerful evidence of public confidence.

The government is taking its real beating on purchases by the department of defense, and especially on items other than weapons, though the cost of the latter has doubled and tripled over World War II, partly because of improved types. But what a soldier wears and carries with him now sends the cost of manning an army to heights not anticipated as recently as a year ago.

It used to be, for example, that the army specified 100 per cent virgin wool for blankets. That was true at the beginning of the Korean affair. But the price got so high that the quartermaster corps finally agreed to reduce the virgin wool content from 100 per cent to 6 per cent—and even those blankets now cost 12 per cent more than the all virgin wool blanket. A recent purchase of 80,000 set the taxpayer back $16.54 each.

Some other increases show what has happened to the purchasing power of army dollar: Cotton drawers, 42 to 59 cents; shorts, 48 to 83 cents; wool socks, 57 to 84 cents, combat boots, $5.72 to $10.96; bacon, pound, 38 to 42 cents; lard, pound, 13 to 22 cents; mattresses, $8 to $15.99; steam tables, $2800 to $4618; ambulances (3-4 ton $3.774 to $4.391; Vitamin A in oil (50 cc) 36 cents to 60 cents.

Volume buying, it seems, gets the army nowhere. Heavy anti-aircraft guns cost a quarter of a million dollars a unit, which is 56 per cent more than the price before Korea.

The air force thought volume buying with its increased budget would reduce unit costs by at least 20 per cent, but finds that costs have actually jumped by 25 per cent.

That is just like reducing the defense budget. And nobody in the government has found a way to stop it. Of course, contract negotiation, based on margins of profit hangs over the heads of all bidders, but that doesn't keep their prices from climbing steadily.

Rep. Frank W. Boykin of Alabama, whose personal slogan is "everything's made for love" does not depend on love to run the country. He gets to his office most mornings around 4:30 a.m., knocks off at 6:30 a.m., when the restaurants open, for a cup of coffee. One morning he found a kindred spirit pacing the floor in front of the neighboring office of a Pennsylvania congressman, who keeps much later hours.

The impatient visitor wanted to know when the Keystone member might be expected, and Boykin vaguely said that it might be an hour or so, hospitably invited the i. v. to accompany him for a cup of coffee.

Boykin launched into the greatness of his own southwest Alabama district, its manufacturing possibilities, mill sites and other advantages awaiting the developer. Well, it turned out that his guest was Howard Smader, head of the Vanity Fair Mills of Reading, Pa., manufacturers of women's clothing. He found Boykin so convincing that he sent scouts to the Bombigbee river, territory and within two years has set up a mill there.

Now there are Vanity Fair plants at Monroeville, Demoplis, Jackson and Atmor, Ala. Smader never did go back to see the Pennsylvania congressman, so apparently his mission wasn't so important after all. Boykin says he only wanted to work out arrangements with the government for another mill in Pennsylvania, and that obviously would have been a mistake. He sticks to the maxim about the early bird.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

INDEPENDENCE HALL

One Sunday recently, I took my children to Philadelphia to look at Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell, and other historic evidences of the founding of our country enshrined in that building. I think that parents would strengthen their children's love of country if they, even for once in their lives, walked the floor upon which Washington and Jefferson and Franklin stood on the occasion of the founding of this country. It gives one a feeling of continuity, of belonging to a grand tradition. It relates one to the great spiritual strength of America.

I was, however, disappointed by the environment. The streets are narrow and shabby. There is a little park in front of the building, but not an impressive one. My little girl wanted to see Betsy Ross's house, where our first national flag was sewn, and we drove through narrow Arch street where we stopped in front of 239. The house is buried in a mass of buildings and is perhaps best recognized by a replica of our first flag that hangs on a pole from it.

We wanted to see where Benjamin Franklin was buried in the Christ Church Cemetery and even to enter Christ Church itself, but parking was difficult. Yet it was in that church that the fathers of our country prayed for guidance on those occasions when they wrote the declaration of independence and the constitution.

I am told that a plan is afoot area into a national historical area into a national historical park. Since January 1 of this year, Independence Hall and the group of historic buildings adjacent to it are under the national park service of the department of the interior.

More than that is necessary to preserve these monuments. They should be restored. Independence Hall, for instance, needs a coat of paint on the interior walls. Peeling ceilings are not impressive, particularly to young children. Could not the grand dining room of this building, which also served as a hospital, be restored, so that when the hall is visited, children can see, in their keen imaginations, the great figures who risked their lives that this might be a nation of free men?

With all the billions of dollars that the United States has been spending all over the world for every variety of boondoggling, why has nothing been done until now to restore the entire area, from Spruce to Arch street, from Second to Sixth street, into a shrine to American patriotism? I look at a map of the "Independence National Historical Park Project" and I cannot help wondering why it is still a project after 175 years. Why do we have to wait to do the fine things when we can waste so much on the meaningless?

Are Americans so lacking in sentiment, so impotent in their love of tradition that it has taken them this long to rescue the most sacred spot in all this country from obscurity and vandalism? How shall we instill in our children the ideals of our nation if we fail to show any interest in our national monuments?

In a way, I must say that I came away hurt, because my children, who said it was all wonderful, betrayed their own disillusionment. The rooms were so bare. They had been to Plymouth where they saw the Pilgrims' houses and Plymouth Rock. They have not yet been to Williamsburg in Virginia or to the Lincoln shrine in New Salem, Ill.

When they are taken to those places, their imagination will roam among living things. Here at Independence Hall that feeling of the living is missing and children must have that if they are to understand the quality of a place.

No millions are too many to spend upon a complete restoration of this area, until an American child can see in his mind's eye the grand flourish of John Hancock's pen and the aged Benjamin Franklin being assisted to his seat, and the philosophic Thomas Jefferson writing: "When in the course of human events. . . ." And realize that it was to this place that George Washington rode to assume a leadership that is never to be forgotten.

Perhaps if we made much of our national shrines and brought our children to them, they would be more truly bound, in these queer and disconcerting days to our great national traditions.

New York Day By Day

New York—Airline statisticians have some up with the same revelation that stewardesses are not as susceptible to airborne winks as they used to be. Seems that a decade ago the best a company could hope for was 18 months of service from the average beauteous bachelor-girl before she changed her mind about men. Now the air must be full of reluctant Romeos, or would-be husbands are losing their touch. Although 9 [illegible] cent of one airline's staff of 600 hostesses still resign every year to get married, the average gal now stays in uniform 26 months before saying "Yes."

Here & There—Rosalind Courtright is such a confirmed cruise fan that any spell between singing engagements is likely to find her aboard ship. The martinis were very dry. Seafood had cocktail sauce. Chicken en casserole was boiled in Dry Monopole '29 and enhanced by goblets of Chateau Margaux '28. HIGH PRICES, DISHONEST MONEY

We are much concerned these days about high prices—and we should be—not so much about the prices themselves as by what they indicate. We should keep in mind that they are the result of inflation brought on by a dishonest currency.

We are not the first nation faced with the problem of very high prices. Ours is not the first time that a government has debased the currency.

The history of Rome in the fourth century A. D. provides one of the most classic examples. The Emperor Diocletian was then faced with the problems of exorbitant prices.

The Roman historian Lactantius tells us of this emperor: "And when we had brought on a state of exceedingly high prices by his different acts of injustice he tried to fix by law the prices of articles offered for sale." How familiar this sounds today!

The historian went on to say: "Thereupon for the veriest trifles much blood was shed and out of fear nothing was offered for sale and the scarcity grew much worse until after the death of many persons the law was repealed from mere necessity."

Successive Roman governments had depreciated the coin until it contained no gold but was a mere token with the emperor's head stamped upon it. Diocletian reissued a coin of intrinsic value and the historian Drury tells us: "As to the effect produced by the monetary reform it was inevitable: as the circulation of good money increased prices fell back to their natural levels."

It seems strange to go back fifteen hundred years to the Roman Empire and find illustrated for us the disastrous consequences we are now facing—and for the same reason.

The Roman emperors thought they could debase their coin and get by with it; they thought it would suffice the people to simply have the Emperor's head stamped on the coin without having any intrinsic value in the coin itself. It didn't work.

In 1933 our government went off the gold standard and thereby violated sanctity of contract and broke its pledged promise to the people. Sine then we have had a debased currency the government proceeding on the theory that it is sufficient to print on a dollar bill that it is a dollar. It isn't working.

The Roman Emperors never thought of paper money. That remained for the Regent of France on the advice of John Law some 23 years ago. Six million livres in paper money were issued redeemable in coin. Business picked up all over France and the Regent, attributing a great deal of France's financial recovery to this issue, decided that if six million would do so much good, then a thousand million ought to put the country on easy street. So he issued a thousand million in paper money which issue of course had no sound collateral. The false financial structure crumbled. Coin disappeared and no one would take paper. "Fortunes and lives were wasted away and the dream of sudden wealth was over."

Paper money finance always ends in galloping inflation—and it would be well for us to remember that to debase the intrinsic value of a nation's currency is a crime, whether it is committed openly by a secretary of the tresury or secretly by a forger in a back attic.

It is a comforting thought to know that the law of honesty simply will not be violated. But it is a tragic thought to realize that governments continue in their attempts to violate it without any regard whatever to the lessons of history.

All history tells us that inflation ranks right along with war and famine in the production of human misery. History also tells us that the only cure for inflation is a sound currency. Our only hope to avoid eventual economic disaster therefore, lies not in controls and regulations, which at the best are only palliatives, but in a sound currency with an intrinsic value.

EXCESS SPENDING RAPPED BY WILSON

Mobilizer Aims 'Major' Blow At Inflation By Calling On Business

Washington, March 31. —(AP)— Aiming a "major" blow at inflation, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson tonight called for a halt on unnecessary borrowing and spending by businessmen.

Wilson urged a government campaign to whip up sentiment "throughout the business community."

The head man of the nation's vast defense buildup said he wants to get across the idea to corporate and business interests "that it is not in the public interest to either borrow or spend unnecessarily."

"An organized effort on their part to exercise restraint in borrowing and spending should be a major contribution to an anti-inflation program," he said in a letter to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

Writing as acting chairman of a committee to study the problem of private credit expansion, Wilson offered the idea as a supplement to the federal reserve board's drive among lending institutions to discourage speculative and other other non-productive loans.

Other developments in the fast-shifting mobilization scene included:

1. A 30-day postponement of the national production authority's ban on the use of aluminum in more than 200 civilian products. It was to have been clamped on tomorrow.

NPA also announced it is studying possible relaxation of prohibitions now in force on the use of copper. It gave no details.

The aluminum ban deferment — urged by the senate small business committee—does not lift the limitation on the amount of aluminum fabricators may use. They will be held to 65 per cent of the amount they used on an average during the first six months of 1950. Also they must compete with defense - rated orders for supplies.

2. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer indicated a decision will be made by Monday on rubber allocations for April. The senate small business committee urged yesterday that a proposed cut be abandoned. The committee also asked that not less than 10,000 tons be allotted to companies other than the big four.

3. Industry officials said steel restrictions will force thousands of layoffs in some auto plants starting Monday.

4. NPA reserved 80 per cent of cotton duck production for deteriorated orders starting tomorrow. The material goes into such military items as tents, tarpaulins, stretchers, cots.

5. NPA banned some uses of nickel in the manufacture of heating and cooking appliances, refrigerators, sewing machines and about 70 other civilian products.

6. NPA cut the percentage of molybdenum going into some stainless steels and banned it in other stainless steels. The alloy is being used widely as a substitute for tungsten, most of which formerly came from Red China and Korea.

Wilson's letter to Sawyer urged extension of the federal reserve board's credit restraint program. He also asked that the commerce department's business advisory committee try to supplement this program by counselling - restraint among large borrowers.

25 Pigs Born In One Litter In Ill.

Freeport, Ill., March 31. —(AP)— Bottle-feeding 11 little ones around the clock can be a tiring chore.

Farmer Clifford Pontnack could tell you that today, between yawns. He did it. Not with babies, but with pigs.

Pontnack proudly announced yesterday that his two year old Chester White saw had given birth to a litter of 24 pigs. He believed that was a record

He had more news today. He said a recount showed there were 25 pigs instead of 24, but four had died.

Pontnack left ten of the tiny porkers with their mother on his farm four miles northeast of Freeport. He put the 11 other survivors in a brooder.

He reported he is nursing them with bottles and nipples containing a formula of the type given human infants.

It costs him some sleep though. He said he fed them overnight at 7 p. m., 10 p. m., 1 a. m. and (yawn) 5:30 a. m.

MURDER - SUICIDE IS INVESTIGATED

Pschoanalyst And Sculptres-Wife Found In Burned Cottage

Mahwah, N. J., March 31.—(AP)—Two bodies found in a flaming summer cottage were listed by police authorities today as the murder-suicide of a New York pschoanalyst and his sculptress-wife.

County and local authorities agreed the bodies, burned beyond recognition, were those of Dr. Rolf Hoffman and his wife, Gusta. Capt. E. J. Thompson, acting chief of county detectives, theorized that Hoffmar murdered his wife last night and killed himself, setting the cottage afire in the process.

The Hoffmans' son, Eric, a musician, came here today but at a later hour he had not yet viewed the bodies.

He was closeted with County Prosecutor Francis V. D. Lloyd, who made the tentative identification with Police Chief Charles Smith.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of deaths, but it had not yet been completed.

The bodies were brought across the rain-swollen Ramapo river, which cut off the only road leading to the cottage this morning but Thompson and other officers were marooned there several hours. The only communication was by telephone to another cottage on the grounds of Dell Brook farms, a cooperative summer retreat owned by several prominent New Yorkers.

Hoffman's blood-stained automobile was found near the cottage with this typewritten note fastened to the steering wheel:

"Kindly get in touch with our rich mammon obsessed relatives."

It bore Hoffman's rubber stamped signature.

Mammon is a biblical figure who worshipped money, and young Hoffman told newsmen in his family's lavish apartment on Manhattan's upper East Side that a morbid fear of poverty might have caused Dr. Hoffman to slay his wife and take his own life.

Eric, 30, who played in a concert last night, told police his parents left him a note that they were visiting in Wyckoff, a small community near here in the Ramapo mountains 25 miles northwest of New York City.

N. L. R. B. BACKS PLANT CLOSURE

Rule Shoe Plant Justified In Closing During Strike Threat

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—The national labor relations board, in a split decision, today upheld a company which closed its plant until a union signed a contract after a series of strikes.

There were special circumstances in the case — involving the International Shoe Company and local 198 of the CIO-rubber workers at Hannibal, Mo. — but the board ruled that any employer is ustified in locking out his workers until he is sure more strikes won't be called that would make operations uneconomical.

In the Hannibal case, the company would not reopen its shoe plant until the union signed a contract. The strikes were not directed primarily at the company, which had virtually agreed to all terms of a new agreement. Instead the walkouts, which crippled production of rubber heels and soles, were aimed at bringing all the workers into the union before the contract should be signed.

The proposed contract contained a maintenance of membership clause requiring all workers who were members of the union on the date of signing to remain in good standing for the duration of the agreement.

When walkouts were staged in a maneuver to get the workers into the local before signing, the company closed its doors. It insisted that the union include an escape clause in the agreement permitting workers to get out of the union if they had been forced into it in the months preceding the strike.

The plant was closed for a month before the union capitulated. The union charged the company with an unfair labor practice under the Taft-Hartley act.

The board voted 3 to 2 that: "Here the parties were engaged in a contest over economic matters. Neither sought to undermine the other by unfair labor practices. The union, which choose to use an economic weapon within its control, can not rightly complain because the employer saw fit to follow suit."

The union and company have been under contract since 1942.

PUBLIC PRESSURE ON CRIME PROBES

Insistance May Force Reopening Of Sensational Public Hearings

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—Terrific public pressure may force a reopening of the sensational public hearings by the senate crime investigating committee.

Senator Hunt (D.-Wyo.), one of the five members of the crime hunting group, told a reporter this today, adding that he personally believes "additional hearings are not necessary."

Hunt said he and most other senators are "under terrific public pressure to continue the public hearings."

The committee headed by Senator Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) got a 30-day extension of life to April 30 from the senate this week.

Chairman Kefauver stoutly opposes additional public hearings—which captured a record television and radio audience — and insists he could not serve, even if the group he founded is continued.

Two Republican members, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire and Wiley of Wisconsin, will propose a continuation until next January 15, in the senate next week.

Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.), who has taken an important role in the pubic hearings, and Senator Hunt are expected to go along if the senate decides to extend the inquiry.

"Every senator is getting thousands of letters and telegrams asking that the hearings continue," Hunt said. "Although I know the committee has established the general pattern of organized interstate crime, I will gladly serve for a longer period if the senate orders this."

Senate Majority Leader McFarland (D.-Ariz.) in a separate interview said he wants to see the reports by the Kefauver committee before taking any stand on another extension.

He would have agreed to a longer than 30 days, McFarland said, but that was all that Chairman Kefauver asked.

"They should have time for any hearings they want to have to clean up any loose ends," the senate leader added.

FARMER KNOW-HOW

If anyone imagines the American farmer has been left in the lurch by technical progress, let him examine a few figures: With a 12 per cent smaller labor force than in 1900, he's turning out twice as much food and fiber today. Even since 1940 farm output per man hour has shot up 35 per cent. U. S. ingenuity plainly doesn't stop at the factory door.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

"For Love or Money" closed a very successful weeks run on Saturday, playing to a packed house, . . . With each succeeding play, the fondest hopes of Little Theatre are being fulfilled. . . . It is not only my opinion and those so closely associated with the productions that have been presented in Little Theatre play house, but it is one shared with many people who's only interest is a good show. And that conclusion amounts to just one thing, your Little Theatre has advanced to far above the realm of just amateur theatrical. . . . Lets just be honest about it, it is theater in every sense of the word and that is achievement that the twin cities may will be proud of. How about a great big hand for Director Stocker Fontelieu, for without him we would not be able to say all the nice preceding remark. He is a wonderful director and now is as good a time as any to tell you that he must be quite as proud of all this as we could ever be, because just recently he decided to be with us again next year.

Readings for the fifth play of the membership season will be held on Tuesday evening, April 3, 8 p.m. at the Selman Field playhouse. Everyone is wondering who will be the heiress in "The Heiress". . . . I have been privileged to have a glimpse at the script and it is a terrific play with some several good parts. . . . So lets support our hard working director with a good turn out for casting of "The Heiress."

Random Notes . . . There will be a meeting of the board of directors for Little Theatre on Monday afternoon, 5 p.m. at the Lotus Club, with much on the agenda to be discussed. . . . Don't forget that next Sunday afternoon Little Theatre offers another in its series of Little Theatre extra's. It will be Noel Coward's one act play "Ways and Means" and it will be directed by Jim Reynolds, who chalked himself up some theatre glory this week when he understudied the role of Wilbur in "For Love or Money" on two hours notice. . . . On the side of real treats, those good cooks of St. Matthew's are giving a spaghetti supper in the St. Mtathew's cafeteria on Tuesday evening, April 3, from 6 p.m. until. It will be a benefit for the high school choir robes (with Sister Dorthea, directoress). The menu will be luscious, tasty spaghetti, salad, hot rolls, homemade cake and coffee. Mrs. Ralph Norman, chairman and the cooking will be in charge of Mrs. John Brown assisted by Mrs. Edwin Jenevein, Mrs. Marcelle Renaud, Mrs. Morris DeLarot, Mrs. Edelle Guerriero, and Mrs. Stanley Hodges.

SAVES WEDDING

Santa Ana, Calif.—(AP)—Barbara Moore, a lady Leatherneck at nearby El Toro Marine base, never dreamed she'd need a gas mask to get married. But one of the gadgets averted a postponement of her marriage to overseas-bound Pfc. Robert Daniels. The couple were to be wed two days before Daniels shoved off. Just before the ceremony, the bride-to-be discovered ber barracks locked and sealed with her trousseau inside while a fumigating crew was filling the building with gas. In resourceful Marine tradition, Miss Moore borrowed a workman's gas mask, waded in and recovered her trousseau. The wedding was only slightly delayed.

Engineers estimate that preventable night accidents on main highways represent an annual loss of about $6000 a mile.

SHIPPERS PLAN PERFECT SCORE

Transit Of Consignments Without Failures Are Being Advocated

During April, the 15th annual perfect shipping campaign, sponsored by the National Association of Shippers Advisory Boards and the 13th regional boards throughout the country, will wage an active campaign.

R. A. Hollen, traffic manager of Brown Container Co., Inc., and the Brown Paper Industries, Inc., is chairman of the local committee. Heading the national committee is A. H. Schwietert, traffic manager, Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry and Louis A. Schwartz, general manager New Orleans traffic and transportation bureau, is regional manager.

Mr. Hollen, local chairman, is making extensive arrangements for for loss and damage prevention activities during April. He states the annual bill from loss and damage to goods and commodities produced by American skill and ingenuity is more than just a transportation problem; it should be the concern of everyone, because it is a continual drain of our economic lifeblood at a time when the free world depends so much on what we produce.

He urges shippers and receivers of goods and commodities whether they be small or large dealers, or individuals concerned, to cooperate in this important matter by checking into their methods of packing, marking, handling and stowing, and where necessary, make improvements to insure safe delivery.

Getting goods made in all the variety and volume required for defense, on top of everything it takes to keep people well fed, well clothed, and well housed, in accordance with our high standards, is a matter of the highest urgency, but this is only a part of the factors. The other, and essential factor, is to see to it that goods of every kind get safely through to their destination without loss or damage so that none of our resources shall be wasted, none of our time lost, none of our strength sapped.

Attempt To Revive Love, Dangerous

Omaha, March 31. —(AP)— Delbert Kellner, 22, had no doubts today that the road to — and from — love can be mighty rough.

Last night Kellner went to the home of a former girl friend to seek a reconciliation. She wasn't home, and neighbors who took him for a prowler called police.

"They scared me," Kellner explained. "I didn't know who they were." He fled in his truck.

When their quarry refused to stop, officers began firing. Officer David Murphy said he let go with "25 to 28 shots."

One punctured a tire, but the truck went on until a wheel broke. Kellner jumped out and was caught trying to hide under some bushes.

There were 15 bullet holes in the cab, but Kellner's only injury was a black eye. He got that, he said, when he tried to hide.

Detective Inspector Harry Green said Kellner will face "at least speeding and resisting arrest charges."

Chicago To Open Narcotics Court

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—A narcotics court will be opened Monday.

Municipal Judge Gibson E. Gorman, who will preside, said it will be the first court of its kind established in the U.S.

The court will handle narcotics cases. They previously were heard by the felony, women's and boys courts and other divisions of the judicial system.

The reason for setting up the new court is an increase in violations of laws against selling and using narcotics.

Billionaire Is Leary Of Banks

Madras, India, March 30. —(AP)— The Nizam of Hyderabad, one of the world's richest men, has never trusted banks but he was reported today to have finally put some of his wealth in one — almost $1,500,000 in as a starter.

A diamond association spokesman here said the Nizam sent some crown jewels, emeralds, pearls and gold to a Bombay bank vault Thursday. The Nizam was said to have been "disturbed and agitated" as the stuff was loaded aboard a special plane.

The frugal Nizam, who patches his own clothes and eats one meal a day, will still have a few baubles around the house. His air conditioned palace vaults in Hyderabad hold an estimated $100,000,000 in jewels, gold coins and such.

Last year, some members of his household estimated that altogether, the Nizam could raise $1,500,000,000 in a pinch.

Foster Says U. S. Now Must Supply Europe Bread, Guns

By John M. Hightower

Washington, March 31. —(AP)— ECA Chief William C. Foster, hailing the end of straight economic aid to Europe under the Marshall plan, said today that the United States now must supply the western European peoples "with both bread and guns."

The Economic Cooperation Administration is observing its third anniversary this weekend. At a formal celebration to be held here Monday French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, Secretary of State Acheson and other top U. S. government officials will detail the agency's work.

This celebration, and the prospect of more foreign aid proposals to come, has already drawn critical fire in congress. For example, Senator Butler (R.-Neb.) said in a statement yesterday that congress should weigh further aid proposals ver ycarefully.

Outlining the billions of aid granted up to now, he said:

"Now we see coming toward us even greater programs. swollen and bloated beyond belief, with no more justification given than the long-familiar propagandizing of the administration."

Foster, previewing Monday's event, declared in a statement that in three years the Marshall plan has accomplished "almost all that most of us dared hope could be accomplished in the full four years alloted to it."

Moreover, he said, this "year of grace" which he attributed largely to the determined recovery efforts of the people of Europe, may represent "the margin of safety which will permit the free world to successfully gird itself against any aggression from the Soviet shere of slavery."

From now on, Foster added, the U. S. has twin objectives: "We must give Europe the aid that she needs to supply her people with both bread and guns. In the fourth year of our operation, ECA will devote all its energies to the task of helping the free world build a strong defense program that will make it a bastion to resist Communist aggression."

The Marshall plan was voted by congress on April 2, 1948. Since then it has spent about $11,000,000,000 for the purpose promoting the recovery of western Europe in such a way as to encourage the development of European unity. Because that has been its major political purpose, Foster hailed recent adoption of the Schuman plan for pooling western Europe's coal and steel industries as one of the most significant steps taken in the third year of the European recovery program.

The policy change—from reconstruction to rearmament— which Foster signalized today actually has been developing for several months. Increasingly ECA has prepared itself to serve as the economic arm of the mutual defense assistance program under the North Atlantic treaty.

What this means in plain english is that from now on ECA will be spending dollars in Europe or sending production machinery and technicians to Europe for the primary purpose of making guns. It will b interested in the production of "bread" only in so far as that is necessary for the economic strength on which military power is based.

Foster said that Britain has now "dropped the crutch of American aid" and said some other Marshall plan countries would be able to do the same. Actually, he declared, less than $1,000,000,000 in recovery funds would be necessary in ECA's fourth year although the original plans forecast an expenditure of more than twice that amount for the last 12 months of the scheduled four years of the Marshall plan.

Foster pointed out. however, that ECA actually will be spending additional sums in its fourth year but that these will be directed toward the new goal "strength for the free world."

Truman administration officials have agreed to ask congress to continue ECA indefinitely as the government's foreign aid agency in the economic field. The recommendation will be made by President Truman when he asks congress for about $11,000,000,000 in the next two or three weeks to finance all kinds of military and economic foreign assistance.

TITO ALARMED

ing daily for several days over Tirana, the capital.

Rome newspapers quoted refugees from Tirana as saying the Russians have boosted their controlling personnel in Albania—meaning military, naval, police and technical men—from 3.000 to 5,000.

As much as they hate the procominform regime of Albania's premier Enver Hoxha, Yugoslavs stressed that the growing troubles of their Adriatic neighbor might give Russia an excuse to launch an attack against the Moscow-hating Tito.

Albania is land locked by Yugoslavia and Greece.

But the Yugoslavs said the latest happenings in Albania are part of the general turmoil taking place in all cominform countries, where the people are beginning to resist a policy of "complete dependence on the U. S. S. R."

Some credence was given to the reported parachute drops inside Albania by previous statements from the official Albanian telegraph agency that Italian spies had parachuted into the country.

Borba's account was written by Vladimir Dedijer, one of Tito's top propagandists and former director of information.

Dedijer said the parachutists had come from Italy, where some 5,000 Albanian exiles now reside. There is a "free Albania' movement among the exiles and they have told of a long-running campaign of dropping leaflets over their wild and mountainous homeland.

The Borba article said the rebel planes from Italy met anti-aircraft fire and the government police forced the people to stay in their homes until all the anti-regime leaflets were collected.

"An attack on Albania would be for the U. S. S. R. a God-sent opportunity as an excuse for Soviet aggressive policy on a broad front," Dedijer said, "particularly when one bears in mind how much the U. S. S. R. has lost of its prestige as a peace - loving country from the time the government of the U. S. S. R. started to conduct an aggressive policy toward Yugoslavia.

Always a hotspot in the Balkans Albania's strategic importance lies mostly in the fact that it guards a vital section of the Adriatic sea. It has only 1,175,000 inhabitants, but its army is reported relatively large.

Since the split with one-friendly Yugoslavia, Albania's affairs have been reported placed more and more under direct Russian control.

Rome's Christian Democrat newspaper Il Popolo said the Soviet reinforcements were a result of the Kremlin's concern over what may happen in Albania in the coming summer. Il Popolo said that, although the country has little more than 1,000,000 inhabitants, Albanian army and police forces number more than 80,000.

Persons close to the free Albanian movement in the Italian capital said 5,000 opponents of Hoxha's regime have been executed and 10,000 others arrested in the last five years.

Diplomatic sources elsewhere said there is little doubt that Albania, hungry under a dictatorship, is seething with unrest.

But American officials in Washington were skeptical that the unrest had or soon would reach the proportions of a general revolt, in view of the tough action a modern police state can take against dissident elements. Moreover, the Albanians historically have been against whatever regime is in power.

The tough little Albanians, known as "shiptars' or "sons of the eagle" are the last remnants of the vanished race of Illyrians that once occupied the Adriatic areas of Greece and Albania. They boast that none of many foreign invaders has ever succeeded in defeating them in the mountains.

seized at the home of Mrs. H. S. Powell. A Negro, Dennis Williams, who was loading the whiskey onto a Chevrolet pickup truck in the back yard was arrested. A white man who was driving the truck and was chased into the Powell truck by the raiders fled across a nearby field and escaped.

The raid centered on the Rainbow Club, on a side gravel road just north of Durant, owned by M. M. "Blackjack" Powell. A cache of whiskey in pints and half-pint bottles was found in the back of a slot machine at the club.

Two bags full of poker chips punch boards, and a set of brass knuckles were seized, together with a number of slot machines.

A dice table found in a back-room was being used as a drying rack for bath towels.

Powell said that he had not run any open gambling since Wynn became sheriff.

The last major raid staged by the National Guard was during Gov. Paul Johnson's administration. He sent detachments into Batesville, Indianola and Vicksburg.

In 1938 Gov. Hugh White sent the guard into Rankin county across the Pearl river from Jackson where they smashed plush nightclubs and bootleg spots along the notorious gold coast.

There were several minor forays into the gold coast in 1947 but these yielded little or no evidence.

John Pettus, R. C. Holden, James McBride, K. G. Ellis, John McBride, A. L. McNair, H. D. Powell, T. R. Lucas, Ruby L. Fowler, L. Luther Ramage, Herbert Downer, Ed Weems, Stanley Woodall, J. G. Lane, Jimmie McNair, Mike Brazeale, M. M. Powell, H. L. Malone, H. L. Mayo.

ation which has now evidently been solved and doubtless everybody is satisfied. About two years ago. Mrs. Kate Hess, of 509 Hall street, a widow, died and her will provided for a legacy for the establishment of an old folks home for aged white persons. The sum of $25,000 was left to the city of Monroe for this purpose.

The city of Monroe was not at all pleased with the responsibility imposed. Ultimately it was decided that the sum was too small to accomplish its purpose and through legal action the city is now to turn over the money to the next of kin, a niece of Mrs. Hess, Mrs. Agnes Morgan of Monroe.

The army is chocked full of regulations—but every private knows very well the one concerning knocking before entering the first orderly room.

As in the case with most regulations, they are broken at some time. Last week at Camp Polk, that particular one was broken with enough force to tear down the wall of the orderly room of headquarters company, first battalion, 179th infantry.

But the company commander, today, is at a loss to know how to punish the offender. But the offender has already been punished somewhat, suffering a damaged bumper in the crash.

The orderly room intruder was a car belonging to Sergeant Wigdon Jernigon of headquarters company. The parked machine started a chain reaction late last Monday afternoon when it decided to make a surprise call on the first sergeant. It rolled off a grade and tore into the side of the orderly room.

The runaway car failed to catch the first sergeant in, but it did make its presence painfully aware to Private Lloyd Marlett, company clerk, who was busy telephoning while straddling a desk. Impact of the vehicle propelled Marlett clear across the orderly room into a prone position on the floor. He escaped with bruises.

Damage to the orderly room included a small hole in the wall and the downed partition.

It happened 5 years ago but interest still lingers. "Buck" Humble, owner of Gold Mine plantation, one of the finest near Mangham, was the person around whom the story revolves. He had a fine string of horses and one was called "Just in Time." It seems that the family traded chiefly in Monroe and in coming here from Mangham, they always took a train from Natchez to Monroe. One day Humble had to make this train and time was running out. He whipped up his horse and urged her on at tremendous rate. Just as he got to the station the train was pulling out, with a dash he swung, on the platform, and let the horse go home alone. He called the animal ever after "Just in Time." But besides his fine steeds and expansive plantation, Humble had another cause for recognition. He purchased the first auto in the country round about Mangham and it was in the year 1906 we are informed.

Carles M. Mitchell, one of the most untiring civic and American Legion workers, became suddenly ill the past week and is still quite critically ill in St. Francis sanitarium. He has an army of friends here who will hope for his early recovery. He has been chairman of welfare activities for the Legion for many years and is a former L. B. Faulk American Legion post commander.

Traffic deaths, nation-wide, are on the ascendency. In February the toll of 2,300 was four per cent above February 1950. Virtually all the increase was in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states.

Right here in Ouachita parish we have had five tragic deaths, last week, four of which were caused by traffic accidents.

It would seem that there should be a larger than ever attendance at the Ouachita Parish Safety council meeting held in the West Monroe city hall Monday at 8 p.m.

If one wants to help St. Matthew's School P.-T. A. secure funds to purchase high school choir robes, he should attend the spaghetti supper in the school cafeteria, Tuesday at 6 p.m. It's a worthy cause and should be supported.

have almost without exception made good. They regard public office as a public trust which they must carry out with heart and soul.

"It is my endeavor to keep my fingers figuratively on the pulse of those who have been responsible for seeing that I have been placed in a position of trust. That is why I like to travel over the state, meet the people and get at first hand what is needed and what can be improved."

Miss Grace's husband, Fred C. Dent, tall, of heavy build and a genuinely friendly nature, takes evident pride in his wife's successes, although he ever states he is not in politics and never will be. He is proud that his name is Dent, and the wife of General Grant was Julia Dent, whose family was in some whay related to Fred Dent's.

Miss Grace stated she will visit elsewhere in north Louisiana before returning to her office Monday.

Scores were forced to flee also in Alabama as the Coosa river reached one of its highest levels in more than a half century.

"We got people out of trees and off rooftops," said National Guard Capt. George H. Limbaugh.

Almost 800 families were forced from their homes in northern New Jersey before flood waters began to subside.

The flood halted a 10-day search for two children in Lincoln Park, N. J., missing from their home 50 feet from the Pequannock river. The river had been dragged almost daily since their disappearace.

The Newark weather bureau reported 2.8 inches of rain in two days, compared with an average of 3.7 inches a month for this time of the year.

A rain - damaged roadbed derailed a five - car Rutland railroad train at Cemetery Crossing at Arlington, Vt., and shook up about 40 passengers. None of the cars overturned. The train was bound from Troy, N. Y., to Montreal.

Two diesel engines pulling a 103-car Lehigh Valley Railroad freight train were damaged near Hazleton, Pa., in a collision with a boulder that rolled down a ravine onto the tracks after lengthy rains.

A derailment involving 13 cars of a Delaware and Hudson Rail road freight train near Glen Falls N. Y., was blamed on washouts and a flood - weakened culvert.

he appeared before the committee in New York.

Braden said the effectiveness and zeal of the committee he heads "will outmatch the crooks and conniving law enforcement officers."

"We are in this fight to a finish," he declared.

"Our citizens are aroused, and an aroused citizenry is irresistable."

Senator Kefauver said he received "more inspiration" out of Braden's statement than anything "in a long, long time."

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, asked for a copy of Braden's statement. He termed it one of "the most brilliant and incisive" he had heard on crime and the responsibility of citizens in meeting the problem.

Braden stressed that his watchdogs comprise leaders in industry, labor, social organizations, banking and other callings, drawn from varying creeds, colors and racial origins.

Remember the women who postponed housework and served cold beans while they learned from television in their living rooms that Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Bugsy Siegel and Kid Twist were not something out of fiction?

They are busy in the vigilante movement, too.

Braden's committee is but one of many being born or re - born.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York formed a five - man state commission to investigate crime-government relationship as a direct result of information revealed by the Kefauver committee.

A New England crime commission with divisions in five states is taking shape.

Gov. Earl Warren of California said the Kefauver hearings showed a need for a resumption of the California commission on organized crime. The commission expired last June.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson and five state senators in Illinois called for a "little Kefauver" committee to combat crime.

Tampa, Fla., like Miami, formed its own crime commission.

Among the developments were these in Louisiana:

In Louisiana five gambling leaders indicted at New Orleans on contempt charges for refusing to answer questions of senate crime committee, whose sessions here Jan. 25-26 were first to be televised. All open gambling closed in Jefferson parish known as Clancy's Kingdom after Sheriff Frank Clancy. The parish is the site of the Beverly Club, partly owned by Costello.

Slot machines previously common in drug stores, bars, restaurants, grocery stores suddenly disappeared. Bookies halted operations except for few small ones on sly. More than 1,000 persons estimated thrown out of work by gambling shutdown.

New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison said Kefauver investigation spotlighted the problem of many law enforcing cities which have "wide open gambling across municipal boundaries." He said he was informed the hearings resulted "in a shutdown of the racing wire service that formerly came in just above New Orleans."

At New Iberia, 100 miles west of New Orleans, Sheriff Robert F. Derouen has banned gambling but said he would allow prostitution to continue in a restricted district.

The Chinese who are reported preparing a massive spring drive with 300,000 men just north of the parallel, continued heavy supply and troop movements by night.

Allied pilots reported a total of 5,900 Communist vehicles were seen moving to and from the battlezone on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Of 1.800 vehicles spotted Friday night fifth air force pilots claimed about 100 destroyed.

A. P. Correspondent William C. Barnard, on the critical central front, reported the Reds fell back from salients east and west of Chunchon. He said that this, coupled with a notable increase of Communist movements behind the front, indicated the Reds were relieving units now on the line or withdrawing closer to the parallel.

Chunchon, only eight miles south of the parallel and 45 miles northeast of Seoul, is regarded as a logical jumping - off point for either an Allied drive north or a Chinese drive south. The Reds are within one mile of Chunchon at one point in well - prepared ridge positions.

The American tank patrols into north Korea were resigned to unmask Chinese intentions.

One column clanked up the historic invasion route north of Uijongbu, through a narrow defile between steep hills.

The tanks sliced across rice paddies and churened through the Imjin river to avoid road mines.

At 10:21 a. m. (8:21 p. m., EST, Friday) the voice of the patrol commander, Lt. Col. Wilson M. Hawkins of Pascagoula, Miss., crackled over tank radios:

"We've made that crossing you all have heard about. Congratulations."

Lt. Isadore E. McClain, Rosbury, Mass., commander of the all - Negro crew of the first U. S. tank across the line in four months, declared:

"I can't see any reason for not crossing. There's a job to be done and we ought to get on and do it."

SHERIFF

Grant's "lasting contribution to community and state welfare" and his "leadership ability and personal progress" were the most important factors in bringing him the "Outstanding Young Man" honor. The citation which Howard read pointed out that the young sheriff's office had been organized into a model department and operated according to the most efficient standards. His active participation and leadership in 14 community service organizations "which benefit all segments of the community" were also listed as important.

"Few men could have bucked the tide which swept the sheriff's office to a new low and have won so quickly as did Bailey Grant," the judge's citation read. "It was a job which took real leadership . . . a job which Sheriff Grant has performed as few men could have."

The closing remarks stated: "Sheriff Bailey Grant is truly an outstanding young man. He has succeeded where many older heads failed through vast work, energy and leadership. He is a man whose influence and leadership are felt far beyond the confines of his high office of sheriff, a citizen whose everyday actions make him an outstanding asset to Ouachita parish and the state of Louisiana."

The three judges for the statewide competition were: Glenn L. Shadow, president of the Louisiana Manufacturer's Association; Bryant James, prominent north Louisiana banker; and Dr. R. L. Ropp, president of Louisiana Tech.

Pre-Emergence weed control in Cotton with

PREMERGE

A NEW AID TO PROFITABLE COTTON PRODUCTION

This season, Dow offers cotton growers a new dinitro type weed killer—PREMERGE—which can be applied to the soil during the planting operation. This important development is the result of three years of field testing by Dow Technical Service men in cooperation with state experiment stations—plus a successful season of commercial trial—in the Delta sections of Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

EFFECTIVE . . . ECONOMICAL

When applied with a sprayer mounted on the planter, or as a separate treatment within 24 hours after planting, PREMERGE controls germinating weed and grass seedlings in the top soil for as long as six weeks.

PREMERGE will control: Crab grass, pigweed, Florida Pusley, crowfoot grass, and most other annual grasses.

PREMERGE will reduce the population of: Cockleburs, coffee weeds, and morning glories.

PREMERGE will not control: Nutgrass, Johnson grass, Bermuda grass, and some of the deep-rooted vines.

This new development is particularly important at this time when there may be a shortage of labor and maximum cotton production is your goal.

PREMERGE IS NEW . . . USE IT CORRECTLY FOR BEST RESULTS!

Consult your Dow dealer or your local agricultural experiment station for suggestions on the use of this material. Or write directly to Midland—Dept. AG-51-161-1—for information on the use of PREMERGE in cotton and other large-seeded, deep-planted crops. Dow Technical Service men are available to help you incorporate PREMERGE in a successful cotton production program.

U. N. Forces Have Acquired Poise, Confidence—Ridgway

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, March 31. —(AP)— Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway says the American soldier in Korea "has arrived."

The U. S. Eighth army commander said American fighting men "have now acquired poise and self-reliance, born of confidence, which gives them pride in themselves."

He added, "it isn't confined to our men alone but it is also true of all United Nations fighting forces.'

The energetic 56-year-old general made his remarks in an exclusive interview for the Pacific Stars and Stripes, army newspaper.

"I don't think there are any finer," Ridgway said. "American soldiers will rise to any height and any demand put upon them."

He praised his men proudly for "the manner in which they have licked weather and terrain."

"They have beat the other fellow while they were doing it," he said. "It is the stamp of the professional soldier."

Ridgway took command of the Eighth army last Dec. 27. He succeeded Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker who was killed in a jeep accident northeast of Seoul while the Allied forces were falling back before the Chinese.

Asked what were the greatest physical and idealistic attributes of the individual American soldier, Ridgway said, "He never does more physically than his spiritual strength permits.

"The spiritual is to the physical three to one, or a thousand to one, you might say.

"There was a time when the men would walk in the valleys instead of on the ridges. Now they know they have to dominate the heights.

"It takes great physical endurance to do so, but the men have taken it in stride—they know it is a job they have to do, and they have done it."

He said there were many hard, tough problems ahead of us and that he had no delusions as to the capabilities of the enmy. But he declared he had complete confidence in the leadership and "the spiritual fortitude, moral strength guts, morale—whatever you want to call it."

General Ridgway said leadership in the United Nations army is built on the one basis on which it can last—respect, demonstrated both ways.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an exclusive interview with Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway obtained by Cpl. Dick Kemp, of Galveston, Tex., correspondent for the army newspaper Pacific Stars and Stripes.)

"There is a mutual respect born of mutual confidence, derived from one thing: Demonstrated performance on the battlefield.

"There are 15 different nationalities under my command, and the same respect which has imbued leadership in American forces with its polished results is displayed in the attitude of all those who fight together.

"There is the same mutual confidence. American troops who have the French or the British, the Turks or the Greeks, or any of the others on their flanks know they'll be there when the chips are down.

"They feel the same way about us. This is truly a United Nations."

Asked to name the one battle or the one phase of the war in which the individual Amreican soldier has most distinguished himself, General Ridgeway replied: "It is impossible to say. You cannot compare different men in different places at different times."

There have been superb examples of tactical conduct, planning and gallantry in battle during this war, he said.

The general said that the individual soldier fights well, not only to keep his pride in himself and his organization, but to continue to deserve the pride of the people back home.

American soldiers have met every single challenge thrown at them, he said.

He praised the replacements who have come to Korea. These he said, take no time in becoming a part of their organization. He also praised the training received by these men.

Gasoline Stocks Climb To Over 141 Million Barrels

By Max B. Skelton

Houston, March 31.—(AP)—A record inventory is on hand for the start of the oil industry's 1951 gasoline season.

Gasoline stocks last Saturday totaled 141,239,000 barrels, jumping to a new all-time high for a fifth consecutive week.

April 1 is considered the starting point of each year's heavy gasoline consuming season. Good weather and summer vacations combine to place more motorists on the highways from April through September.

Increased military requirements jumped into the picture at midseason last year. Since then, refinery operations have been stepped up considerably as the oil industry prepared to have sufficient supplies on hand to meet defense demands without shortages developing within civilian consumption.

Last year's gasoline season began with an inventory of 135,586,000 barrels, a record that remained in the books until five weeks ago.

The 1949 peak of 127,443,000 barrels was reached in late March. During 1948, the year that holds the all-time crude oil production record, the April 1 gasoline storage peak was 111,949,000 barrels.

Industry spokesmen are confident 1951 motorists will have no trouble obtaining gasoline supplies.

STEEL SHORTAGE

A government official this week said oil operators are willing to drill as many as 52,000 wells a year as soon as supplies become available.

Richard G. Lawton, director of the production division of the petroleum administration for defense, said such a figure would be about one-fifth higher than the PAD's minimum annual goal of 43,400 completions.

COMPLETIONS

The 43,400 goal, Lawton said, will require that steel tubular goods production average 157,500 tons a month. He estimated 1951's first quarter average at 130,000 tons a month, compared to 150,000 a year earlier.

Heavy demands for steel for other uses, he said, makes it doubtful that more than 140,000 tons can be produced in April.

Lawton said applications sent to PAD for priority assistance on third-quarter drilling programs indicate operators are well prepared to drill at a rate substantially higher than the 43,400 goal requires.

Independent operators in Texas have conflicting opinions on whether the state's oil and gas regulatory body should be authorized to establish minimum prices on natural gas.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Texas independent producers and royalty owners association approved a minimum price resolution only after an hour of debate. The voice vote was close. Two weeks ago Tirpo's executive committee unanimously approved the resolution.

Convention opposition centered on a contention the organization was formed to fight government controls. Other independents maintained a state minimum price statute would be a "road block" to extension of jurisdiction of the federal power commission.

Several bills which would authorize the Texas railroad to establish minimum gas prices are pending before the state's legislature.

Police Book Man For 'Obscenity'

A 16-year-old local girl singled out a prisoner at the parish jail yesterday and identified him as the person that committed "indecent acts" before her Thursday afternoon.

City detectives said the prisoner was James E. Burkett, 25, of 305 McClendon street, West Monroe. He was arrested Friday at the Old Country Club by Detectives George Wood and Bill Causey.

The two detectives booked Burkett with "crime of obscenity."

Detective Causey said the alleged incident occurred on the northside of Monroe while the girl was walking home. Causey said the girl told him the man drove his car beside her and stopped "to talk" with her.

Causey reluctantly said that the girl identified the man at the parish prison yesterday.

Several similar complaints have been reported to police in the past two or three weeks, Causey said.

FOUR-WAY SPLIT ON TROOPS ISSUE

Final Form Of Troops-To-Europe Resolutions Hardly Predictable

Washington, March 31. —(AP)— A four-way split in the senate kept even the most expert forecasters in doubt today about the final form of the troops-to-Europe resolutions.

Almost the only certainty when the senate begins voting Monday on the issue is that it will approve President Truman's plan to assign four U. S. divisions to the North Atlantic defense army under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Senate Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), a critic of the troop venture, told reporters: "The administration has the votes."

Apart from that, the senate was split roughly into four groups on the issue of whether congress should have a positive voice in future troop commitments.

One group—and possibly the strongest—appeared ready to go ahead with two pending resolutions as they stand.

The resolutions would put the senate and congress on record as approving the sending of four divisions to join the two already placed under Eisenhower's command. The measure would call for "congressional approval" of future commitments, without defining such approval.

A second group—which Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) and others said is gaining strength—would telescope the two resolutions into a single measure which would have the force of law but still leave "congressional approval" either undefined or limited to consultation with senate and house committees.

The third group would like action by both houses of congress to approve or disapprove, future troop assignments.

A fourth group, led by Senator Lehman (D.-N. Y.) and others, would specify that the president need not consult congress at all about future troop decisions.

Because the views of members overlap in many instances, there is no clearly defined boundary between the four divisions. For this reason administration strategists have been up in the air about the possible results.

Some of the strongest advocates of the international venture, who have experimented with amendments of their own, were reported beginning to feel that it might be better to stand by the original resolutions and try to get them passed by the biggest possible vote.

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, told a news conference that he is more interested in getting a big vote of approval for the resolution's endorsement of the move to send four divisions abroad than he is in pinning down future congressional action.

Senator Lodge (R.-Mass.) was said to share McFarland's view that it might be better to take the resolution as it is, without pressing for amendment of the section.

Father Kills Daughter And Self On Her Wedding Day

Wichita, Kas., March 31.—(AP)—A father's disapproval of his 17-year-old daughter's romance with a college boy ended today in the deaths of the girl and her parent.

Coroner Sam Smith said that Eugene Philbrick, 55, prominent oil geologist, killed his daughter, Searah Jean, a high school student, and then ended his own life a few hours before the girl was to wed Carl Hoffman, 22, Wichita.

Their bodies were found in the Philbrick home by police who answered a call, presumably made by Philbrick, for an ambulance to be sent to the address.

The girl had been shot twice in the chest and once in the head with a .22 caliber revolver. She was found on a bed where she apparently had been sitting, knitting. Philbrick's body was found on a pailet in his bedroom, a bullet in his head and a .22 caliber target pistol lying on his stomach.

Police said they learned that although Philbrick, widower for ten years, had disapproved of his daughter's romance with Hoffman, he gave his consent last night and the couple were to have married today. Officers said Miss Philbrick telephoned Hoffman at 1 a.m. and again at 8 a.m. today, that the call for the ambulance came at 8:15 a. m. and police found the bodies about 8:30 a. m.

Philbrick yesterday took his son Charles, 20, to enter service at the Olathe, Kas., naval base. Police found a note signed by Philbrick directing that his son be placed in charge of his property under guardianship of the Rev. Sam West, Episcopalian rector.

District geologist for the Magnolia Petroleum Co., Philbrick was a past president of the Kansas Geologists' Society and district representative for the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

PROF. DEER WILL BE COORDINATOR

L. S. U. Educator To Serve Workshop At Ouachita In September

Dr. George Deer, professor of education at Louisiana State University, will serve as coordinator of the workshop for teachers of the Ouachita Parish School System preceding the opening of schools this coming September. The announcement was made by Supt. Mack Avants at a meeting of the general committee in charge of pre-workshop planning.

Avants also summarized principles of planning and carrying out a project of this type as emphasized in a pamphlet, "So You Want To Have a Workshop," which was recommended by the State Department of Education.

Miss Gertrude Gregory, chairman of the materials committee, outlined plans for supplying educational pamphlets from the United States and State Departments of education. She also requested each school to provide the committee with a list of professional books which will be available for the workshop.

Mrs. Chrissie Williams, supervisor of Ouachita schools, reported on the questionnaires which had been submitted to teachers for suggestions regarding the workshop program. Rating top on the list of topics of high school interest was evaluative criteria. Following in order of importance were English, social science and mathematics.

Reading rated highest in demand from the first through eighth grades, with arts and crafts, social studies and music claiming interest in the order given.

In the field of guidance, mental health, child behavior and pupil needs scored high in suggestions for places in the workshop program.

Several consultants for each of these fields were suggested, announced Mrs. Lewis Slater, chairman of the steering committee. Using these as a basis, the committee hopes to secure the best leadership available, Mrs. Slater said.

MILWAUKEE, MONROE TO MEET TOMORROW

MAZUR UNVEILS SPORTS IN TILT WITH BREWERS

Exhibition Game Scheduled For 8 O'Clock Monday Night At Legion Park

Manager Al Mazur unveils his Monroe Sports in fast company here tomorrow night as the local Cotton States Leaguers step out against the visiting Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association in an exhibition scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock at Legion Memorial Stadium.

Heading homeward after nearly a month in spring training at Austin, Tex., Manager Charlie "Jolly Cholly" Grimm, once a sensation of the major leagues, stops off in Monroe for the single exhibition with the Men of Mazur who opened training here Friday two days late because of bad weather.

Although Mazur has a much better looking squad of candidates for the Monroe club on hand than he had at the same distance a year ago, the Sports pilot won't be reaching any decisions on a lineup for the Milwaukee contest until after this evening's workout.

Grimm, whose Brewers can be depended on to give the Sports first class competition, forwarded his probably lineup yesterday. A starting pitcher was not named for the Brewers.

The Milwaukee batting order:

Bill Klaus, third base, with Dallas last year; Bill Reed, second base, a Brewer returnee; James Basso or Chester C. Morgan, center field; Howard Moss, another regular, left field; Bob Montag, regular, first base; Bob Jaderlund, regular, right field; Unser, Frank Baldwin, or McCardell, catcher.

Choice of pitchers will come from Emil Kush, Richard Hoover, Donald Liddle, Virgil Jester, Maynard Thiel, and George Uhle.

Morgan, the Brewer outfielder, is a son of Chet Morgan, who skippered the Clarksdale Planters in the Cotton States League last year.

The Oklahoma City Indians, who had been in spring training here since March 10, pulled out yesterday, leaving the scent entirely to the Men of Mazur who'll have a busy time ahead getting ready for the season opener with Natchez here April 17.

The Brewers give the Sports a real exhibition kickoff, and Tuesday the Sports travel to Lake Charles for an exhibition with that city's Gulf Coast League club. The House of David appears against the Sports here Thursday, and then the week's sellout attraction is expected to be the appearance of the major leaguers, the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Braves, here Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Thursday the Sports will be in Alexandria for an exhibition with the Evangeline League club, and next Sunday Alexandria returns the date.

A. And M. Cagers Tops In Defense

New York, March 31.—(AP)—The Cincinnati University Bearcats were the top offensive team and Texas A. and M. was the best defensive team among the major college basketball clubs for the season just ended.

Final official statistics, compiled by the N. C. A. A. service bureau, showed Cincinnati with an average of 77 points for 22 games. The Texas Aggies gave up an average 44 points in 29 contests.

The Texas A. and M. feat ended a five year reign of Oklahoma A. and M. as the best defensive club. However, Oklahoma A. and M. finished third, preserving a record of not having dropped lower than third place in any season since 1936. In the last 16 years, Coach Hank Iba's teams have won the defensive title 12 times, and were leading or near the top in this department until late season tournaments.

Second in defense was Arkansas, with a 45.9 average, while Oklahoma A. and M. had 46.2. North Carolina State, a leader in offense for many weeks, also fell off in its scoring pace in tournament play, and finished with a 76.3 average for 36 games. Kentucky, the N. C. A. A. champions, were third in offense with a scoring average of 74.7 in 34 games.

Lakeland, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers today sent their $75,000 bonus Catcher, Frank House, to the Toledo Mudhens of the American Association.

At Toledo he will be subject to 24 - hour recall.

The 21- year-old catcher played in only five games last year. The previous season he batted .261 for Flint in the Central League.

The Tigers sent pitchers Dick Marlowe and Ernie Funk to Toledo. Outfielder George Lerchen Infielder Al Federoff, and infielder and Pitcher Ken Fremming were optioned to Toledo.

Rookie lefthander Bob Simonomis also went to Toledo but is expected to go later to Williamsport in the Eastern League.

YANKS MAY HAVE NEW MOUND ACE

20-Year-Old Tom Morgan Looks Like As Rare A Find As Mickey Mantle

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31.—(AP)—The Champion New York Yankees have found that starting pitcher they were looking for to replace Ed (Whitey) Ford, and they might even have found one of the greatest young pitchers to flare across the horizon since Bobby Feller was a pup.

His name is Tom Morgan, a 20-year-old from El Monte, Calif., with a slouching carriage and a brand of control so amazing for one of his years that Manager Casey Stengel, and the Yankee coaches discuss it almost in whispers.

At this writing Morgan had worked 9 exhibition innings against big league clubs and had yet to give up a run. He had issued only three walks. His poise on the hill and his all - around brilliance is creating as much talk among baseball men as the hitting and running of the Yanks' other "Pheenom," Mickey Mantle.

Morgan has been married for two years to his high school sweetheart, and so is 3-A in the draft. Unless the world situation worsens rapidly it should be a long time before the army beckons him.

At Binghamton last season, his second in organized ball, the young righthander posted a 17-8 record — good, but far from sensational. What the Yanks noticed, though, was the fact that he yielded only 55 walks in 203 innings. They figured at first it might have been a misprint, but it wasn't.

Last year, and up to the time Coach Jim Turner took him in hand at the Yanks' preliminary school here this spring, Morgan considered his fast ball his best pitch. Jim is credited with having worked wonders with him.

What opposing batters have remarked particularly is that Morgan's fast ball breaks down, which is very unusual. It causes them to beat the ball into the ground. Catcher Yogi Berra, who has quickly become one of Morgan's greatest admirers, thinks that is the pitch which will vault Morgan right from Class A into the big leagues to stay.

Lauderdale Race To Black George

Hallandale, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—William H. Veeneman's Black George had too much speed for his rivals in the $7,500 Fort Lauderdale Purse and streaked to a four length victory before a crowd of 13,140 at Gulfstream Park today.

The fleet Reaping Reward gelding, which captured the Derby Trial last year, showed his best speed in outrunning Johns Joy owned by J. A. Kinard. Five lengths off the place horse was Elkcam Stable's Blue Kay, a nose in front of E. Constantin Jr.'s Prop.

Time for the feature was 1:43 over a fast track.

Black George paid $4.70, $3.20 and $2.80 across the board for a $2 bet. Johns Joy returned place ticket holders $5.50 and $3.60 and Blue Kay paid $4.80 to show.

Eleven hundred ninety-nine fans who coupled Attention Sir and Tobo in the daily double received a reward of $27.20. Attention Sir copped the opener at $12, and Tobo paid $4.80 after annexing the second.

Tag Scramble Features Mat Show At Kallio's Tuesday

SEROIS, COFFIELD TEAMED AGAINST ESTES, AL PERRY

Relay Scrap Is Best Balk Can Get In Challenge To Champion

Balk Estes, the ex-light heavyweight mat champ from Elk City, Okla., who has twice failed in attempts to dethrone the new kingpin, "Buff" Serois, Buffalo, N.Y., has failed in a challenge to get another chance at the world's wrestling crown, but Serois has agreed to appear in a tag team scramble here Tuesday night.

Promoter Gus Kallio yesterday announced Estes will team with Al Perry, Topeka, Kans., against Serois and his partner, Jimmy Coffield, Kansas City, Mo., the latter a newcomer to Kallio's Walnut street arena.

Failing in his latest effort to shear Serois of his crown last week, Estes immediately came through with another challenge, daring Serois to give him another whack.

"Look here!" demanded Serois. 'I want you to know I am the champion, and you'll have to be a little bit nicer about approaching me for matches. After all, you've showed you didn't have what it takes twice, so why should I keep on humoring you.

"There's a few things I want to make clear. I want to be fair with everybody and give all challengers an equal break, but I don't want anybody thinking he's going to get all the attention. You have had yours, now let someone else make his bid. You're at the tail of the class right now."

Estes took his rebuff quietly for a while, then warned Serois not to get too cocky as "your luck isn't going to last long around here."

Serois decided that since Estes might need a little more time to get acquainted with his style that a relay scramble might serve to give him the experience. Thus, the tag team match was arranged.

Estes lined Perry up on the scene as his partner since the Topeka tussler had appeared earlier on the same card. Serois, who is also quite new to the southern circuit, notified Kallio yesterday he is bringing in Coffield.

Two one-fall scraps will serve to start the show, and Bill Barney, West Monroe, will be the referee.

Atlanta, March 31. —(AP)— The Atlanta Crackers learned today they will get three players from the Boston Braves who should add considerable strength to the club.

Ertman, a left-handed power hitter, played with the Crackers last season. He hit 19 homers and drove in 68 runs. Linden was with Milwaukee, and Dittmer, rated as one of the finest young prospects in the Boston farm system, hit a brilliant .373 for Denver last year.

Bunkie, La., March 31.—(Special)—Does a north Louisiana high school football team want to visit picturesque south Louisiana?

There's a date open for a visitor to Bunkie where Coach Ralph B. Edwards is seeking a football opponent for his Bunkie High School eleven on September 21. Bunkie wants the game at home because five games are already billed on the road.

It will be the second season of football for Bunkie which started play for the first time last year, winning four and tying one. It's a Class B outfit, playing mostly Class A. clubs. Bunkie will accept any bids for the September 21 date here accept double-A.

GRAMMAR LOOPS SET FOR ACTION

Three Softball Leagues Launch Spring Play Here This Leek

Three Twin City grammar school softball leagues take the latch off their spring season here April 2, 3, and 4, as the Monroe Recreation department unveils its sixth, seventh and eighth grade leagues for the first time here.

Recreation Director Jack Hesketh, giving the younger set their fling at "organized" softball, set a time limit of 90 minutes or seven innings on each game, slating every team for one game each week.

Leagues include: Seventh Grade — Crosley, Millsaps, Ouachita, and Louisiana Training Institute; Eighth Grade — Millsaps, Selman, St. Paschal's and L.T.I.; Sixth Grade — L.T.I., Selman, Crosley, St. Paschal's, Mitchell, and Ouachita.

With all games slated for afternoons at about 3:30 o'clock, the Seventh Grade outfits launch their season tomorrow, pitting Crosley against Millsaps and Ouachita vs. L.T.I. The following afternoon, matches in the Sixth Grade loop place L.T.I. vs. Selman, Crosley vs. St. Paschal's and Mitchell vs. Ouachita.

The Eighth Graders begin with Millsaps vs. Selman and St. Paschal's vs. L.T.I. on Wednesday.

Director Hesketh found his biggest problem bringing the younger age-limit leagues into action to be location of the games, with several teams organized at each school.

In the past, his chief difficulty in working out a satisfactory program of continual expansion of athletic activities for boys and girls here has been the shortage of a field to be used expressedly by the recreation teams. Instead, he has had to rely upon availability of diamonds at the various schools furnishing teams.

COUSHATTA AGAIN LEGION CHAMPION

Beats Prairie, Miss., In National Cage Finals, 84 To 50

Natchitoches, La., March 31.—(AP)—Coushatta, La., won its second straight American Legion National Basketball championship tonight with an 84-50 victory over Prairie, Miss.

The teams fought on even terms for the first five minutes, but Coushatta's height and control under the backboards proved too much for the Mississippi team. It gave Coushatta an 18-13 lead after the first quarter.

Coushatta went ahead to stay with a field goal by Truett Ingram. It gave Coushatta an 11-9 lead and they were never behind again.

Claude (Jodie) Stoutamire of Coushatta took scoring honors with 23 points.

Coushatta won its first championship last year at McPherson, Kas., defeating Beaver Falls, Pa. in the finals. It was this same Beaver Falls that almost beat Coushatta in the first round here, losing 50-48 after two overtimes.

Prairie won its place in the finals by squeezing by McPherson, Kas., 52-51. Coushatta defeated Jonesboro-Hodge, La., 42-40, to make the championship game an all-south affair.

Johnny Stroud was high point man for the Mississippi team, counting 21 points in the semi-final game.

Coushatta led Jonesboro-Hodge comfortably all the way until a late rally furnished a photo finish. At the end of three quarters Coushatta held a 10-point lead—as it had most of the game—but Jonesboro-Hodge found the range and pulled to within one basket of tying the score.

Bernard Waggoner of Coushatta and Ted Gullatte of Jonesboro-Hodge tied for scoring honors with 14 points each.

Shreveport Quint Wins, 56-55; Telephone Girls Triumph Over L.B.C.

By Louie Mathis

The Whitfield-Phillips quintet of Shreveport dealt a 56 to 55 loss to the Nichols Motors of Monroe last night to win the men's division of the Southern Bell Independent Tournament, while Southern Bell captured the title in the girls' division with a 61 to 57 victory over Louisiana Business College.

The Shreveport team, made up of air force men with the exception of one player, added the Southern Bell tournament to a string of 40 victories in 53 games this year as the Barksdale Field club, including the Strategic Air Command championship played in Tampa, Fla., recently. Forward Homer Gardner is manager.

Johnny Johnson of Nichols was the top marksman with 28 points, made on 10 field goals and eight free throws, followed Forward Bob Guy of the Whitfield-Phillips team with 10 points.

The Whitfield - Phillips boys moved ahead 24 to 21 in the first quarter, trailed 34 to 33 at the half, and were still behind 49 to 48 as the third period ended.

As the fourth period began, the game slowed down with the exception of a scoring splurge by Johnson, who accounted for nine of his points on three field goals and three free shots.

The Southern Bell girls came from behind to win their title, with most of the scoring credit going to Mildred Ragsdale of the championship Baskin High School team, who scored 40 points. Earline Greer, playing for the Louisiana Business College, sank 43 points for the highest mark during the tournament.

During three games, Ragsdale totaled 86 points, while Greer made 67 in two games. Greer formerly played with the famous Arkansas Travelers, the Nashville Goldbugs, and the All-American Red Heads.

Nichols coasted into the finals as their only competitors, the Wilford Lumberjacks of Alexandria and the Shreveport Independents forfeited. Whitfield — Phillips nosed out Miller High Life Friday night and followed Saturday afternoon with a 61 to 54 win over Louisiana Business College.

Southern Bell earned a shot at the girls title by downing Ogden Friday night, 40 to 32 and the Elite Cleaners of Shreveport, Saturday afternoon, 33 to 32. The Bernice Firettes forfeited to Elite, placing Southern Bell and the Shreveport girls in the semi -finals.

Southeastern Restores Old Policy Now That 'Sanity Code' Is Dead

By Sterling Slappey

Birmingham, Ala., March 31.—(AP)—The old and controversial policy of giving a student room and board plus a completely free college education if he's a good athlete was voted back into the Southeastern Conference today.

Since the death in January of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's sanity code, it has been practically a certainty that the Southeastern would reinstate its old grant-in-aid system.

About the only difference between the "athletic scholarships" decided on today and the old grants system is the name and the omission of any cash "spending money" payments.

Athletic scholarships provide for tuition, fees, books, room, board, medical attention, laundry and dry cleaning. Grants-in-aid, which went out in 1948 when the sanity code was introduced, gave all that, plus $10 per month spending money.

Under the sanity code, an athlete could receive tuition, fees, one meal per day during training season and job opportunities.

During the five-hour meeting today, presidents of the 12 Southeastern colleges also set a "ceiling" on the number of students on athletic scholarships.

The ceiling was set at 140 a school, a high enough ceiling to satisfy even the most manpower conscious head coach.

Freshmen participation on varsity squads also was approved effective Sept. 1, traditional opening day for fall football training. The vote for permitting freshmen to play on varsities was 9 to 3.

In giving freshmen varsity status, the Southeastern joined the Big Ten, Southern and Pacific Coast conferences. The Southwest turned down the proposal several weeks ago.

Members of the conference are Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State, Tulane, Kentucky, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Mississippi and Mississippi State.

Merriott Heads Big Eight Umps

Ruston, La., March 31. — (Special)— O. M. "Ding" Merriott, one of Louisiana Tech's outstanding athletes of the 1940s, has been appointed umpire - in - chief of the Big Eight Baseball League for the 1951 season, according to an announcement by Larry Fox, league president.

Merriott was a three-letter athlete at Tech, and, since graduation, has had considerable experience as an official in basketball, football, and baseball. While at Tech, he was voted the "most outstanding athlete" in his senior year.

"Big Eight officials and managers are very fortunate in securing the services of Ding as their umpire - in - chief," Fox said. "The success of the league is governed to a great extent by the way the men in blue handle our national pastime. Umpiring in the Big Eight has improved considerably during the past few years, but there is always room for more improvement, not only in curtailing wrangling but in keeping the game from dragging."

Fox indicated Merriott and his staff of umpires will be given more authority in handling games this year.

BASEBALL LOOP MEETS TUESDAY

New Amateur League Hopes Columbia Will Come In To Round Out Circuit

Sponsors of a new amateur baseball league in this area, including teams from Rayville, Uranie Mangham, Bastrop, West Monroe, and possibly Columbia, roll up their sleeves Tuesday night for the task of completing the pre-season organization

The meeting is being held primarily to attempt to bring Columbia's club back into the league. Delegates at the last meeting two weeks ago were still hopeful that the Columbia representatives, Mr. Watson and Dr. Carroll, would succeed in thrashing out their local problems in time to attend the "slate-cleaner meeting" Tuesday.

Larry Fox of Ruston, whose guiding hand has kept the league moving thus far, may have an answer this time as to whether or not he will accept the league presidency, which he has handled in temporary capacity all along.

When the last meeting closed, officials decided to elect officials, arrange for final settlement of eligibility rules, agree on the limitation of players, and begin work on the season schedule, which is set tentatively for the middle of May.

Rayville, newest entry in the league, will be going through its fourth workout today at the new diamond opposite the swimming pool, according to Manager C. S. "Pop" Simpson. The Rayville team will have a new ball park to offer about the time that the season opens.

A week ago, Rayville held a preliminary workout with 23 men reporting for tryouts on hand, and Simpson said he is looking for more today.

The West Monroe team, which recently chose the name White Sox, will also hold another workout today under Manager Hal Willis. In Bastrop, the Barons are already organized and laying the groundwork for league play and several independent games, and the other loop clubs are applying finishing touches to their teams.

Assignment of players to definite positions must wait however, until the managers decide upon a definition of "class players," which has been one of the toughest problems encountered so far.

Another problem on the slate this time is a decision concerning the choice of an umpire-in-chief, for which Truman Mays and "Lefty" Counts of West Monroe, and Ray Spicer of Monroe have been mentioned as possibilities.

Previous acceptances had placed Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, No. 1; Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago No. 2, and Jack Burke, Jr., of Houston, No. 3, in the field.

12-Man Staff Of Umpires Chosen For Texas League

American Citizens Demand Cleanup In Washington; Laud Fulbright Probe

By Don Whitehead

Washington, March 31. —(AP)— Outraged citizens across the United States are pouring telegrams and letters into Washington demanding a clean-up in government.

A large number are piling up in the office of Senator William J. Fulbright. The youthful - looking Arkansas Democrat who ramrodded the sensational RFC probe is demanding a code of ethics be drawn up as a sort of slide-rule for measuring the integrity of public officials.

Fulbright told the senate last week the RFC inquiry disclosed a moral problem in which officials abide by the letter of the law—but violate its spirit without any feeling of wrong-doing.

"The values of life which were clear to the Pilgrims," he said, "and the founding fathers have become dim and fuzzy in outline."

The time has come, he says, for a new look at what is right and what is wrong.

And many Americans feel the same way. Every mail brings a fresh batch of letters, cheering Fulbright for his fight for honesty in government and echoing his fear that political corruption is eating away the moral strength of the government.

They go like this:

From Weatherford, Texas — "What has happened to us, Bill? Are we as a people so hungry for money or personal power that we have forgotten every principle of decency our Dads taught us? I don't believe it. Surely there are enough good men to start a clean-up."

From New York City — "It is high time that we gave serious thought to our standards of right and decency which are far too low. Not only in politics but in every corner of American life."

From West Myack, N. Y. — "Shrewdness and cleverness seem to have been readily accepted as an adequate and desirable substitute for the once respected virtues of intellectual and moral integrity."

From Abilene, Texas—"Indignation is widespread and growing rapidly and unless congress orders a house cleaning the voters will at the first opportunity."

Similar messages come from Arkansas, Michigan, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, California and other states across the nation.

Looking at these letters, there is no doubt Fulbright touched on a subject that is worrying many people when he asked for a commission "to consider the problem of ethical standards of conduct in public affairs."

And like the man from Weatherford, Texas, Fulbright is certain there are "enough good men left" to start a cleanup by pointing the way to a more rigid standard of conduct for public officials.

Fulbright chose carefully the names of ten men who he would like to see on the commission. He called them "private citizens of outstanding achievement and character, whose integrity is beyond question."

Who are these men that Fulbright would trust with the task of laying down rules of conduct for public officials? What quality do they have in common that caused the senator to choose them?

Here are the ten on Fullbright's honor roll of honest men:

1. Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, 75. He gave his big - money law practice to accept an appointment to the court by President Hoover. For years he held the balance of power on the court — sometimes voting against the new deal bloc and then with them. Earlier, he had gained a national reputation as one of the prosecutors in the old teapot dome oil scandal. In recent years he has been a man whose integrity is never questioned.

2. Former Chancellor Robert Hutchins, 52, of the University of Chicago. An intellectual maverick, Hutchins had the academic world in a tumult when he became president of the university at age 30. He shattered the old educational pattern with a system which permitted students to advance as rapidly as they were able to pass examinations. He banned big - time football at Chicago — A move that required a great deal of courage —and he left no doubt he is a man of strong convictions. He has resigned from the university to accept a post with the Ford Foundation.

3. Paul Hoffman, 59, director of the Ford Foundation. Hoffman worked his way up from an automobile salesman to head the Studebaker Corporation. Then he gave up his $96,000-a-year job to accept a $20,000-a-year job as head of the giant European recovery program. A friendly man with an air of complete frankness. Hoffman won the conference of congress through his integrity and the high caliber of the men he called around him.

4. Walter Reuther, 43, president of the giant C. I. O. United Automobile Workers of America. Reuther quit school at age 15 to go to work. He fought his way up through the ranks of labor to lead the UA. Perhaps his hardest fight was his successful move to oust Communist elements from leadership in his union. Once an assassin tried to kill Reuther with a shotgun blast through the window of his home. His arm was mangled but he recovered and returned to continue his work. There were rumors — never confirmed — that Reuther was shot because he tried to stamp out the numbers racket in his union.

5. Former Senator Robert L. Lafollette, Jr., 56, of Wisconsin. He followed his fiery father into the senate and served there for three terms. There is a story that Republican leaders gave him relatively unimportant committee posts because he refused to moderate the political views he had shared with his father. He was as determined as his dad to fight for what he believed right.

6. Chief Judge Learned Hand, 79, of the second circuit court of appeals, a robust, stocky man with thick eyebrows and sharp voice, Judge Hand has a formidable court appearance. But his friends know him as a shy man. He first attracted national attention when he upheld the Volsted act at the beginning of prohibition.

7. Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, 58, professor at Union Theological Seminary. He long has been a controversial figure in the religious world. Dr. Niebuhr in 1941 was one of a group of clergymen who felt that war was less an evil than the tyranny of a dictator. He often is considered radical in his religious views.

8. Dr. Theodore Greene, 54, professor of philosophy at Yale. He specializes in the philosophy of religion and is widely known in the educational world. Fulbright believes he could give to the commission the professional scholar's views on the historic effect of moral corruption on governments.

9. Everett Ross Clinchy, 55, president of the conference of Christians and Jews. For many years he has led a crusade against religious intolerance—fighting for a better understanding between religious groups.

10. The Rev. Eilfrid Parsons, 64, professor at Catholic University. He once served as editor-in-chief of "America—a Catholic review of the week." Like Greene, Parsons is a professional scholar with a wide reputation in his field of work.

Asked why he chose these ten as the type of men he would like to see on the commission, Fulbright said:

"I suppose the best word would be—honesty. They're honest men. They have a conscience and they follow it. They are not men who seek merely to please. They are willing to fight for their convictions. They have integrity."

But can ten men formulate a code of ethics which would have any effect in the hard and cynical world of politics?

Fulbright concedes he may be called naive even to think that a code of ethics would have any influence. But he is convinced there must be some guidepost to correct conduct on that shadowy field of activity at the edge of the law.

"We have laws to cover outright bribery, theft, and other things that we all know to be dishonest," Fulbright said. "But is it bribery when a government official accepts free room and board at a plush hotel from someone who wants something from him? I don't know—but I do know it's wrong."

Mrs. Kefauver Glad Senator Quits Probe

Washington, March 31. —(AP)— There's at least one person outside of thugdom who is glad Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) is giving up the job of directing the senatorial investigation of crime.

It is his pretty, red-haired and vivacious wife, Nancy.

"I'm happy about it," she says. "We've missed him at home."

Kefauver agreed to the senate giving his committee another month in which to write its report. But if the probe goes on, it will be without him. He wants to spend time on other legislation, particularly foreign affairs.

"I don't like being away from my family so much," says the big, rangy Tennessean whose name recently has become nationally known.

"Too, I want to see more of my friends back home."

For almost a year Kefauver was on the trail of the nation's big-time gamblers, going to Missouri, Florida, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, California and Louisiana for hearings.

It cost him a lot of home-cooked meals and romps with his four children.

The blast of publicity that greeted the committee in New York struck the Kefauvers as "funny."

It was a little breath-taking, too, and created some problems at home.

"For several days our life revolved around the tv set," says Mrs. Kefauver. "And we were forever wiping smudges from the screen left by the children "touching' Daddy."

"It was quite exciting for awhile. Then David (age 4) said he would rather see Milton Berle. And Diane (age 3) told me she didn't think Daddy was as funny as Howdy Doody."

Baby Gail Ester, born last October, took it all in stride.

Nine - year - old Eleanor, however was interested but sorely disappointed when her mother took her to a hearing at the senate office building.

"She kept wanting me to point out the 'good' men and the 'bad' men." The witnesses that day were FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

FARM MACHINERY IS GIVEN PRIORITY

Manufacturers Authorized To Use Needed Material During June

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—The government today authorized approximately 1,600 manufacturers to use defense priority ratings to obtain materials needed in making farm equipment during June.

Announcing this decision, the national production authority said the manufacturers may apply defense priorities to orders for as much materials and components as they required during an average month in the first half of last year.

This assistance to producers of farm equipment closely follows the demotion of two agriculture department officials criticized recently by a house committee and farm groups for alleged failure to present farmers' needs forcefully to the defense production administration.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan yesterday reassigned Ralph S. Trigg, who had been head of the production and marketing administration and the Commodity Credit Corporation, and Frank K. Wooley, deputy administrator of PMA. Brannan named both officials to be his special assistants for CCC affairs with lesser authority hereafter.

NPA made no reference to Brannan's action in its announcement of the farm machinery program.

Association Of Education Will Hold Convention

Baton Rouge, La., March 31.—(AP) —The Louisiana Education Association's 1951 convention will be held during November in Shreveport, Executive Secretary Howard W. Wright announced today.

Wright said preliminary plans for the annual meeting were made today by the LEA executive council. Convention dates will be announced later, he said.

Ceremony Unites Mary Virginia Hanks And Bernard H. Rosenzweig

Nuptial Vows Pledged In Home Of Major And Mrs. Lewis Vick Of This City

An early spring wedding of simplicity and beauty was that which united Miss Mary Virginia Hanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Dayton Hanks, of Ruston, and Bernard Hardin Rosenzweig, son of Mrs. Naomi Rosenzweig and the late Arnold Rosenzweig, of Lake Providence, at 9:00 a.m., Sunday, March 11, in Monroe.

The marriage was performed at the home of Major and Mrs. Lewis Vick, life-long friends of the bride's family, with the Rev. C. B. White, Ruston, hearing the exchange of vows in the impressive double-ring ceremony.

For the occasion the Vick home was dcorated with a profusion of spring flowers. Arrangements of iris and hyacinths were at vantage points throughout the reception rooms. A low silver bowl filled with white stock and daisies was in the center of the mantel which served as a background for the bridal party. The mantel was covered with sprays of southern smilax, which further enhanced the beauty of the setting. Wrought-iron floor candelbra holding tall white tapers stood on either side. Garlands of smilax caught with white satin bows framed the stairway from which the bride entered.

Preceding and during the ceremony a program of nuptial music was played by Mrs Mary Ann Walker, pianist, cousin of the bride, Gerald Cobb and Paul Holstead, also cousins of the bride, served as candlelighters.

The bride descended the stairway to meet her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white chantilly lace with fitted bodice and full skirt that swept into a chapel length train. The high net yoke was edged with tiny seed pearls forming a sweetheart neckline. The long sleeves ended in petal points on her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a small satin cloche embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis, designed with streamers of white satin ribbon.

Her attendant was her only sister, Mrs. Herbert Colvin, of Ruston. he was wearing a gown of Alice Blue tulle fashioned with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore matching flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of pink gladioli, with cascade streamers of satin.

Mr. Paul Rosenzweig served his brother as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hanks chose a gown of navy blue crepe, with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Rosenzweig wore a green gabardine suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home. The bride's table was overlaid with an imported handmade Chinese lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake beautifully embossed and topped with miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Vick poured coffee and Mrs. Harry Waugh and Mrs. J. Beaufort Tubb, aunts of the bride, served cake.

Miss Mary Catherine Lann, of Ruston, presided at the bride's book.

Later in the morning the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to New Orleans. For travel Mrs. Rosenzweig wore a navy blue gabardine suit, closed with self-covered buttons in the front. Her corsage was of orchids.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Waugh, Mr. and Mrs. William Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holstead, Mr. and Mrs. Wharton Lann, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stewart and daughter, all of Ruston, Mr. and Mrs. J. Beaufort Tubb and children, John and Fay, of Rayne, Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Rosenzweig, of Tallulah, Miss Sarah O'Neil, of Choudrant, Mr. and Mrs. M. The marriage was solemnized in the Memorial Presbyterian Church, West Monroe, March 23 at seven o'clock in the evening, with the Dr. Hugh Bradshaw, pastor, officiating.

The bridal couple exchanged the vows of the impressive double-ring ceremony before the alter which was beautifully decorated with branched candelabra holding slender white tapers and floor baskets overflowing with white gladioli and tulips against a background of southern smilax which made a picturesque setting for the candelight service. Reserved pews were marked with bows of white satin ribbon.

God's Gift is Flowers

The traditional way to say "with sympathy" is to say it with flowers. Through the centuries men have turned to this blessed way of expressing their tenderest thoughts to friends and dear ones.

Those left behind will never forget the beautiful memory picture your thoughtfulness helps to create. And in years to come, you gain rich satisfaction in having contributed to the silent sermon on everlasting life that flowers add to this sacred occasion.

We send Sympathy Flowers-by-Wire anywhere.

Girl Scout News

It looks as if we are having our April showers (or deluges, maybe) in March. They have conspired to keep a number of Girl Scouts in doors when they'd like to be outdoors, but the rainy meeting days have given troops plenty of time to plan for the sunny days that are sure to come.

Troop 13 has a cherished plan for a train trip that they love to talk about. Come June and the close of school these third-grade Brownies (pardon, they'll be promoted to fourth grade by then), who can't remember riding on a train, are going to ride the train as far as Calhoun. No wonder the girls are excited about the prospect. Mrs. J. H. Netherland and Mrs. Doyle Mosley are leaders who are helping the girls plan and are going to have as much fun as the Brownies.

The date has finally been set for the trip that Troop 26 is going to take to Baton Rouge as part of its work on the Junior Citizen Badge. May 4 is the date, not so very far off, when there are so many details to arrange. The girls plan to go by special bus, visit the capitol and other points of interest. Behind this very active troop of sixth grade girls is an interested troop committee which, the leaders, Mrs. Tom Davenport and Mrs. Henry Hinkle, say, is due much of the credit for the troop. Members of the committee are: Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Harold Breard, Mrs. Harold O. Leach, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Baugh.

Brownie Scouts of Troop 39 are eagerly waiting to see themsIves in the movies Mr. J. B. Corder took of the troop at its Easter egg hunt at Forsythe Park. Their leaders, Mrs. Corder and Mrs. C. H. McAmis, made colorful Easter baskets for the girls.

English daisies in tiny pots covered with pretty paper and tied with colored ribbon were easter gifts presented by the girls of Brownie Troop to their mothers. One of their leaders, Mrs. James Wyatt, who has been in the hospital, was remembered with one of the plants upon her return home. Mrs. Lea Thompson and Mrs. Van Pratt are the leaders who helped the girls with the project.

What could be more fun than a Brownie skating party. Thursday afternoon four Brownie troops of Sherrouse School had a big time together, the more experienced skaters feeling very important helping some of the younger ones to learn. Troops 40, 44, 12 and 7 were in on this inter-troop project and all had a wonderful time, they report.

Try this trick for mending your sheer curtains. Before beginning, place a piece of wax or tissue paper over the hole, then carefully place in position on your sewing machine. Stitch up and down, and then back and forth until the hole is covered. The paper will dissolve away when the curtain is laundered, leaving you a neat, inconspicous darn.

Beautiful Nuptial Parties Compliment Recent Bride

'Kendallwood' Is Scene Of Rehearsal Supper Honoring Miss Martha McDonald And Stewart Scott

An Easter motif was the theme used at the beautiful home of Mrs. W. S. Kendall, "Kendallwood," when she entertained at the rehearsal supper party Thursday, March 22, for Miss Martha McDonald and Stewart Scott, whose marriage was solemnized Friday, March 23.

Co-hosts and hostesses on this occasion were: Will Sam Kendall, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Feazel, Miss Lallage Feazel, and Mrs. Jake Anderson.

For this occasion the bride was wearing a chartreuse linen dress with black accessories. Her unique corsage, presented to her by the hosts, was fashioned of colored Easter eggs, with the picture of the groom placed in the large center egg.

Centering the table was a miniature bride and groom and a beautiful arrangement of spring flowers. Delicious platters of ham and turkey, salad molds, and peas in patty shells, were served buffet style. The individual tables were centered with colored Easter vases filled with spring flowers. Easter egg place cards marked the places for the guests.

Friends and members of the bridal party with Miss McDonald and Mr. Scott and the hosts and hostesses included: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Massey, McComb, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Scott, Sr., Mrs. Raymond Henry, Camden, Arkansas; Miss Barbara Mobley, Alexandria, La.; Miss Doris Penny, Alexandria; Miss Felecia Mallet, Houston, Texas; Miss Barbara Buce, Miss Tommy Eaves, Miss Helen Prothro, Mr. Courtney Oliver, Jr., Mr. Sonny Richards, Mr. Hugh L. Bridal Brunch

Mrs. Pat Massey was hostess at a bridal brunch at the Lotus Club honoring the recent bride on Friday, March 23.

For this occasion the Miss McDonald was wearing a lovely pink linen dress with pink straw hat and pink linen shoes and bag.

Dessert Bridge

Honoring Miss McDonald before her recent marriage was the dessert bridge party given in the home of Mrs. Charles Pratt with Mrs. S. E. Holloway, co-hostess.

The St. Patrick's motif of green and white was used in the decoration theme. On the mantel was a lovely arrangement of dogwood, while a large green shamrock was placed on the radio console, with "Luck O' The Irish Martha" inscribed in silver. On one side of the shamrock was a miniature doll dressed in an Irish costume with green shamrocks on her dress. An arrangement of dogwood in a large vase was placed in back of the shamrock.

Upon arrival of the guests, they were served a dessert course of custard with green merringue, topped with a red cherry and coffee. On the serving tray was an arrangement of flowering peach.

Carrying out the St. Patrick's motif, shamrock tallies were used during the bridge game. The bridge prizes, which were sent from Japan by Major Pratt, were won by Mrs. H. A. McDonald, and Mrs. Janet Golson, and were linen bridge sets. The floating prize, won by Mrs. Reggie Boulware, was a coaster set made of teakwood.

Miss McDonald, wearing a navy crepe model with chartreuse cummerbund was presented a corsage of chartreuse carnations, tied with chartreuse velvet ribbon. Her hat was white with chartreuse veil and ribbon. She was also presented at this time with two linen guest towels, sent from Japan, by the hostesses.

Assisting the hostess, who later served cold drinks and ice box cookies, was Miss Joyce Duchesne.

LIBRARY STATE PRESIDENT

Miss Frances Flanders, Librarian of the Ouachita Parish Public Library, and president of the Louisiana Library Association, will preside at the annual convention to be held in Alexandria.

MRS. EUGENE SCOTT HOSTESS AT BONHOMIE CLUB MEETING

Members of the Bonhomie Club met Thursday, March 22, in the home of Mrs. Eugene Scott, with Mrs. George Forman, co-hostess.

Mrs. R. P. Pilaut, who presided over the meeting, called the group to order and led the members in prayer and reading of the club collect. Mrs. Hal Layman, recording secretary, read the minutes of the preceding meeting and gave the roll call. Plans for attending the district meeting in Sicily Island, March 31 were discussed.

After the business session, Mrs. DeWitt Henry gave a vivid review of Harnett Kane's book, "The Bayous of Louisiana." She said in part: "The bayou country is a land apart, shut away from the rest of the country behind its liquid barriers. Not the Old South as we know it, it is another South in its own right, in which much that we think is typically southern is not found. And this distinctive country has molded the life of the South Louisianian. His manners and customs his every action, are affected by the land in which he lives.

Mr. Kane has spent much time in this region, sharing the work and the pleasures of the bayous, visiting the people and learning to know and to enjoy their good-natured sociability. Here he tells the whole story of their way of life—life with the flavor of another Venice. Main street on the water.

"The Bayous of Louisiana" could have been written only by a Louisianian with a deep understanding of Southern American life and scenes. It is a lively and delightful introduction to America of a part of itself, with which many Americans are unfamiliar." Before closing her review, Mrs. Henry gave numerous interesting accounts of this particular Southern way of life.

The hostesses served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Melvin Harrison, Mrs. L. H. Leverett, Mrs. Hal Layman, Mrs. R. P. Pilaut, Mrs. O. C. Lanier, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. A. J. McCready, Mrs. J. R. Taylor, Mrs. W. O. Womack, Jr., Mrs. Warren Brerard, Mrs. Paul Bauer, Mrs. E. L. Haskins, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. Robert Irby, and Mrs. H. M. Rhodes.

Miss June Sherrouse Bride Of James Edward Holmes

Spring Nuptials Solemnized In Candlelight Ceremony At First Methodist Church

The First Methodist Church was the scene Saturday evening, March 17, at seven-thirty o'clock, of one of the most beautiful and impressive weddings of the season, when Miss Clarrissa June Sherrouse and James Edward Holmes pledged their nuptial vows. The Rev. A. M. Serex performed the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benjamin Sherrouse of this city and the groom is the son of Mrs. James E. Holmes and the late Mr. Holmes, also of this city.

The altar was elaborately decorated with white Arizona stock, white gladioli, commander fern and sprengeri interspersed with glowing white cathedral tapers in branched candelabra. Clusters of white gladioli stock tied in lengths of white satin ribbon marked each pew.

Mr. Leon Hammonds, organist, rendered several selections of nuptial music as the hundreds of guests were being seated by the ushers who were: Mr. John Myers, Mr. McVea Oliver, Mr. Foster Wallace, Mr. Ben Marshall and Mr. George Gear. Preceding the ceremony, Mr. Irving Zeidman sang Charles Wakefield Cadman's "At Dawning" and Greig's "I Love Thee."

The exquisite bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She presented a picture of lovliness in her wedding gown of imported candlelight Duchess satin with Point de Lyons lace appliqued on sheer marquisette yolk, frosted with delicate pearls, the tiny lace Manderin collar completing the high neckline. The bodice was fashioned in a tight fitting basque with long sleeves forming lace etched calla lily points at the wrists. A full skirt terminated in an aisle-wide cathedral train. Her veil of imported illusion fell gracefully from a coronet of Point de Lyons lace. She carried a cascading bouquet of mystery gardenias, valley lillies and imported Holland white lilac.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by her sister and matron of honor, Mrs. George Gear, of Jackson, Mississippi, and bridesmaids, Miss Mary Frances McNair, of Gilbert, Mrs. William Campbell, of Montrey, California, Mrs. Bonnie Williams, Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr., of this city, and Mrs. Stewart Slack, Jr., of Shreveport. They wore identical gowns of pink nylon net with shirred bodices and off-shoulder necklines. The full pink satin sash dipped slightly at side back over full gathered skirts. They wore caplets of nylon net and satin and short matching gloves. They carried bouquets of Briarcliff roses and white lilac embedded in pink maline.

Little Marsha Gear, niece of the bride, wore a miniature replica of the bridesmaids' dresses. She carried a pink maline basket of rose petals.

Young Charles Gear, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Mr. Robert H. Oliver was the groom's best man.

Mrs. Sherrouse chose for her daughter's wedding, a beige chantilly lace floor length gown and the groom's mother, Mrs. Holmes wore a white crepe studded in rhinestones, each wearing an orchid corsage.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Greeting the guests at the entrance were Mrs. Howard Green and Mrs. Claude Harrison. Assisting in extending courtesies in the reception rooms were Mrs. J. B. Thornhill, Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Mrs. Ralph King, Mrs. Thomas Leigh Mrs. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mrs. A. J. McGinn, Mrs. Harry Oliver, Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn, Mrs. D. Y. Smith, Mrs. William Harper, Mrs. Robert Oliver, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Mrs. Frank Gordon, Mrs. John Godfrey, Mrs. Porter Burgess, Mrs. E. K. Theus, Mrs. Clifton Flinn, Mrs. Bun Beasley, Mrs. Landry DeCote, Mrs. V. H. Rivers and Mrs. James A. Noe.

White gladioli and white stock in large artistic arrangements graced all vantage points in the club.

The bride's table was overlaid with handsome white satin encircled with garlands of Mimosa fern caught up with graceful clusters of confectionary wedding bells tied with showers of white satin ribbon and valley lillies. Surmounting the tiered wedding cake was a miniature replica of the blonde bride complete with illusion and lace veil and holding a tiny bridal bouquet. The long flowing veil extended the length of the table and embossed with confectionary lillies of the valley. Double hearts, bride's roses and valley lillies decorated the tiers. Burning cathedral tapers were arranged in aisle manner, the soft light of which enhanced the effectiveness of the setting.

The punch table was covered with a white satin cloth and the twin punch bowls at either end of the table were beautiful with arrangements of fern, gardenias and tulle butterflies, representing bouquets of flowers. The table was centered with a large silver candelabrum holding white tapers. At the base of the candelabra were confectionary white swans holding fluffs of white net and Mimosa fern. Punch, nuts, calla lily mints and petit fours were served at this table by Miss June Lewis, Miss Rosemary McGinn, Miss Joy Harper and Miss Dianne Ducote.

An orchestra furnished soft romantic music throughout the evening.

When Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left for their wedding trip to Mexico City, she was wearing a cafe au lait tailleur with fawn milan hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was a single specimen orchid.

Upon their return the couple will make their home on Loop road, this city.

The bride is a graduate of Gulf Park College and of Sophia Newcomb where she was a member of the Chi Omega sorority.

INFORMAL BUFFET SUPPER AT COUNTRY CLUB HONORS DOCTORS

Arrangements of red gladioli decorated the Bayou Deiard Country Club Thursday night when the Women's Auxiliary to the Ouachita Parish Medical Society entertained the doctors of the Ouachita Parish.

The party was an informal buffet supper in celebration of Doctors' Day which was Friday, March 30th.

Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr., was chairman of the Doctors' Day committee. She was assisted by Mrs. C. U. Johnson, Mrs. D. L. Anderson, Mrs. J. E. Walsworth, Mrs. D. I. Hirsch, Mrs. C. M. Lobrano and Mrs. J. W. Schaulau.

Each doctor was presented with a red carnation boutonniere, which is the oficial flower for Doctors' Day . And arrangement of red carnations was also placed on the piano.

The highlight of the evening was the rendition of both classical compositions and novelty numbers.

Dr. Phelps, Dr. Beasley and Dr. Mouton, of the E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital entertained with a musical program. Dr. Phelps at the piano played two classical numbers. Dr. Mouton, on the guitar, accompanied Dr. Beasley who sang an original composition about the staff at the Conway Memorial Hospital. Other novelty numbers were rendered by the trio.

This annual affair is the one social event of the year when the doctors are honored by members of the medical auxiliary.

Over forty -five doctors and their wives were present at this event.

Don't blame the material out of which your coffee maker is made if you feel your coffee has "off" flavors. Usually these flavors appear because the coffee maker hasn't been cleansed properly. Every time you wash your coffee maker you ought to use hot water and soap or some other dishwashing detergent in it and then rinse with clear water. Be extra careful about the rinsing.

BOOKS and MUSIC

This week we're capsuling some of the books, records and sheet music which are being avidly read, heard and played throughout the Twin Cities. A few have gained mention in this column on previous Sundays; all are being talked about:

Books

The Disenchanted (By Budd Schulberg. $3.50) started the present back-to-Scott-Fitzgerald boon. With a hero resembling Fitzgerald in countless ways, the Disenchanted covers the booze-and-flapper Twenties in a decidedly well-written fashion.

The Far Side Of Paradise (By Arthur Mizener. $4.00). has continued the Fitzgerald revival with a comprehensive biography of the Jazz Age master himself. If at times it fails to grasp every facet of its subject, it's nevertheless the best concrete re-creation we've had yet.

The Hinge Of Fate (By Winston Churchill. $6.00) is the fourth volume in a fine, heroic tradition, marking Churchill as uncompromising an analyst as he is a statesman. Makes wise, thoughtful reading.

A Little Night Music (By Mary Jane Ward. $3.00) is hardly as devastating a portrait as her earlier work, "The Snake Pit." It is a sensitive approach to a confused problem, and at least not soap-opera material.

From Here To Eternity (By James Jones. $4.50) is that national runaway which may rank as one of the fine creative works of our generation. Brutal, tough, completely realistic, it will shock, frighten and anger. And, for those who seek truth, it's a "must" that mustn't be missed.

My Six Convicts (By Donald Powell Wilson. $3.00) is the best work we've seen on prison psychology. Like most good novels, its characters remain remembered, and like most good non-fiction, its important theme is never far from sight. Entertaining, interesting, should enjoy a good success.

Record Albums

Guys And Dolls (33, 45, 78) is that sure-fire show success that has Frank Loesser's witty score, Damon Runyon's delightful people, Sam Levene, Vivian Blaine and Robert Alda with the original Broadway cast. Well-recorded by Decca, there's hardly a lame tune in the entire score.

Andre Kostelanetz Plays Irving Berlin's Music (33, 45, 78) and plays it quite nicely, too. At least he has the remarkable ability to make a lot of tunes seem better than they are. With Berlin, he doesn't need to worry. From "Blue Skies" to "Cheek to Cheek," it's melodious.

Ken Griffin Plays Irving Berlin's Music (33, 45, 78) and again Berlin gets a sound artist. Griffin is credited with bringing the organ back into popular vogue. His renditions are as simple as many of the Berlin tunes ("Remember," "Always," "When I Lost You," etc.) without a frill. For organ fans, strongly recommended.

George Shearing's Quintet (33, 45, 78) is one of MGM's better offerings this season. Highly stylized, the Quintet's selections range from "Summertime" to the raucous "Changing With the Times." Easy listening.

Out Of This World (33, 45, 78) is Cole Porter's followup of "Kiss Me Kate." With Charlotte Greenwood and original cast, it will disappoint many listeners, delight as many others. Best numbers include the ballad, "Use Your Imagination," and Miss Greenwood's witty "I Sleep Easier Now."

Three Little Words (33, 45, 78) is another MGM soundtrack recording, with Fred Astaire, Red Skelton and original movie cast. The Kalmer-Ruby music and lyrics are as familiar as apple pie, range from ballads like "Nevertheless" to novelties like "So Long, Ooo-Long."

Sheet Music

Duke Ellington's Song Folio ($.60) contains good arrangements of the Duke's earlier international successes, including "Sophisticated Lady," "Mood Indigo," "Solitude," and "Caravan."

Frank Sinatra's Songs Of Romance ($.60) may help boost his popularity drop. Includes songs in good sheet-music arrangements, among them "It Had To Be You," "You Go To My Head" and "Tell Me."

Roy Roger's Album Of Cowboy Songs ($.75) merely lends Rogers' signature to already perennial western favorites. Selections range from "Oh, Bury Me Not On The Lone Prairie" to "Chili and Beans," with some 25 folk western tunes that express American culture.

Gilbert and Sullivan ($1.50) contains the familiar classics from "Mikado," "H. M. S. Pinafore" "The Pirates of Penzance" and others, which Gilbert and Sullivan must have enjoyed composing as much as modern adherents still enjoy playing. Fine arrangements, lyrics completely intact.

Songs Everybody Sings ($2.00) is a portfolio of Carrie Jacobs-Bond's more famous songs, including "A Perfect Day," "I Love You Truly," and "Just A Wearyin' For You." Some of them as sentimental as a plaintive wail, they're too classic now for comment. Besides, they'll continue to grace pianos, long after others are forgotten.

Hostesses Entertain For Recent Bride And Groom

Miss June Sherrouse And James Edward Holmes Feted At Rehearsal Supper

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Gear, of Jackson, Mississippi, were hosts to Miss June Sherrouse, James Edward Holmes, their bridal party, members of the family of the bridal couple, out of town guests and close friends, at the Lotus Club following rehearsal.

The host and hostess greeted their guests in the foyer of the club, Mrs. Gear wearing a cafe au lait lace cocktail dinner dress.

White renunculus, daisies and white stock in bridal motif arrangments decorated the entertaining rooms.

The bride-elect was lovely in hyacinth blue lace over pink taffeta ballerina length. She wore pisk perfection camelias in her hair. Mrs. Sherrouse's dress was of aqua chiffon and lace, while Mrs. Holmes was attired in tea-rose lace.

Music was rendered throughout the evening by Mrs. Tom Gilbert, Mr. Leon Hammonds, Mr. Irving Ziedman and Teddy Calhoun.

A delectable buffet supper was served to the eighty guests.

Wedding Breakfast

Climaxing the many prenuptial events honoring Miss June Sherrouse, and James Edward Holmes before their marriage on March 17, was the delightful wedding breakfast Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, given by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wallace.

The U-shaped breakfast table overlaid in satin damask was decorated with three silver bowls filled with white stock. Dogwood trailed down the center of the table. Artistic place cards carrying out the bridal motif completed the table decorations.

The lovely honoree was attired in a blush pink faille suit, pink hat trimmed in dainty orchid flowers and black accessories. Her corsage, a gift of the hostesses, was of split white carnations and stephanotis.

A three - course breakfast was served to the sixty guests including the bridal party, out of town wedding guests. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherrouse and Mrs. J. A. Holmes.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library was augmented by the addition of 350 new books during the month of March. Of this number 289 were purchased with library funds and 61 were gifts to the library. When we divide the 350 books into classes we find that there were 132 books of adult fiction, 94 books of adult non-fiction, 2 reference books, 13 books of juvenile fiction and 109 books of juvenile non-fiction.

Many of these new books have been mentioned before in this column. But there are others. "Our Spoons Came From Woolworths" by Barbara Comyns is a charming story of the early struggles of a young married couple. "Old Herbaceous" by Reginald Arkell is a delightful story about a "Mr. Chips" of the garden. It will appeal to every one who loves flowers, and there are many in Ouachita parish.

Readers of mystery stories will become four new titles by established writers in the field. There is "A Gentle Murderer" by Dorothy Salisbury Davis for her fans. "A Frightened Dove" by Peter Hardin is very good. Those who like the tough school in mysteries will want to read "Framed In Blood" by Brett Halliday. Agatha Christie has written a different story of mystery in her latest story, "They Came to Bagdad." This story is all mixed up with international intrigue and espionage. It is interesting and exciting to read. "Farmer In The Sky" by Robert A. Heinlein is one of the very popular science-fiction stories.

There are two novels by authors whose names are well established, "Proud New Flags" by F. Van Wyck Mason and "World So Wide" by Sinclair Lewis. "Proud New Flags" is another historical novel which does a great deal to illuminate the history of our country. This story is concerned with the efforts of the people of the South to build a navy during the Civil War. The efforts were blocked by bungling self-seekers, incompetent politicians and the struggle for separate commands. This is the first story in a projected tetralogy. Don't miss it. "World So Wide" is the last novel written by Sinclair Lewis. It can easily be seen that he was a sick man when he wrote it. It lacks the skill of his earlier books and his characters seem flat and lifeless. However, there is an interesting plot and the story will be in great demand.

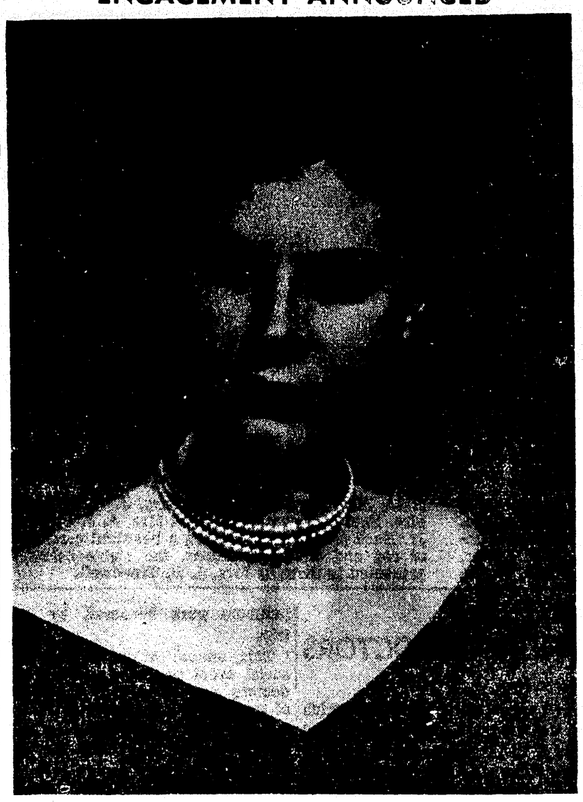
Ardyth Kennelly, the author of the very successful "Peacable Kingdom of last year has written a fascinating story based on the life of John Wilkes Booth. She calls her new book "The Spur." The perennial mystery of why Booth murdered Lincoln is one of the most provocative and dramatic in our historical annals. The most enthralling part of the book is concerned with the heartbreaking escape. This is a story that is well worth reading.

In the non-fiction books there are many useful titles that will appeal to different readers. "Your Child and Other People at Home, at School, at Play" by Rhoda Bacmeister is a book that should be of special interest to parents and teachers. "The Joy of Flower Arranging" by Helen Van Pelt Wilson is a beautiful book for those interested in the art of flower arrangement.

Cookbooks are always popular. A new and fascinating title is "The Betty Crocker Picture Cook Book." This book has a great many recipes and a most tempting array of colored pictures. It positively makes one hungry to look at it. "Clothing for Children" by Henrietta Thompson is a book that should be read by every mother of young children. It is concerned with the selection, and purchase of children's clothes as well as the making of clothes. "The Practical Book of Food Shopping" by Helen Stone is a most valuable book in these days of the high cost of food.

Humorous books are in great demand at the branches of the library. "Thanks to Noah" by George Papashilvy is a hilarous story of farm animals. "Tales of a Foolish Farmer" by George Sessions Perry is an interesting account of farm life in Texas. "The Decline and Fall of Practically Everybody" is extremely funny.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED



Miss Blanche Bacon Morrow whose engagement to Samuel Jackson Sibley, Jr., son of Mrs. Samuel Jackson Sibley and the late Mr. Sibley, of Natchitoches, is announced today by her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Morrow, of Bastrop. The wedding will be an event of early spring.

TWO LOCAL AUTHORS TO SPEAK TO NEW ORLEANS WRITERS CLUB

Two local authors, Mrs. J. R. White and Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, will be guest speakers at the April meeting of the New Orleans Writers Club, a branch of the National Writers Club. The meeting will convene at the Presbytery in historical Jackson Square. Mrs. White will speak on "The Need of Poetry in Today's World," and Mrs. Lawson will discuss "Poetry and the Related Arts." They will also give brief reviews of their books of poetry, previous to poetry forum discussions. Mrs. White will read from her recent publication, "Forty Acres,' and its companion book, "These are my Hills," Mrs. Lawson will contribute readings from her book, "Notes from Beauty's Lyre." The volumes, published by Talaria of Cincinnati, have had wide recognition with local clubs and organizations throughout the state, and also out of state.

Mrs. White has studied under the well known critic and poet, the late John Richard Moreland, whose poems are included in "Christ and the Fine Arts," and other great books. She was also a student of the late Clement Wood, who taught versification at William and Mary College. Many honors have come to her during past years, among them a request from the renowned poet and churchman, Bishop Ralph S. Cushman, to include one of her poems in a new book he is compiling. Mrs. White frequently gives reviews of poetry in Monroe and throughout Louisiana. She also speaks to teen - age groups on the writing of verse, compiling books of poetry, and poetry as an art.

Mrs. Lawson, who is a member of the Poetry Society of America, the National League of American Pen Women, Poetry Society of London, and National Writers Club, has had poetry published in over seventy - five periodicals and leading newspapers throughout the United States and Canada. These include New oYrk Journal-American, Washington Evening Star, Chicago Tribune, Ted Malones "Between the Bookends," in Radio Mirror, Independent Woman, and many others. Her poems have been read over ABC and CBS networks by Ted Malone, and over "Moon River," radio program of poetry and organ music, WLW Cincinnati. Dr. Ferdinand Dunkley, music professor and renowned composer of Loyola University, who has published several major works, has said that "a true poetic spirit pervades her poetry, and strong musical rhythm urges one to set her poems to music." Favorable reviews of her book, "Notes From Beauty's Lyre" have been given in leading poetry journals and periodicals. These include the Louisiana Musician, official journal of the Louisiana Music Educators Association, and The Pen Woman, official organ of the National League of American Pen Women. Being active in musical circles, she is also affiliated with Music Educators National Conference, National Guild of Piano Teachers, Louisiana Music Educators Association and Music Teachers National Association.

Both Mrs. Lawson and Mrs. White have been invited to serve as hostesses at the Mid-Administration Congress of National League of American Pen Women, to be held in Little Rock, Arkansas, May 7th, 8th, and 9th.

Lovely Afternoon Tea Compliments Monroe Visitors

Several Social Affairs Honor Mr. And Mrs. L. A. Stulce, Former Residents Of This City

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stulce of El Paso, Texas, stopped in Monroe for a brief visit with friends en route to an insurance convention in Silver Springs, Florida. They were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carroll. For a number of years Mr. Stulce was Educational and Choir Director of the First Baptist Church in this city.

During their short stay they were entertained at a beautifully appointed breakfast in the home of Mrs. Riley W. Myers. They were also guests at a luncheon given by Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Doughty at their home, 701 Erin.

Monday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll entertained with an "Auld Lang Syne" tea hour. Throughout the house a profusion of spring flowers graced all vantage points. The tea service was presided over by Mrs. D. C. Black and Mrs. Riley W. Myers and they were assisted in the courtesies of the dining room by Mrs. Mattie Trisler, Mrs. A. B. Hopson, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. Harry Hebert, and Miss Margaret Wood. Throughout the hour, Mr. Stulce graciously responded with vocal solos which were favorites of the guests, accompanied alternately by Mrs. B. D. Allbritton and Mrs. Alta C. Faircloth. Other musical entertainment was furnished by Ann and Harry Hebert.

Bostonian 8 Tons Behind On Reading

Boston, March 31.—(AP)—Edward Stockbridge, 82, is a literary gentleman who's a bit behind in his reading.

That's why he has eight tons of newspapers in his house.

The fire department submitted photographs to the Roxbury district court today to show that the weight of the newspapers and periodicals on floors in the tenroom brick house was such that walls were separating from ceilings.

Stockbridge assured Judge Frankland W. L. Miles that he has been "working on this literature from daylight to nightfall for literary purposes."

Judge Miles continued the case until April 11 when he plans to make a personal tour of the house.

DeWitt Mackenzie
MacKenzie's Column

(By The Associated Press)

Lifting of the United Nations diplomatic ban on Franco Spain has had the effect of making the Generalissimo's Spanish Republican opponents more vocal.

The Republican "government in exile" had been working so quietly that it had been largely lost sight of through the years since Franco waged his successful revolution. The exiled regime, however, appears to be decidedly alive, as I have had impressed on me through meeting a very active member—General Jose Asensio, minister without portfolio, who is stationed in New York.

The general tells me the members of the Republican cabinet are not all concentrated in one place, but are strategically scatterd—four in Paris and the rest in widely separated stations. He himself is not only a minister but also is permanent observer with the United Nations. Of this latter task he remarked to me rather plaintively but with diplomatic reserve:

"Unfortunately some disappointments have been experienced in connection with the case of Spain."

He was, of course, referring to the lifting of the U. N. diplomatic boycott against Franco. The first time I met the general (who has been a reader of this column) he said:

"You believe Franco should be brought into the north Atlantic defensive pact, don't you?"

I replied in the affirmative, on the ground that this would greatly strengthen the alliance. I added, however, that I do not approve of any dictatorships, as I have made clear innumerable times in my articles. The general grinned and we dropped the subject.

General Asensio not only is a university graduate but was trained in the Spanish Preparatory Naval College at Ferrol and the Infantry Academy at Toledo the same time Franco attended. Asensio saw varied military service and rose rapidly until he became a member of the general staff. His service included numerous diplomatic assignments.

When Franco launched his rebellion in 1936, General Asensio took the field against him until made under secretary of the ministry of war. Finally in January of '39 he was appointed military attache at the Spanish embassy in Washington, a post he held until Madrid surrendered two months later. Since then he has been a political refugee, representing the republic in America.

It seems passing strange that a "government in exile" should hang on so long and so doggedly, until you remember that ideologies die hard.

General Asensio tells me that president of the Republic Diego Martinez Barrio has headquarters in Paris. With him are Fernando Valera, Vice Valera, vice-president of the government and minister of finance; Jose Maldonado, minister of justice, and Eugenio Arauz, minister without portfolio and secretary of the government.

Alvaro De Albornoz, president of the government, prime minister and minister of foreign affairs, is in Mexico City. Jose Maria Sampun, minister without portfolio, had headquarters in Rome. Vincent Sol, minister without portfolio, is in Santiago, Chile.

I asked General Asensio to define the precise function of the exiled government, and here are some of the points he made:

"Our task is to preserve legal continuity with the last government constitutionally elected on Spanish soil. Our government in exile is open to all Spanish Democratic forces on the sole conditions that the Republican institutions shall be preserved as these are the last expressions of the national will, and that the opportunity be given the Spanish people of choosing freely the system under which they wish to live and thus enjoy full privileges of universal suffrage.

"It is difficult to overthrow fascist governments by action inside the countries. The Germans could not liberate themselves from Hitler nor the Italians from Mussolini. The same thing has proved true with all the occupied countries in Europe. Spain is a militarily conquered and occupied country, therefore the fall of Franco must be the result of the combined action of all the Spaniards inside and outside Spain, with the moral assistance of the United Nations.

All hibernating animals are imperfectly warm-blooded.

New York —(AP)— People laughed at George Bernard Shaw when he was alive. They are chuckling at him again now that he is dead.

They think it quite a joke that the odd old Irish playwright should leave the residue of his millionaire estate to prove that the English language would be better off with a 40-letter alphabet than a 26-letter alphabet.

"Boy, oh boy," says the average man. "I could sure think of something better than that to do with my money."

And he dismisses the whole project as just another intellectual prank on the part of Bernard Shaw, whose oddities includes wearing a beard, vegetarianism—and living to be 94 years old.

It is perhaps Shaw's own fault, for as he said himself:

"It is by jingling the bell of a jester's cap that I . . . have made people listen to me."

The trouble is that the people laughed at his bells but never heard the serious message behind the bells. And there was usually a serious message. For Shaw was not merely a wry humorist and gifted dramatist. He was a tremendous moralist, one who tried to preach by raising laughter at things that pretend to be true and are really untrue.

Like all great moralists he hated waste. He hates waste in any form—waste of life, time, energy or money. He may have been wrong in some of his views, but they worked out well for him. He wrote more than 50 plays, earned and saved more than a million dollars, and lived almost 30 years beyond the present average span of civilized man. Until shortly before his death at 94 he was still active, healthy, busy and cheerful.

For almost three quarters of a century he was a master in the use of the English language. He loved it dearly. With its words he built some wonderful edifices that will stand longer than Buckingham Palace or the tower of London.

But that language was a tool to him just as a wrench is to a mechanic. And just as a good mechanic sometimes can see ways to improve his tools so Shaw saw ways to improve the English language.

The thing he hated most about it was the fact it is wasteful. He wanted to simplify it. So he left a fortune to have a survey made to show just how unnecessarily costly it is to retain a 26-letter alphabet instead of replacing it with a 40-letter alphabet.

An alphabet is just a collection of the signs for certain sounds in a language. The English language has only 26 letters but—Shaw says—it has 40 different sounds. So it now has to use several letters to stand for the extra sounds. And sometimes it uses the same letters to stand for separate sounds, a practice that foreigners trying to learn our language find particularly maddening.

An example of the latter is the ending "-ough." It is pronounced differently in such words as rough, bough, and through.

By creating an alphabet of 40 letters, each standing for the 40 separate sounds in English, the language would be unbelievably simplified. Words would be shortened. Time would be saved. Isn't it quicker to write "ruf" than "rough?"

Multiply that saving millions of times on thousands of other words, Shaw believed, and the world would save tremendously in time, paper, ink and money. And he was a fine economist.

It may be a long time before the English people ever adopt his system, or the time-and-effort-saving system of other men who have tried to improve the language. But it will be simplified in time. It is going on haphazardly even now.

Everyone has some little personal way of making it easier to use. A stenographer, for example, may type out "thought" and "night." But when she snatches a moment to scribble a note to her boy friend she writes, "thot you're going to call me last nite."

Shaw felt the employer ought to have the benefit of the stenographer's wisdom. It is really only snobbery that keeps the language as inefficient as it is.

DR. COURTENAY SPEAKS TODAY

Noted Divine To Initiate Five-Day Services At Local Church

This morning Dr. Walter R. Courtnay, guest evangelist at the Presbyterian Church of Monroe, will address the Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible class at 9:45 and at the 11 a.m. hour will preach in the church sanctuary, "Are You Really a Christian?" This religious leader, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Nashville, Tenn., is regarded as one of the most brilliant leaders of his denomination. This will mark his third visit to Monroe. Usually he finds it rather difficult to pay a single visit to a place as he is in so great demand. Monroe Presbyterians feel they are quite honored by his three visits here.

At 7:30 p.m. he will preach a second sermon on "Are You A Growing Christian?"

Through the week there will be morning and night services and the public is urged to attend.

Dr. Courtnay also will fill important engagements this week at local service clubs. On Tuesday he will speak at the Lions Club at the noon luncheon in Hotel Frances; on Wednesday he will address the Kiwanis at noon in Hotel Virginia, and on Thursday noon at the same place and time he will address the Rotary Club.

Dr. Courtnay occupes one of the most distinguished Presbyterian pulpits in the nation. The First Presbyterian Church in Nashville, Tenn., has had a long and honorable history since its beginning in the 18th century. One of its recent divines was Dr. James I. Vance, who preached in Monroe many years ago. To fill the pulpit of this fine old church is regarded a great honor and those chosen for the position are pulpit statesmen of a high order. Dr. Courtnay was so chosen in 1944.

It is a pleasure of Rev. Ernest Holloway and his congregation to bring Dr. Courtnay back here again to this city. Members of all faiths and those without a church preference will be welcomed at all church services.

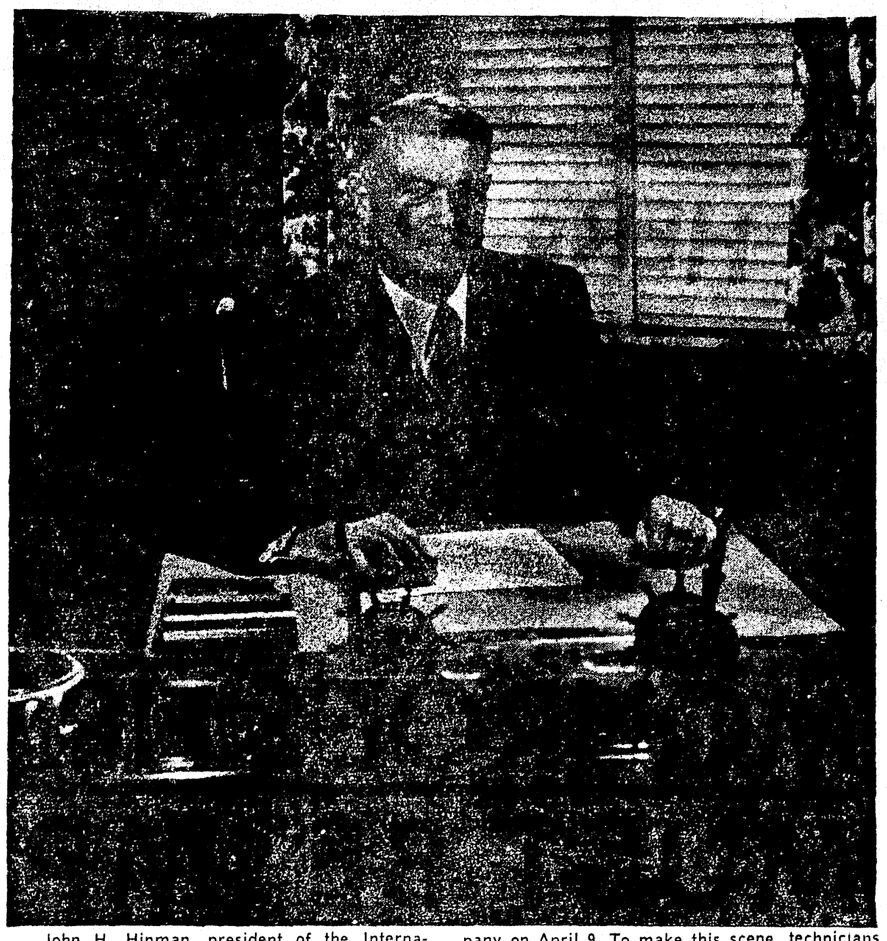
PRESIDENT OF INTERNATIONAL PAPER COMPANY



John H. Hinman, president of the International Paper Company, shown at his desk during the opening sequence of "In Partnership With Nature," the company's new sound film. The film will be shown to Bastrop employes of the company on April 9. To make this scene, technicians of the Raphael G. Wolff Studio in Hollywood faithfully duplicated a corner of Hinman's office on a Hollywood sound stage.

PAPER COMPANY FILM WILL SHOW

Scenes From Bastrop To Frozen Forests Of Canada To Be Seen

The far-flung operations of the International Paper Company, from Bastrop to the frozen forests of Canada, will appear on the screen for the first time April 9 when the company's new motion picture, "In Partnership With Nature," is previewed here.

Planned to give the 30,000 employees of the paper company and its subsidiaries a chance to inspect their company's widely-varied operations, the 33-minute, full-color film shows the fastmoving action of paper making from the silent forests, to the highly-geared converting plants where millions of paper sacks and containers are produced every day.

I. A. Allen, chairman of the local committee from the Louisiana and Bastrop Mills, Southern Kraft division, single service division, bag pak division, and woodlands division, who arranged the showings for Bastrop employees of the company, their families and friends, said today that showings will be held every hour on the hour starting at 1:00 p.m., April 9 at the Swan Theater.

Although admission to early showings will be by ticket only and will not be open to the general public, the committee has announced that the film will be shown to the public on April 17, 18, and 19th. The committee also announced that the film will be available for showings before school, church and civic organizations. Announcement will be made in the near future as to how copies of the film may be obtained for showing in the Bastrop area.

I. A. Allen said that "In Partnership With Nature" is being shown during the week of April 9 to all 30,000 employees of the International Paper Company and its subsidiaries and to thousands more of their friends and relatives in communities located in 23 states and three provinces of Canada.

"In Partnership With Nature" was produced by Raphael G. Wolff Studios of Hollywood.

In Hollywood

Hollywood, March 31. — One thing, at least, must be apparent to Hollywood studio bosses as they analyze the results of the congressional investigation of communism in Filmville—and that thing is the extreme risk involved in hiring anyone who is suspected of being either a Commie or a fellow-traveler. Necessarily, there's a long time lapse between the launching of a picture and its release; should one of the picture's stars, or its director, or its writer be revealed, during that period of time, as a Red or a Red sympathizer, the revelation may cost the studio a heavy bundle of dough.

All of which puts a conscientious producer in a very tough spot. On the one hand, he does not want to convict anyone on such flimsy evidence as is offered in many of the "hearsay" charges that are being bandied about these days; on the other hand, he doesn't want to jeopardize the financial interests of his studio.

As far as I can see, there's no middle road that he can take unless he chooses to suspend production until every last actor, writer, director and production worker who has been accused of Commie affiliations has been investigated and either cleared or convicted. It's all very well to say that the producers themselves should make an exhaustive investigation of the political status of the industry's personnel—but the saying doesn't make much sense. Motion picture producers are not trained investigators and they have no legal standing as investigators. Such a job is one for the FBI. Presumably it's a job that has already been done, but the FBI has not seen fit, and probably won't see fit, to open its files to a film-maker who wants to obtain a complete dosier on an actor he's thinking about starring in a forthcoming production.

Under all the circumstances, it seems to me that the congressional investigation now in progress is a decided boon to Hollywood studios. The quicker it is carried out, and the more complete it is, the easier a producer's life will be.

Preview Nights: Pic of a lackluster week: 20th Century-Fox's "Follow the Sun" (Glenn Ford- Anne Baxter- Dennis O'Keefe- June Havoc). The story of Ben Hogan's career as a golf star—and like Ben, it betters par all the way. . . . Fair: United Artists' "The Scarf" (John Ireland- Mercedes McCambridge- James Barton- Emlyn Williams). Psychological drama, intelligently conceived and brilliantly enacted—but too slow-moving to please the average audience. . . . MGM's "The Painted Hills" (Lassie- Paul Kelly- Bruce Cowling- Gary Gray). Tailored-to-order for Lassie fans and decorated with breath-takingly beautiful mountain scenery. . . . Allied Artists' "I Was An American Spy" (Ann Dvorak- Gene Evans- Douglas Kennedy). Suspenseful melodrama based on the true-life adventures of an American nightclub entertainer in Japanese-occupied Manila. . . . U-I's "Ma and Pa Kettle Back On The Farm" (Marjorie Main- Percy Kilbride). A low spot in the Kettle series. . . . RKO's "My Forbidden Past" (Robert Mitchum- Ava Gardner- Melvyn Douglas- Lucille Watson- Janis Carter). Romantic drama, marred by a plot so old-hat that it will do little for the futures of an excellent cast. . . . Looking West: RKO's "Saddle Legion" (Tim Holt- Dorothy Malone- Robert Livingston). Formula horse-opera, par for the course. . . . Best Performance: Glenn Ford in "Follow the Sun."

According to vacationers returning from Balboa Beach, Lana Turner (she and her husband own a house there now) has become an all-out tennis enthusiast. Instead of lolling around, as she has been wont to do in the past, she's playing four or five sets every day on the courts of the Balboa Bay Club—and playing in costumes so "glamorous" (that means "brief" in Hollywoodese) that the stands are crowded with spectators just as long as she remains in action. One of my fellow columnists, after noting the fact that Lana has been somewhat overweight of late, opines that tennis will do her a lot of good. Judging from the crowds she's drawing, I'm inclined to think that she may do tennis a lot of good, too.

Here in Hollywood we're used to eighteen or nineteen year old "glamour girls" without the viewpoint on life of a thirty-year-old sophisticate—girls who divide their thoughts evenly between career and romance. But we're not used to a nineteen-year-old miss like MGM's Debbie Reynolds. Miss Reynolds has a normal quota of ambition, but she also has interests which are a bit amazing in a Hollywood starlet. For instance, she's one of America's most enthusiastic Girl Scouts, and the holder of every honor badge issued by that organization. A few weeks ago, when the studio wanted her to go to Columbus, Ohio, to make a personal appearance, she went a bit unwillingly. She wanted to be in Burbank, attending a Girl Scout convention.

Pursuant to recommendation from the National Board of Fire Underwriters which have been carefully reviewed by consultant engineers, Ford, Bacon & Davis the city of Monroe is proposing a bond issue to accomplish the following:

1. A fire station and equipment for a new engine company in the northerly part of Monroe.
2. A new fire headquarters and repair shop.
3. A new fire station for Engine Company No. 3 (now Louisville Avenue Station) and a new ladder company, with space for the fire alarm central office.
4. The relocation of Engine Company No. 2 (now Stone Avenue) to the area South & East of the Missouri Pacific tracks.
5. A new fire alarm system to replace the present old unreliable equipment—200 new call boxes—replacing the 45 we now have.
6. A training school with drill tower and necessary equipment.

The above expansion and improvements are necessary to maintain the present insurance grading of Monroe and avoid higher fire insurance rates and also make it possible to secure lower insurance rates in the future.

FIRE WILL START EACH 40 SECONDS

May Be Disastrous Conflagration That Will Wipe Out Big Area

Look at your watch. Let it tick off 40 seconds. Within that time a fire will break out somewhere in this land of ours. It may be just a brush fire, or a blaze in a hall closet, easily controlled and extinguished; it may also be a disastrous conflagration that will wipe out a whole section of our city with heavy loss of life and property damage.

These are facts that demand the attention of citizens of Monroe.

The Monroe fire department is in drastic need of an improvement program to enable it to meet the demands of a city larger than the one which it was originally established for.

The city council has recognized the situation as being a jeopardy to the community if not corrected and have unanimously voted to place before the people of Monroe a bond issue to which would enable improvements to be made.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, which classifies the fire defenses of all cities of 25,000 or more for the leading capital stock fire insurance companies, made a survey of Monroe's conditions in March, 1949 and listed improvements for the city. If these improvements are not made in the near future there will be an increase in fire insurance rates from 15 to 25 per cent.

Because of the rated reduction in fire insurance of approximately 15 per cent people of Monroe saved more than $18.000 in insurance premiums in 1950.

These late reductions were made with understanding that improvements outlined by the national board would be made. If these are not made the city will be regraded and reduced from first to second class. This will increase fire rates and put them back where they were many years ago.

Based on the estimated premiums of $675,000 in 1950, this increase alone would amount to approximately $135,000, three times the amount needed to carry the principal and interest on the bond issue, which is estimated to be approximately $40,000 in taxes per year.

Members of the Ouachita Association of Insurance Agents have endorsed the proposed bond issue.

A better fire department means lower fire insurance rates. The saving effected in lowered rates more often than not offsets the cost of fire department improvements within a few years. Once the improvements are in, you have them; meantime your insurance savings continue year after year.

The economic fallacy of having a poor fire department and the monetary wisdom of having a good one has been dramatically illustrated in Billings, Mont

The citizens of Billings, a town with a population of 31,700 and with taxable property of $55,000,000, now are reaping the cash benefits of $550,000 spent on fire defenses over the past six years.

Billings laid out $250,000 for new fire protection equipment and $300,000 for an improved water system and handed the bill to the taxpayers. The entire $550,000, now paid off, will be recouped in five or six years through savings in fire insurance premiums.

Insurance rates in Billings last June dropped 18 per cent on masonery mercantile, 30 per cent on frame mercantile buildings. This means savings of about $135,000 annually to Billings residents—an effective bromide for fiscal headache.

Headquarters for the bond issue will be established at 127 South Grand Street and will be open each Thursday, beginning April 5, through out the continuance of the drive. Any citizen desiring to ask questions concerning the bond issue can obtain answers at the headquarters.

Citizens of Monroe this bond issue is for your safety and defense against the menance of fire—vote for the bond issue to improve your fire department.

James Marlow

The Nation Today

By Vern Haugland
(For James Marlow)

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—Two American educators who attended a Communist-dominated student conference in Czechoslovakia as observers say it showed American students ill-equipped to meet trained Communists in rough and tumble debate.

A method frequently used by Communists to capture a labor union or other organization is to over-ride opposition at meetings through sheer persistence and deft use of parliamentary procedure.

The observers say the conference last August brought to light "some shortcomings in the preparation of American students for their international responsibilities."

Eugene G. Schwartz, now a graduate student at New York University, and Robert L. West, now a college program adviser for CARE in New York City, represented the U. S. National Student Association at the second world student congress at Prague.

The congress was sponsored by the International Union of Students, from which the U. S. Association withdrew because of the union's refusal to intervene on behalf of Prague students jailed or suspended in the Communist coup. Most other non-Communist groups later dropped out as the international union continued to hew more closely to the foreign policy line of the Soviet Union.

Schwartz and West, writing in the semi-monthly publication of the U. S. office of education, say that the leadership at the Prague congress—even disregarding the Soviet and eastern European delegates—was frankly marxist.

"Such major nations as India and Italy, for example, were represented by student organizations formed of alliances between left-wing Socialist and Communist elements," they write. Red delegates from north Korea were applauded by "all of the Latin American, Asian, African and middle eastern groups, as well as the Soviet bloc."

Western delegations throughout the eight days of the meeting were submitted to "persistent attacks and a barrage of abuse, frequently personal."

"Too few students have been prepared to cope with the complex and diverse issues which arise on the international level," Schwartz and West write.

"Greater numbers of American students must become familiar with the foreign languages in wide use today, with the important contemporary political issues and with the character of the several non-western geographical areas of great political importance to Americans."

The writers say U. S. participation in the Prague conference also was limited because its delegation was much smaller than the Soviet delegation and was not equipped to compete with the cultural and sports teams and exhibitions brought from the east.

"This condition has been true of almost all U. S. participation in international gatherings among youth and students," they say. "The lesson here calls for much greater and more effective support of this phase of United States student extracurricular activity."

Biloxi, Miss., March 31.—(AP)—The cotton industry was urged today to continue its fight for legislative relief of price ceilings on raw cotton.

Joseph Walker, Jr, Columbia, S. C., told the Atlantic Cotton Association that relief could be obtained only through a big crop plus export controls making for a price lower than the ceilings or through legislation exempting raw cotton from controls.

Walker, president of the association, said there is no alternative but to continue the fight for legislative relief, because if the price of cotton falls below present ceilings, the office of price stabilization has the power to lower the ceilings.

"Ceilings could in time, destroy allotment of cotton acreage was ness of this cotton business," Walker said.

The government's system for the allotment of cotton acreage was blamed by Walker as being the principal reason for the south's failure by some 3,500,000 acres to meet the 22,250,000 acres goal set by the government last year.

The small planted acreage, along with a seige of bad weather, insects and by war needs resulted in inadequate supply, Walker said.

Walker predicted that with normal weather farmers will come within striking distance of the 16,000,000 bales asked by the government this year.

YEAR SUCCESSFUL

REV. T. J. WELCH

FRUITFUL YEAR IN CHURCH WORK

Rev. T. J. Welch Reviews Progress Of Sterlington Baptists

On March 31, Rev. T. J. Welch completed his first year as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Sterlington. During this year the church has received 119 members, 61 of them by baptism and 58 by letter. Five young people have surrendered for special Christian service, and one young man licensed to preach.

The church has raised $21,598.75 for all causes. On October 1 the church adopted the largest budget in the history of the church; gifts to outside causes and to missions were greatly increased. The receipts into the church treasury have surpassed the budget. The Sunday school enrollment has increased from 405 to 500; the Sunday school has attained the standard of excellence, and has given 60 training awards in Sunday school work. The training union has given 214 awards in training union work.

The spirit of the church is warm evangelistic, and missionary. Mission preaching is carried on each Sunday afternoon, and two services are conducted in the out-lying sections of Sterlington. The church looks forward to a bright and promising future.

Reverend Welch is a graduate of East Texas Baptist College, Ouachita Baptist College, and Southwestern Baptist Seminary. He is now working on his dissertation for his doctor of theology degree from Southwestern, and has completed all other work for this degree including his oral examination. He was pastor of churches in Arkansas and Texas before coming to Louisiana.

You May Bid After Passing

By Oswald Jacoby

When you've passed originally, your partner knows that your hand is not good enough for an opening bid. No matter how strongly you bid later on, your partner remembers that you couldn't bid to begin with.

Hence you can make a jump bid after an original pass to show that your hand was almost worth an opening bid. Such a jump bid is not, of course, as strong as a normal jump (which would show a hand at least as strong as an opening bid).

In the hand shown today, North quite properly passed to begin with. When his partner opened fourth-hand with one heart, however, North was entitled to assume that the combined hands could surely make a game. His response of two spades showed that he had a good spade suit, a maximum pass, and a holding that promised a game opposite a normal opening bid.

South naturally raised the spades, whereupon North showed his heart support. Now South was entitled to get a bit ambitious. North couldn't have better than queen-jack at the head of his hearts. Hence he was bound to have a pretty good spade suit, South reasoned.

The hearts were surely solid, the spades solid or nearly solid, and South had the ace of each minor suit. South felt that a contract of five hearts must surely be safe and that such an invitational bid would give North the chance to go on or refuse, depending on his values.

North had no problem when the invitation was extended. He would have opened the bidding if one of his queens had been a king. Hence he had not overstated his strength by announcing that he had a maximum pass.

Moreover, he would have jumped to two spades even with two doubletons in the minor suits rather than the more desirable 3-1 distribution. Hence he had slightly more strength than South could know about, and on this basis he could afford to accept the slam invitation.

The bidding was rather tenuous, perhaps, and probably only a pair of very fine players would reach the slam. It is important to notice, however, that if North had responded with three or four hearts, South would not have dreamed of going past game.

There was nothing much to the play. South won the first trick with the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, returned with a trump to ruff another club, and then drew trumps. When the spade finesse later succeeded, South made all of the tricks.

YOUNG FIREMEN

USES FOR FARM LOAN ARE MANY

Money May Be Borrowed To Make Acres More Productive

Improvements that can be financed with farm development loans made by the Farmers Home Administration are many and varied—depending somewhat on the locality, says Berry W. Wilson, Jr., county supervisor of the Ouachita Parish Farmers Home Administration office.

If the farm a family owns is not productive enough to earn a good living on, and if the family lacks the money to improve it, they may be able to get a Farmers Home Administration loan for farm development.

Credit for this purpose was authorized by congress in 1946 and is available for loans to improve und developed farms and to enlarge under-size farms for farm owners, explained Wilson. Farm purchase loans are made to tenants, hired farm laborers, and others who do not own land.

Besides making direct loans to buy, enlarge or develop farms, the Farmers Home Administration also insures such loans made by private lenders — banks, insurance companies, savings and loan associations, and individuals. Insured loans, says Wilson, are almost the same as direct government loans except that the money comes from private sources instead of from appropriations made each year by congress. Lenders receive three per cent per year interest on these investments.

It is our policy, explained Wilson, to make an insured loan if a private lender is available and the farmer can make the required ten per cent down-payment. The down-payment requirement for an insured loan is another of the few differences between the insured program and the direct loan program. However, stated Wilson, a family owning a farm needing development usually has at least ten per cent equity in that farm which would qualify that family for an insured loan—without any cash down-payment at all.

This means that there are now good opportunities in Ouachita parish for credit to be extended to many farm families who would like to improve their farms and step up production during this defense period of expanded needs for food. Funds for direct loans are small but private lenders are making ample funds available for insured loans to both veterans and non-veterans.

DOROTHY DIX

VISITING IN-LAWS

Couple Should Split Holidays Fifty-Fifty Between Families

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for three years and in all that time every holiday has been spent with my husband's family. Not once has my husband offered to take me to my home for a holiday. He says his family expect him always to be with them. If my in-laws were pleasant hosts it wouldn't be quite so hard, but the occasion is dreary beyond description. As soon as we arrive my husband settles himself down to read the paper while his mother takes me off to some other part of the house and spends her time putting me through a questionaire about how much my dress cost, and what did I pay for my shoes,etc. She also asks me personal questions about matters that I cannot discuss with anyone and is offended when I refuse to answer. Can you suggest some nice way for me to get out of such predicaments?

DISGUSTED

ANSWER: Why don't you tell your husband plainly that you are perfectly willing to go fifty-fifty with him on the family celebrations, but that you insist on your quota and that if you go to his people for Thanksgiving then you will expect him to go with you to your family for Christmas. There isn't any sense in your making all the sacrifices, and he will have more respect for you if you stand up for your rights.

If your in-laws are just and reasonable people, they will understand your desire to be with your mother and father and sisters and brothers and old friends on some of the holidays. And if they are not just and reasonable they will make a doormat out of you unless you fight for your independence, so you had just as well make your stand at once. The longer you wait the harder it will be for you to assert yourself.

PRYING INEVITABLE

As for a remedy for a prying mother-in-law or mother, there is none. It would take a major surgical operation to remove either one's bump of curiosity.

Just remember that if your mother-in-law has given you a good husband you owe her a debt of gratitude. Also, remember that your happiness depends to a large extent upon your ability to get along with your mother-in-law in peace and that nothing you can do will endear you to your husband so much as not fighting with his mother. So it is a part of policy to overlook her interference as much as you can.

DEAR MISS DIX: The base of the increasing number of divorces is the unethical scheming of women for permanency and their desire to flaunt before the world a husband. Most marriages are the result of scheming girls and their mothers who go husband-hunting. The man, wholly unaware of it, falls into the trap set for him. The wedding ceremony is all the girl desires, as she knows that the criticism of society will do the work of holding the man to his part in this relationship. Then the man meets the girl whom he really loves, his true mate, but if he dares step out of his bondage society screams: "You have broken your poor little wife's heart and deserted your children!" It is time that the world stopped kidding itself and got ocurageous enough to crusade for justice to men.

C. B. S.

ANSWER: I think you underrate the intelligence and character of men and overrate the cunning of women. Possibly there are men stupid enough and weak enough to be inveigled into marriage against their wills, but such poor, spineless creatures are few and far between. Likewise, there may be women who can weave a spell about a man that he is powerless to resist and while their victims are under the influence rivet upon them the fetters of matrimony, but these sirens are as scarce as hens' teeth.

The theory that men are shanghaied into marriage is also refuted by the fact that men do the proposing, hence are free agents in the matter.

So the contention that the reason men are unfaithful to their wives is because they were forced into marriage by their wives doesn't hold water. There are many reasons why men philander—they do it because they are vain, because they enjoy the thrill of the love chase, because they are not monogamous by nature, but not because they were poor, weak, helpless creatures who didn't have the spunk to run away from a designing woman.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am anxious to adopt a child. Do you know of any institution where they have children that are given for adoption?

ANSWER: Every city has a Child Finding Society that gives out children for adoption to the proper parties.

DOROTHY DIX cannot answer personal mail. If money problems are upsetting your home, leaflet D-12, "Financial Trouble," may help. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 98, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby

Play For All In Tourney

Our discussion of Canasta tournaments earlier this week reminds me that several readers have asked, from time to time, what style of play is best for a tournament player to adopt. The general answer is: Play for all or nothing.

In most tournaments theres no glory in coming in second or third. You might just as well wind up at the bottom of the heap if you can't take the first prize. Therefore, there is no point at all in playing safe.

In a large tournament, some pair is bound to have a lucky streak. If there are five or six rounds, some pair is going to average about 2,000 points per round. It won't do you much good to beat your opponents by a few hundred points.

For the purpose of winning the tournament, that small victory is just the same as getting beaten. At best, you can stand one such round if you have very big scores on all the other rounds; but you cannot hope to be a contender for first prize if you have two small victories.

The surest way to run up a big score is to fight desperately for the discard pile. If you get the pile, you will get the score; if you lose the pile, the opponents will get the big score. It's a free-swinging type of game that is not suited to everybody's temperament, but it's the only possible winning style.

Therefore, discard dangerously or trickily on hands that have possibilities. With a poor hand, discard ultra-safely in the hope that your partner can save the day. Freeze the pile, discard your deuces into it. Do anything—but don't sit tight.

That, at any rate, must be your style during the early rounds of the tournament. Toward the end of the evening, you may change.

For example, suppose you have had five very big scores and that you are now playing the final round. You might be able to stand a small loss and still win the tournament. Don't risk a really big loss in this situation.

To take another case, suppose you have had three really bad rounds. You are now out of the running. Don't go hog-wild the rest of the evening. Play a normal game and make your opponents earn their points.

In a tournament that lasts more than one evening, the factor of luck becomes less important. You can afford to play your normal game and hope that skill will win for you.

4-H Plans To Improve Poultry

The 4-H Club members of Ouachita parish through the chicken-of-tomorrow contest will demonstrate that better and cheaper chickens can be produced by following the scientific methods recommended by the agricultural extension department of L. S. U.

The following club members are enrolled: Doris Burnett, route 2, route 1, West Monroe; Joyce Malone, route 2, Downsville; Helen Roberts, route 4, West Monroe; Louise Burnett, route 2, West Monroe; Barbara Roberts, route 4, West Monroe; Ralph Kilpatrick, route 2, West Monroe; Tommy Jones, route 2, West Monroe; Jerry Jones, route 2, West Monroe; Carey Brooks, Lapine.

These 4-H'ers bought chicks hatched during the week of March 11-17 and will follow the recommendations of brooding and feeding of Mr. Clyde Ingram, agricultural extension poultry specialist of L. S. U.

The 1951 chicken-of-tomorrow contest will run only ten weeks this year, where in the past two years it has been twelve weeks. The number of weeks was reduced because club members raised chickens weighing over five pounds which is too large for a fryer. The show will be held in Alexandria May 24, 25 and 26.

'JUMPERS' DON'T HURT

New York —(AP)— The average person thinks that the largest yearly loss a hotel sustains is from "skippers" — a name given to those who leave a hotel without paying bill. This is not true. According to figures just released by one New York hotel, which depends on tourists for 90 per cent of its business (the Hotel Edison) losses from "skippers" is a quarter of one per cent. Hotels lose more than that on people taking linens, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

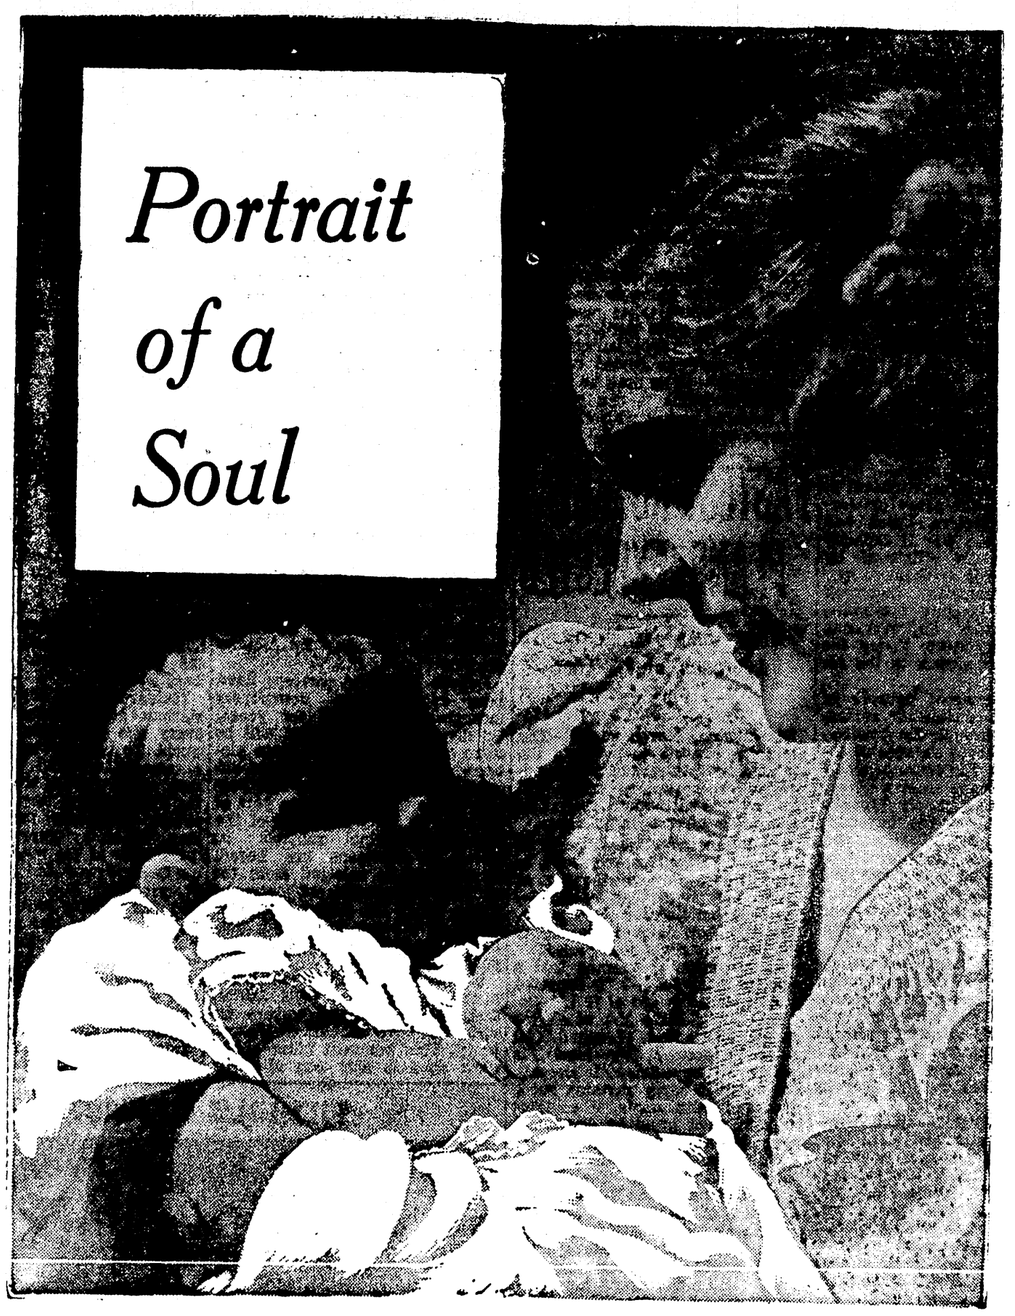
Enroll Your Child In Sunday School



Look into baby's eyes! Do you see hope . . . the assurance that every tomorrow will be better than every today? Do you see happiness . . . the certainty that life is full of beauty and truth? Do you see faith . . . the confidence that God hears, and knows, and cares, and helps? Do you see courage . . . the fortitude that will look through defeat to victory?

You're looking into a soul! You're seeing it still unblemished by the cares and disappointments of life. You're seeing the spark of Himself which God has put into every one of us. Unless you give that soul a chance to grow up with the body and mind that possess it . . . soon you'll no longer see it in your child's eyes . . . and perhaps, someday, you'll no longer see it in his life.

Your child deserves the advantage of the Church's instruction. The Church, through careful religious education, develops that spiritual inner-being which we call the soul. And, in church worship, you will rediscover the beauty and strength of your own soul.

Beautiful Girl Teaches Life On Artificial Legs

By Richard Kleiner

New York—(NEA)—Lelia West is a very lovely girl with rich blue eyes, a neat figure and a soft Tennessee drawl. And there was a time she wished she was dead.

"I don't like to talk about that time," she says. "It's as if I were talking about a different person. But—"

Lelia West was born with her legs crushed. They were so badly deformed that the soles of her feet were twisted around and faced upward. Her legs were so short that when she was fully grown she stood just a few inches over four feet.

But she learned to walk, after a fashion. Of course, her childhood wasn't pleasant. Play with other children was out of the question. Docotrs said they were sorry, but nothing could be done.

She went into a shell. She found refuge in books, but not too much refuge. For years, she refused to look in a mirror—she didn't want to see what she knew it would show. She did all her shopping by mail. She wore only cut-down slacks, no dresses. She didn't have much to live for.

One day, when she was in California studying music, a child pointed to her in the street.

"Look, mother," said the child, "there's a midget!"

For Lelia West, that did it. She decided she had to do something, so that nobody could ever call her a midget again. At first, she desperately thought of strapping wooden blocks on the bottom of her pitiful legs. Then a nurse said she should have them amputated and get artificial ones.

She did. And the real Lelia West came to life. In the first glory of her new mobility, she enrolled in courses for dancing, walking, posture and everything she'd ever dreamed of doing.

It took her a long time to master the art of walking on two artificial limbs. She continually made adjustments and improvements in her legs, until she could do almost everything. She ran for buses, became a dancing teacher, played golf and tenis—and nobody could tell.

She held down different jobs, but gradually an idea formed. People who'd had artificial legs for years and could barely get around on them came to her for help. She taught them how to adjust the limbs and how to use them properly. She decided to make such work her career.

With the help of wealthy John Hay Whitney, she set up a "studio-workship for balance and co-ordination.' It's a small place. One room, the studio has a set of practice stairs, practice handrails for walking, and a special couch for practice sitting and rising. And there is a workshop where a limb-maker makes and adjusts artificial legs.

Her clients are people from three to 70. She guides them to perfection in living on one or two artificial legs. Sometimes tightening a bolt, or bringing the leg closer to the stump, or some other simple adjustment will be of help. Occasionally, a new limb must be made.

Lelia West helps them to walk and run and dance. She counsels them on things like what shoes to buy, which is something she learned through experience. For women, it seems, pumps are too heavy. She herself bought 12 pairs of wrong shoes when she first got her legs.

Clothes, especially for female amputees, are a problem. Skirts have to be loose. The "new look" was a break for them, as the long skirts hid the mechanism around the knee. Men have no problems of this sort.

She says she's yet to meet an amputee client she couldn't help. She's a pretty good object lesson of her own ability.

2 Young Men Plan To Enter Ministry

The Trinity Baptist Church is pleased to know that two of its young members have felt the call to enter on studies leading to the ministry.

On a recent Sunday, Billy Blazier made announcement that he was accepting a call to the ministry. On March 7, he brought his first message at a prayer service, which was regarded as highly inspiring.

Again a week later on March 11, John C. Gould did similarly when he announced that he would devote his life to the ministry of the church. On March 14, he preached his first Sunday sermon.

Rev. Filer J. Seal, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, states:

These young men are firm in their decisicn, we believe, but they will need the prayers of praying Christians. You can help the work of our Lord by praying for these young men as they study and preach the Lord Jesus Christ to the lost. They will appreciate it.

Western Union Today Starts On Its Second Century

Remarkable Progress Has Made Company Outstanding In Entire World

Western Union today has completed a century of public service to the nation and is starting on its second 100 years, with operations highly mechanized, its equipment ultra modern. It was established April 1, 1851, and was first the New York and Mississippi Valley Printing Telegraph Company in Rochester, N. Y. Five years later it took the name "The Western Union."

Because of the Korean conflict and needed concentration on defense requirements of armed service, the government, and industry, plans for an elaborate celebration have been cancelled, states E. R. Dawson, manager of the Monroe office of the company.

Western Union's first executive office in Rochester in 1851 comprised a single roll top desk, a few chairs, and a cast iron cuspidor. It was a most modest beginning.

Despite competition from 50 small, local telegraph companies, widely varying rates, and a skeptical public that regarded the Western Union little more than a harmless toy, the man at the helm determined to provide the nation with the latest and best system of communication. But it did not require a century to make this dream a complete success.

The nation's telegraph system is today prepared for peace or wartime needs. Western Union has doubled its World War II capacity and expanded its efficiency by means of a highly mechanized system of automatic telegraph transmission including facsimilie. These and other improvements have cost $100,000,000. Today the finest telegraph system is the result.

A newly completed network of 15 high-speed switching centers now operate through the country. Each center serves an area of one or more states. The operator transmitting a message from a Western Union office simply types a routing symbol at the beginning of each telegram. That symbol causes an "electrical brain" at the message center to route and flash the message to its destination. The system requires typing a telegram only once at the point of origin.

This modern, high speed switching of telegrams, the substitution of microwave and carrier circuits for pole lines and wires and improved methods of picking up and delivering telegrams by Dek-Fax machines, telegrams and cablegrams move faster than ever in history.

Over 43,000 highly-trained Western Union employes, here and abroad, now are busy moving annually over the extensive telegraph network, some 200,000,000 telegrams, 8,000,000 foreign and domestic telegraph money orders, and 5,000,000 cablegrams many of military nature. Additional billings of words are handled for the press and private industries.

Commenting on the company's centennial, Walter P. Marshall, president of the Western Union, said: "We are justly proud of the many technical advances in telegraphy in the past century—the teleprinter, multiplex and carrier systems which multiplied wire capacity; radio beam telegraphy, facsimilie machines, new automatic push-button transmission equipment and now, high speed facsimilie. These all mark milestones in progress. Loyal pioneers and thousands of loyal employes have made the system what it is today the best in the entire world. "We pay tribute to them."

Western Union adopted as its first, exclusive method od operation the telegraph printer invented by Royal E. House. This machine resembling a small piano, was the first telegraph to print Roman letters, numerals and punctuation instead of code. It was much faster and more accurate than Morse. Then later the House printer was basis for automatic printing telegraphy, which, with its latest ally, facsimilie, now moves 95 per cent of the nation's telegrams.

In three years from its formation, the company bought 11 other lines in five states and April 4, 1856, changed its name, to Western Union, suggested by Ezra Cornell, pioneer telegraph line builder and founder of Cornell University.

On Oct. 24, 1861, Western Union completed its first line across the country. President Lincoln received the first message which pledged loyalty to the Union cause. This extension aided to railroad construction and to open markets of trade and commerce.

President Hiram Sibley, of Western Union, urged the U. S. to purchase Alaska from Russia for the sake of telegraph expansion. As all know the sale was effected and the cost of this area was $7,200,000 or two cents an acre one of the world's biggest real estate bargains.

A marvelous machine is the Desk-Fax, which requires less than a square foot of space on a businessman's desk. It puts a "telegraph office" right on the spot. Telegrams, handwritten or typed, can be sent out automatically. It operates simply The sender wraps the telgram around a metal cylinder, presses a button which starts transmission, and a "magic eye" sends it automatically to Western Union. Telegrams can be received over the same machine by a simple operation.

The latest communications miracle of Western Union is the High-Speed Fax which takes messages at the rate of 3,000 words a minute or 180,000 words an hour. It transmits written, printed or picture matter with no limit as to distance over which it can operate if a suitable circuit with electronic repeaters is provided.

FASTEST ROCKET PLANE EXPECTED

X-2 Is Just Beginning To Approach Flight Test Period

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—The air force expects to put into the air sometime this year a new supersonic rocket plane which will fly faster and higher than any man-ridden aircraft in existence.

The X-2—a diminutive little plane with wings swept sharply back to help it bore through the air at speeds far above that of sound—has been building for three years. But only now is it beginning to approach the flight test period.

An air force spokesman told a reporter today the X-2 "is expected to fly before the end of 1951."

The X-2, like the X-1 which exceeded the speed of sound (761 miles an hour at sea level), is purely an experimental aircraft. Too small to carry anything but a pilot and instruments, it contains no armament or other equipment common to combat planes.

Both models are built by Bell Aircraft Corporation. The original specifications for the X-1 called for a speed of 1,700 miles an hour and an altitude of 80,000 feet. But there are reasons to believe it has flown neither that fast nor that high. Estimates of its top speed range around 1,000 miles an hour, using the original rocket motors with a nitrogen pressure system in the fuel supply unit. However, a new turbine pump for fueling the motors—a device presumed to give far more speed and rate of climb to rocket planes—has been completed since.

Asked how much improvement was expected in the X-2, the air force spokesman said cautiously that "it is expected to exceed the X-1 in speed and altitude."

Guesses of aeronautical experts outside the air force is that, when fully developed, the X-2 may fly 2,500 miles an hour at an altitude of 200,000 feet.

(The present known altitude record, set by a British vampire jet fighter in 1948, is 59,445 feet.)

The first X-1 plane was turned over to the Smithsonian Institute museum here last year. Meanwhile, further supersonic flights are being carried out at Edwards Air Force Base, Muroc, Calif., with another X-1 flown by the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

Three other modifications of the X-1—the X-1A, X-1B and X-1D—are being built. Each is designed for specific types of research in the faster-than-sound field—including such studies as air friction on the skin of supersonic planes and heat generation from supersonic speeds through the air.

While the airplane designers have been creating craft for higher and higher speeds and altitudes, development of means to enable man to fly those new planes has been going forward.

Brig. Gen. Edward J. Kendricks, of the air force's surgeon general staff and aeromedical expert, described some of these problems in a recent paper prepared for the Association of Military Surgeons. Referring to the conventional pressurized cabins familiar to airline passengers and the pressurized cockpits of standard high altitude fighter planes, the general commented that these couldn't be used to altitudes above 50,000 feet.

There, in the thin air, the pilot must have his own personal pressure cabin—a suit that may be inflated to keep the pressure at tolerable level. Moreover, entirely new methods of getting out of crippled planes at supersonic speeds and keeping alive while descending by parachute through air too thin to breathe must be devised.

If your bare recreation room or den walls are making you long to break the budget for framed pictures, try this inexpensive means of adding color to those expanses. Collect attractive road maps and glue them to the walls; then coat them with two thin applications of shellac to give them a lasting finish.

Ripley's Personal Collection Will Be Displayed In Monroe

Robert Ripley's personal collection of "Believe It or Not" oddities, being exhibited on national tour under the auspices of the Disabled American Veterans, will be presented in Monroe on Thursday, Friday and Saturday by Monroe Chapter No. 8, D.A.V.

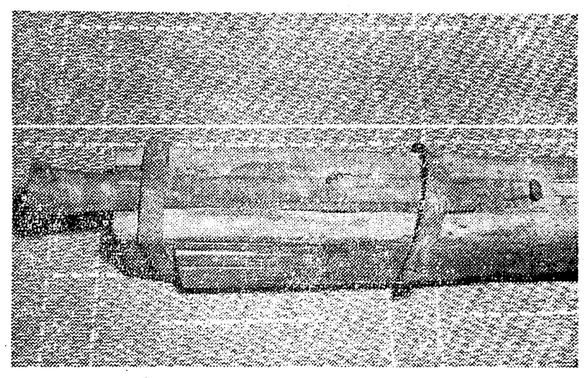
Believe It or Not cartoons have been appearing in newspapers throughout the world for years. On display in this exhibit will be some of the original drawings picturing facts which many found difficult to believe. The greater portion of the exhibit features part of Ripley's amazing collection of the authentic original subjects on which the cartoons are based. Every item is selected from the unusual assortment of strange things which Mr. Ripley spared no effort or expense to unearth during his endless explorations of all parts of the world.

The mobile exhibit is mounted in a special custom - built trailer, featuring a medieval torture device, the "Iron Maiden of Nuremberg'. This inhuman killer of the dark ages is only one of many interesting articles with curiosity or oddity significance. There is a working model of an inventors attempt to perfect perpetual motion, a knife that cuts cold steel, and an Indian necklace made from human bones, the trigger fingers of the men massacred at Custers Last Stand.

Included in this exhibit are mysterious oddities and wonders of every age and every part of the world. There is a two-headed calf, a mummified hand with a curse that came true, a $50,000.00 shoe, the jawbone of a huge man-eating shark, a genuine murder poison ring, and many other items.

Location of the showing will be on DeSiard and 2nd st. (front of Walgreens). Admission is free, and the exhibit will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Any funds raised through voluntary donations will be used by the State Department and the Chapters of the Disabled American Veterans in the state where the contributions are made, to assist them in carrying on their services to disabled veterans.

FILHIOL'S CANNON



Shown above is a 17th century cannon which was brought to the Ouachita post by Don Juan Filhiol when he sailed up the Ouachita river in 1783 to establish the post. The cannon, which is considered a priceless relic, is still in possession of direct descendents of Filhiol who live near Bosco. (Staff Photo by Leon Noland, Jr.)

Filhiol Decendants Possess Forefathers Priceless Cannon

By Yvonne Brett

A small cannon, brought to the Ouachita post approximately 180 years ago by Don Juan Filhiol, is the only relic still in existence which belonged to our founding father.

The cannon, which is housed in the home of Filhiols close descendants, is small, measuring only approximately one and half feet in length. Mrs. Filhiol, eldest members of the living descendants, and whose husband John Filhiol was the fifth generation to bear the name of the founding father, states that the cannon was taken from the ship on which Filhiol sailed from New Orleans up the Ouachita. He sailed to his new post under the flag of Spain.

Travis Oliver, a noted gun expert, stated that it was his belief that the cannon was of the type made by the Chinese in the 17th century. "The Filhiol cannon is one of the first guns made after the discovery of gun powder by the Chinese, Oliver said.

Oliver explained that the gun was ignited by using a punk, or live coal. The fuse hole in the gun is very small, and cannot be seen without close observation. "The canon was filled with slugs of iron, and when the fuse ignited the gun powder, the slugs sprayed instead of hitting directly at a target," said Oliver.

The gun is placed on a block of wood and from the appearance of the wood it was taken from the boat in this manner. Hard belts are placed around the cannon to hold it in place after firing.

Five generations of the family have resided at the old plantation, which was one of several Spanish land grants given to Don Juan Filhiol by the Spanish king.

The plantation, located near Bosco, takes an individual back to the past. The house, which is typical of past days of gracious living, is rambling with wings portruding on each side.

The generations of Filhiols who have resided at the ancestral home have combined furniture of each period into a museum of lasting beauty.

Grammont Filhiol, second son of Don Juan Filhiol, built the majestical home near Bosco. His father resided at the large house, which was located in the vicinity of Filhiol street in West Monroe.

A picture of Napoleon Bonaparte, which hangs in the reading room at the old home was sent to Grammont personally by the French leader.

The family still hold in their possession letters and other priceless articles which have come from their great forefathers.

INDIAN TO GET HONOR MEDAL

Government Conferring Highest Decoration On Dead Red Cloud

Washington, March 31. — (AP) — Wounded and alone, Mitchell Red Cloud of the Winnebagos braced himself against a tree for his last stand.

Fire from his automatic rifle slowed the rushing hordes of Chinese Communists, giving his brothers-in-arms time to reorganize and evacuate their wounded.

So he stood and fought until the enemy overran him and he died far from the home of his forefathers.

That was last fall in Korea.

Next Tuesday the government of the United States is conferring upon Corporal Red Cloud, in death, its highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.

His mother, Mrs. Nellie Red Cloud of Hatfield, Wis. will receive the award from Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Red Cloud, an American Indian from Friendship, Wis., was 25 years old when he died a veteran of two wars.

As a marine in World War II, he served for a time with Carlson's raiders. In October, 1948, he joined the army.

At daybreak on the morning of last November , at Hill 123 near Chonghyon, north Korea, he detected the enemy approaching his outfit, Company E, 19th Infantry regiment of the 24th division.

He called a warning and opened fire. Cut down by bullets from a burp gun, he got back to his feet, supported himself against a tree and fought until he died.

His citation for the Medal of Honor said:

"This heroic act stopped the enemy from overrunning his company's position and gained time for reorganization and evacuation of the wounded. Corporal Red Cloud's dauntless courage and gallant self-sacrifice reflects the highest credit upon himself and upholds the esteemed traditions of the army of the United States."

Red Cloud will be the eighth army man of the Korean war upon whom the Medal of Honor has been conferred.

His father, Mitchell Red Cloud, Sr., who died in 1946, was at one time a guard at the White House here, an army spokesman said. Back home in Wisconsin, he wrote columns for the Black River Falls paper, the Banner Journal.

Nation's Moral Fibre Criticized

Biloxi, Miss., March 31,—(AP)— Lack of a floor beneath the nation's moral fibre is a worse threat than any ceiling on cotton fibre, Hodding Carter, Greenville editor and publisher, told the Atlantic Cotton Association here Friday.

Citing national indifference to what he called "moral disintegration" within the American structure, Carter blamed it upon the "material preoccupation of an extended defense boom period."

"The rank and file of the nation is becoming indifferent to such decay," he said, "because of the hog trough technique of organized political, business and agriculture and labor groups."

Commenting on the south's present cotton quandary he said he hoped that the nation's need for more cotton would not result in the plowing up of pastures on marginal lands, or the abandonment of the diversified practices achieved with such difficulty.

"This may sound treacherous for a Mississippian," he said, "but I'd rather see the west and the southwest make up the difference between what we produced last year and what we'll need in the coming years if it means otherwise an abandonment of the cattle range, the soybean field, and the useful rotation of the soil."

Recovery of strategic metals, such as lead and zinc, from waste piles at smelters by a wartime process known as slag fuming is proving a success.

FINK IS AWARDED MERCHANTS' CUP

Retiring Chairman Is Given Trophy For His 'Outstanding Service'

Herbert Fink well known Monroe merchant for many years and retiring chairman of the Retail Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, was awarded a loving cup for outstanding service to the merchants division for the past three years.

The presentation was made on behalf of the division by David C. Silverstein, newly - elected chairman, and C D. McAdams, vice - chairman. The presentation was made at Mr. Fink's home where he has been resting foliowing a heart attack last month.

The inscription on the cup reads: "Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants Division, to Herbert J. Fink, for outstanding service to community and retail merchants, 1948, 1949, 1950."

Mr. Fink was chairman of the division during those years and directed a number of inovations in retail merchants' promotion during his terms as head of the group. Christmas parades, various bargain days and other events were staged under his guidance, the division chairman said in praising his efforts.

Mr. Fink is a native of Monroe, attended schools here and has been head of Fink the Tailor for many years. He is well known throughout northeast Louisiana. He is an ardent sportsman and has been active in various horsemens' associations throughout the south for several years, having entered a number of his walking horses in various shows. He also has served as a judge in several of the leading shows in the south.

ALL-GIRL CREW PLANS NEW TRY

Looking Forward To Next Year's Race After Being Towed In

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 31. —(AP)—Members of the all-girl crew who got lost and had to be towed back home on their first try at sailing from St. Petersburg to Havana, are already looking forward to next year's race.

The eight-girls who sailed the Tropicair from St. Petersburg Saturday ran into about every imaginable trouble short of being shipwrecked before a coast guard boat pulled them in here last night.

They and their male skipper, Le Hederman, owner of the 43-foot schooner, were as chipper as when they started—almost.

"I'll be back in the next Havana race with the same outfit—you wait and see," Hederman said as he came ashore. "They're a great crew and a swell bunch of girls. . . . No crew of men could have done better."

The only one doubtful about another jaunt on the deep was Dottie Sherill, pretty blonde clerk.

"I'm not so sure I ever want to sail again," she admitted. "Maybe after I get rested up and get a good meal I'll see things differently."

The Tropicair was barred by the race committee as an official entry because of inexperienced personnel. Hederman insisted the result could not be blamed on his crew.

He blamed a series of bad breaks which no one could help. Two of the five sails were blown out, fuel for the auxiliary Diesel engines ran short, the aerial was carried away so the crew couldn't broadcast, even the automatic SOS transmitter went dead, the lights failed, and the bilge pumps stopped working.

"Our greatest worry was about friends and relatives, because we could hear the radio broadcasts about the search for us but could not use our own transmitter," said Janice Kaufman.

"We all felt quite safe despite some anxious moments," she added.

The navigator, Pat Fenner, said their troubles began Monday after a mixup in signals from a coast guard put them 45 miles off their course.

That practically turned them around. Then the sails blew out and the other troubles followed.

Wednesday they sighted a fishing boat with three deaf mutes aboard, and by tossing notes back and forth, got further directions toward the coast.

The fishing boat put the coast guard on the right track in the widespread hunt for the Tropicair. A coast guard plane spotted the schooner about 50 miles south of here yesterday and sent a cutter to escort it in.

MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME

Louisville, Ky. —(AP)— Since 1875 when the race was first run, 464 owners have started 799 horses in the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. The largest field to start the Derby was 22 horses in 1928. The smallest fields were in 1892 and 1905. Only three starters went to the post in those years. The largest number ever nominated for the race was 196 in 1926, smallest was 34 in 1876.

COMING TO PARAMOUNT

'Second Woman' Coming Thursday

Harry M. Popkin, recognized as one of Hollywood's keenest showmen, is one of the few film producers in the independent field who is at the same time an active exhibitor. His personal management and operation of theatres has thus given him a certain close understanding of the tastes of the average theatre-goer which stands him in good stead in his role of producer.

"The Second Woman," a romantic drama with highly emotional overtones, is the current production of this astute producer. Both Robert Young and Betsy Drake agreed to star in the picture after a single reading of the script, which is based on an orignal screen story by Robert Smith. Miss Drake said its dialogue was about the most intelligent she had ever read.

United Artists is releasing "The Scond Woman," which open on Thursday at the Paramount Theater.

Fontaine, Cotten Team On Romantic Capri In Film, 'September Affair'

Moving Tale Of Unconventional Love Now Showing At Paramount

Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotton, two of the brightest stars in the Hollywood firmament, will be seen together for the first time when Paramount's Hal Wallis production, "September Affair," opens today at the Paramount Theatre.

The film, which was made on location in Italy, co-stars veteran Continental performer Francoise Rosay, and according to advance audiences, it matches the pictorial splendor of the Italian countryside with a brilliant and moving tale of an unconventional love.

Joan Fontine, as an American pianist studying in Italy, meets Joseph Cotten, a vacationing American, aboard an airliner bound for New York. On a stop-over at Naples, the two miss the plane's departure, and when it crashes into the sea, they are reported lost. With the world believing them gone, they decide to fashion a new life together and they have an idyllic romance in Italy. But they also find that a life can't really begin anew and the past must be reckoned with.

Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotton, in their first screen teaming, are said to play a series of love scenes that are wistful, tender and elouent. And Madame Rosay who plays Joan's teacher and companion, acquits herself with distinction in her American starring debut. The dazzling authentic backgrounds include the famous ruins of Pompeii, the Coliseum in Rome, and the beautiful Isle of Capri, as well as striking views of Florence and Naples.

"September Song," the ver-popular tune made famous by the late Walter Huston in a hit Broadway show of ten years ago, sets the musical mood for this bitter-sweet love story. In addition to Huston's recording made specially for the film, Miss Fontaine plays the number on the piano, and it is sung by Jimmy Lydon, who plays a home-sick GI stationed in Italy.

Director William Dieterle, whose film achievements include "The Story of Louis Pasteur," "The Life of Emile Zola" and "Love Letters," has reportedly brought rare sensitivity to the filming of "September Affair," and under his able direction, the talented cast of supporting players add to the lustre of the production. Particularly note-worthy is Jessica Tandy in the featured role of Cotten's wife. In addition to the Hollywood players, Italian non-professionals were recruited on the spot to give further authenticity to this unusual and stirring love story.

Bob Thomas

In Movieland

Hollywood, March 31.—(AP)—Thomas Mitchell, back in Hollywood after an extensive stage tour with "Death of A Salesman," says there is hope for the stage after all.

The living theater, long the "fabulous invalid" of the show world, has been counted out on many occasions. First, movies came along to threaten the legit. Then radio, and now television. But somehow, the theater has managed to survive, and Mitchell predicts it will continue to do so.

"Oh, it won't be anything like it was in the past," he remarked on the set of "Skid Row." "I can remember when there were 45 theaers in New York. Those days won't return. But there will always be an audience for what are called hit shows.

"This economic pinch in the theater has been a good thing . It has weeded out the run-of the-mill shows that have no reason to exist anyway. After all, there are only about two shows every season that amount to anything—four, if you count the musicals.

"These shows will continue to do business on the road. The others? Well, they're just junk. I should know. I've appeared in enough of them myself. I even wrote a couple."

Mitchell said he found full houses and knowing audiences wherever he toured with "Salesman."

"There are no 'sticks' anymore," he declared. "In this age of rapid communication, audiences are just as hep in Iowa as they are in Manhattan. Oh, perhaps a topical revenue might not go over as well elsewhere as in New York. But any other kind of show gets just as good a response."

I asked if the adage—that Los Angeles is a bad show town—is true.

"We played to capacity here," he replied. "I can't complain"...

Another outfit tried to disprove the local jinx on show enterprises this week. Earl Carroll's theater restaurant opened after being shut for a year.

For a night, it looked like the lush days (particularly in wartime) when Carroll himself offered a lavish supply of whatever the spenders wanted to buy. The place was filled for the reopening with a noisy, fun-seeking crowd.

Quitman FFA Will Hold Banquet

The Quitman Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held a meeting in the home economics department of the Quitman High School the past Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by the president and the group was led in prayer by Fannie Joe Beatty.

After the opening ritual, the minutes were read and the roll was called by the secretary.

Included in the old business of the club was the opening of the cup which was purchased by the club when they attended the district F. H. A. meeting held at Louisiana Tech. Evelyn Moser reported on this meeting to the group.

The parent-daughter banquet was discussed in the new business and it was decided that the banquet would be held April 17. The "Teen-Tog" wardrobe owned by the McCall Pattern company will be used as part of the program at the banquet. Several committees were appointed for the banquet. After the new business was disposed of, a report was given by the treasurer. The next meeting will be in April.

STARTS THURSDAY AT THE JOY

GLENN FORD subdues the excitable RHONDA FLEMING in this scene from Paramount's "REDHEAD AND THE COWBOY."

'The Redhead And The Cowboy,' With Ford And Fleming, Coming To Joy

Bullet-Paced Tale Of Murder And Espionage Make Outstanding Film

A bullet-paced tale of murder and espionage in the turbulent and bloody days of the old west will take over the screen of the Joy Theatre on Thursday with the opening of Paramount's "The Redhead and The Cowboy." Starring Glenn Ford, Edmond O'Brien and sultry Rhonda Fleming, this tale of intrigue and violence is staged in the closing days of the Civil War.

Glenn Ford, as a wandering cowpoke, saunters into a frontier saloon where he is accosted by Rhonda Fleming, a beautiful redheaded entertainer. When he follows her into a back room, he is confronted with a man dying on the floor with a knife in his back, before he can size up the situation, the girl vanishes and he is accused of the murder.

Escaping at gun point, he rides after the girl and the two are plunged into an action-packed chase that almost costs them their lives. Before the hunt is over Ford has teamed with a quick-shooting Union agent, discovered a band of ruthless renegades and discovered the true identify and mission of the mysterious beauty.

Director Leslie Fenton has reportedly staged these exploits in terse and graphic episodes that make the most of a stirring and suspenseful script. Some of the pictorial highlights include a massive attack on a Union gold train, the looting of frontier ranches and pitched gun battles in the rugged New Mexico hills that have few peers in screen excitement.

Glenn Ford, as the soft-speaking, hard-shooting gun toter, is said to turn in one of the most exciting performances of his sparkling career. Rhonda Fleming is reportedly perfect in the role of a titian haired beauty who teaches Glenn a few things about espionage and love, and Edmond O'Brien is convincing as the sharp-shooting secret agent.

"The Redhead and The Cowboy" was produced by Irving Asher from a script by Jonathan Latimer and Liam O'Brien.

DEFENSE LAGS

Singapore —(AP)— Singaporeans are shying away from signing up for civil defense work in event of war. The government started a drive early this year to enlist 20,000 men and women as an auxiliary force to the armed services. Thus far, only 500 have volunteered.

Our Children

BOOKS

Books are our tools, everybody's tools, and the better use we make of them the more effective our work will be. No matter how much we know through study, no matter how experienced we are in our chosen field, there is always something to be learned from somebody else and the easiest way to reach that store of information is by reading the expert's book.

In the days ahead we are all going to need to protect ourselves and our children from fear. Being normal people, we will fear for our boys at the front, for the safety of our people, our possessions, our traditions of home and country. We must control the fear, bring courage to the front and keep faith burning in our souls. This for the children's sake as well as our own, remembering. "If ye faint in the day of adversity ye have little strength."

The Bible is our first source book, always at hand, ready for every need. Then, we who have to do with children should read, study, apply the knowledge offered in the new book, "You're Human Too," by Dr. Stresseman. It is a valuable and instructive series of chapters on mental health written in clear, simple English that anybody who can read can understand and use.

Mothers will need a handy book to help them with their problems. There are many good ones. "A Mother's Manual," by Dr. Woolf, is one, "Parent and Child," by Catherine Mackenzie is another. The libraries are likely to have them if it is not possible to own a copy.

The children need religious instruction and for those who want help in that direction Alice Mary Jones has written a series of books which are most helpful to all sects. They are the "Tell Me" series, to be found usually in the religion shelves of the children's library.

A good story is a treasure under any conditions and one I like very much, the best I think I have seen this past year, is "The Haunted Hound," by Robb White. It is a spirited story, full of adventure that entrances but never shocks. There is a story of a coon hunt in it I am still laughing about and it takes something to make an old reader like me laugh heartily at a children's story.

Radio and television make home a more cheerful, more interesting center of family life, but there are many hours when nothing ut a good book will serve the mental and spiritual needs of every member of the family. Books are the tools we use to create a better way of life. Whatever else home offers in the form of entertainment and culture and education, put books foremost. They will stay when other things lose their charm, like beloved and cherished friends.

NEW SCOUTING PROGRAM HERE

Explorer Enthusiasts To Meet To Arrange Plans For District

L. L. Price, chairman of the Central Boy Scout District of the Ouachita Valley Council, announced yesterday that a special meeting of key Scout leaders and the Scout officials in the interest of exploring would be held Tuesday, April 3, 7:30 p.m., at the Ouachita parish courthouse in Monroe.

Price stated that troop committee chairmen, institutional representatives, and heads of institutions sponsoring the Scout program in Monroe and West Monroe had been invited to attend this important meeting on Exploring.

Exploring is the Scout program for boys fourteen years of age and older and emphasizes program features that interest young men in this age group. Under the leadership of an Explorer Advisor, these older Scouts carry out the Explorer program either as a part of the Scout troop or in a special Explorer Post. The boys plan and conduct all of their own programs which frequently include Air Scout, Sea Scout, and Vocational Explorion activities.

Explorer Post No. 1, sponsored by the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion, is the only special Explorer Unit in the Central district and all other Explorers are in regular Boy Scout troops The meeting Tuesday night is being held in the interest of these Explorers in troops in order that a more effective program of Exploring may be provided for them.

On the program at this Explorer conference will be an interesting film entitled "Exploring Grows in the Troop." Information on the actual organization of an effective Explorer program in the troop will also be discussed in detail. Every sponsoring institution has been urged to have representatives at this important meeting and any one interested in this program has been invited to attend.

REPORT ASKED ON COWARDICE

Army Chaplain Says 400 Men In Korea Pretended To Be Wounded

Washington, March 31.—(AP)—A navy chaplain's assertion that some army troops displayed cowardice in Korea last year has prompted the army to ask for a report from the far eastern command.

In a television interview in San Diego Wednesday the chaplain, Lt. Comdr. Otto E. Sporrer, said that during the retreat from the Changjin reservoir 400 men of the seventh division pretended to be wounded so they could be evacuated to Japan.

He also declared that the division's 31st regiment left its dead and wounded behind in fleeing an enemy attack. In the same attack he said, men of the 11th marine regiment hid their wounds from doctors.

The chaplain, a Roman Catholic, acknowledged authorship of a recent magazine article clarging incompetence and scandalous conduct among army officers in Korea. After its publication the army's chief of information, Maj. Gen. F. L. Parks, termed it "irresponsible and ill-considered."

The army had no further comment on the article or the TV interview. But Col. S. L. A. Marshall, a reserve army officer recently returned from Korea, told a news conference that at the time of the Changjin retreat seventh division units were under marine corps command.

Marshall said that when survivors of two army regiments joined with the marines, they were given 24 hours' rest and then all who were at all able were put into the defense line.

Marshall said Sporrer was in error in saying the 11th marine regiment met the same initial attack which hit the 31st army regiment. Records show the marine unit had been moved to another sector before the Chinese assault, he said.

A marine spokesman said the corps "looks with disfavor on any inter-service bickering."

DISEASE KILLING MANY KOREAN REDS

(By The Associated Press)

The Communists don't have enough doctors. Most medical men and nurses have been drafted for military service. The few left reportedly are not even making a pretense of treating the civilian population.

Intelligence reports say the Reds tried to carry out vaccination programs in some areas. However, U. N. medical teams reported stocks of vaccine captured in north Korea last fall were tested and found to be ineffective.

Since then, the health situation is said to have worsened.

Last month official U. N. sources scouted reports of serious epidemics in north Korea. But today's report is based on later information.

Brigham Young, Mormon pioneer, fathered 56 children. At the present time, there are only two surviving daughters.

STOCKMEN WILL CONDUCT MEET

Large Attendance Is Anticipated At Newellton On April 5

Evidence of increasing interest in livestock production in Tensas parish is amply displayed by announcement of plans for the stockmen's meeting to be held in Newellton on April 5. Due to the number of advance reservations already received, it has been decided to hold the meeting in the gymnasium of the Newellton High School.

A feature of professional interest to all stockmen will be provided by a pasture tour of the Newellton area, this event being planned by Marion Guthrie and Ben Burnside. This region is noted for it's fine pastures and the high quality of cattle and hogs marketed from this area. The tour will start at 5:30 p.m. from the Newellton High School and will afford visitors an opportunity to see some of the newer breeds of cattle such as the Charbray, Brahma and Santa Gertrudis. It is also planned to present a working demonstration of one of the finest quarter-horses in the southwest. These horses are quite popular in the range areas of Texas and Oklahoma and the Tensas parish cattlemen await this demonstration with much interest.

Upon return to the high school grounds the stockmen and their guests will be served a supper of a type for which the Newellton ladies are famous. This meal will be prepared and served by a ladies committee headed by Mrs. Ben Burnside and Mrs. H. H. Patton. About twenty-five boys and girls who participated in the recent junior livestock shows will be special guests of the stockmen and will be given suitable recognition at the meeting. Among these special guests is Charles Wood whose Hereford calf "Shorty" was recently adjudged reserve champion at the Louisiana State Livestock show.

VICE CONSUL FIRED

John Wayne Williams (above), 25, former U.S. vice consul at Hong Kong, was discharged after it was reported he confessed accepting $10,000 in bribes to speed up visas for Chinese. The State Department said Williams and three other consulate employes also confessed to being homosexuals. Williams comes from Carrboro, N.C. He is a 1946 graduate of the University of North Carolina. (AP Wirephoto).

I NEVER KNEW MR. BUTZ EVER DONE ANYTHING SMART.

WELL, HE ONCE HAD A OPPORTUNITY TO MARRY YOUR AUNT MAMIE, BUT HE WENT INTO TH' BUTCHER BUSINESS INSTEAD.

LOOK AT THAT! NO VIS'ON. NO FORESIGHT. I THINK I WILL GO INTO THE ADVERTISING FIELD.

ARE YOU SURE, SIR, THAT THIS WASHING MACHINE IS SAFE FOR THE WIFE TO WORK — POSITIVELY FOOL PROOF.

ABSOLUTELY.

BRING ME THE HEAD MAN OF THIS ESTABLISHMENT, IF YOU PLEASE.

YES, SIR. I WILL TRY TO FIND HIM, SIR.

The Gumps

GOS EDSON 4-1

I SAW A PHOTO OF YOU IN AN OLD ALBUM IN THE ATTIC, POP — YOU WERE CAPTAIN OF YOUR FOOTBALL TEAM — REMEMBER?

THAT'S NOTHING — WE GUMPS WERE ALWAYS IN THE THICK OF THE FIGHT —

"REMEMBER OUR NOBLE ANCESTOR, HORATIUS GUMP, WHO DEFENDED THE BRIDGE SINGLEHANDED —?"

YOUR GRANDFATHER, BEAMISH GUMP, STORMED SAN JUAN HILL WITH TEDDY ROOSEVELT!

— AND WHO WAS FIRST MATE OF THE IMMORTAL CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS? OUR OWN BIMULOUS GUMP!

I WON'T TALK ABOUT MY OWN WAR RECORD — BUT I GREW STOOP-SHOULDERED FROM THE WEIGHT OF MEDALS ON MY CHEST —

GEE, POP — I BET YOU WERE JUST ABOUT THE BRAVEST MAN IN THE WAR!

A TRUE GUMP NEVER BRAGS, SON — BUT HE NEVER FLINCHES IN THE FACE OF DANGER —

NOR HAS A GUMP EVER TURNED HIS BACK ON A FOE!

Jack Armstrong

HOT-ROD FLEW A COMPASS COURSE WHICH HE THOUGHT WOULD TAKE HIM TO LAMESA, BUT HE WAS ACTUALLY FLYING A N.N.W. COURSE BECAUSE OF HIS ERROR IN COMPUTING AND A STRONG CROSS HEAD WIND!

SMOLIN'? — THIS COURSE LED HIM DIRECTLY INTO THE SAND STORM PORTION OF THE APPROACHING COLD FRONT!

JACK

WHEN HOT-ROD REALIZED THAT HE WAS ACTUALLY IN THE STORM, HE CIRCLED AND TRIED TO GET OUT OF IT!

BUT THE STRONG GUSTS TOSSED THE PLANE AROUND SO, THAT HOT-ROD GOT SO CONFUSED THAT HE COULDN'T FIND ANY WAY OUT —

— FINALLY, HE RAN OUT OF GAS AND WAS FORCED TO ATTEMPT TO LAND!

— AS HE NEARED THE GROUND, HE HAULED BACK ON THE STICK AND HIT TAIL FIRST TO TRY TO SLOW DOWN THE GROUND RUN! —

TA-101

— BUT ONE TIRE BLEW OUT AS HE HIT A ROCK — AND A STRONG GUST CAUGHT THE PLANE — DUG A WING IN AND —

CRACK!

BANG

— FLIPPED THE TAIL UP AND THE PLANE STARTED OVER!

— BUT MIRACULOUSLY, ANOTHER STRONG GUST HIT THE PLANE'S TAIL AND BLEW IT BACK AGAIN! — AND HOT-ROD ENDED RIGHT SIDE UP!

WOW! AM I LUCKY TO BE ALIVE! — BUT WHAT DO I DO NOW?

— GUESS THERE'S NOTHING I CAN DO BUT SIT HERE AND RIDE THIS THING OUT! —

— GULP — TH' WIND'S GETTIN' STRONGER — TH' PLANE'S ROCKIN' SO MUCH IT MAY BLOW OVER! —

GREAT BALLS O' FIRE! I SEE THE SILHOUETTE OF ANOTHER PLANE COMIN' TOWARD ME!

JUNGLE JIM

by PAUL NORRIS AND DON MOORE

THE MAHARAJAH OF NAPUR SENDS FOR JIM.

IT IS GOOD YOU CAME, JIM. BANDITS KILLED THE GOOD SAHIB SHEA.

THE HILL DOCTOR? WHY SHOULD EVEN BANDITS HURT HIM?

MAYBE BECAUSE OF THE EMERALD I GAVE HIM, AS BIG AS THIS RUBY. IT'S GONE. SO IS THE BOY, HIS SON PAT.

POOR KID! THOSE JUNGLES ARE BAD. I'LL START AT ONCE.

JIM AND KOLU REACH THE RAIDED MEDICAL STATION.

LOOKS DESERTED.

THERE'S A GIRL, TUAN. SHE WATCH US.

WHAT YOU WANT HERE, SAHIB? ME SERI. WAS NURSE FOR DOCTOR.

THE RAJAH SENT ME TO SEARCH FOR PAT.

POOR BOY! BANDITS COME--KILL DOCTOR--PAT RUN IN JUNGLE. WE LOOK--NO FIND. MAYBE BANDITS GET HIM--MAYBE TIGER.

WE'LL START SEARCHING AT DAWN. BETTER TURN IN NOW, KOLU.

DAGGA - THE BANDIT LEADER, RETURNS TO HUNT AGAIN FOR THE GREEN GEM OF NAPUR.

ONLY ONE REASON THEY'D COME BACK LIKE THIS, KOLU. THEY HAVEN'T FOUND THE JEWEL YET.

Paul NORRIS 4-1

WE CATCH ONE, TUAN JIM.

WHO'S YOUR CHIEF? WHERE'S THE DOCTOR'S BOY?

DAGGA CHIEF. HE COME BACK, SHOOT YOU. WE NO SEE BOY.

FLASH GORDON

by MAC RABOY and DON MOORE ®

FLASH'S LANDING IN HIS SPACE SHIP MAKES WORLD-WIDE HEADLINES. A GREAT UNIVERSITY CREATES A NEW DEGREE FOR HIM--DOCTOR OF ASTRONAUTICS. SCIENTISTS FLOCK TO MEET HIM AND DISCUSS INTERPLANETARY FLIGHT PROBLEMS.

ONE OF THEM IS DR. BRITE, THE WORLD'S LEADING ROCKET EXPERT. "WE NEED A SPACE FLIER LIKE YOU, RIGHT NOW," DR. BRITE SAYS. "HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT THE METEOR DISASTERS?"

AT DAWN FLASH AND DALE ARE FLYING WITH DR. BRITE TO STUDY A METEOR CRATER. "WE THINK THEY COME FROM THE MOON," BRITE EXPLAINS. "ONE OVERSIZE METEOR LANDS EVERY DAY--TOO REGULAR FOR ACCIDENT. IF ONE EVER HIT A CITY..."

"A METEOR NEARLY HIT US BEFORE WE LANDED," DALE SAYS. SUDDENLY THERE'S A BLAZE OF LIGHT AHEAD OF THEM AS ANOTHER SHOOTING STAR HURTLES TOWARD EARTH. THE PILOT GASPS: "I CAN'T SEE--"
